WILL PUT A CURB ON POWDER TRUST

War Department, by Order of Congress, Makes Plans to Establish a Government Plant.

HUGE PROFITS TO POOL.

Experts Estimate Du Pont Combine Nets $2,500,000 Annually on Contracts; Cost 75 Cents Pound.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., July 16.—[Special.]—The war department has taken steps to carry out the direction of congress to bring the powder trust to its knees. Orders have been given for the preparation of plans for a plant having a capacity of 300,000 pounds per annum. The plant may be located at Rock Island, Ill.

The erection of this plant is due to the revelations made by Robert S. Waddell, president of the Buckeye Powder company of Peoria, respecting the way in which the powder trust held the government by the throat and compelled it to pay the prices which it fixed.

Once the establishment is in operation—and this is expected in about a year from today—the war department will ascertain the actual cost of powder and will compel the trust to reduce its price accordingly, or suffer the alternative of having a recommendation go to congress for the manufacture by the government of all the powder the army needs.

Compels Trust to Cut Price.

The navy department has a plant at Indian Head, Md., which has a capacity of between 3,000 and 4,000 pounds a day, and it has compelled the trust to reduce the price to about 75 cents a pound, though even this figure is regarded as exorbitant. But with the army and navy working in conjunction there is no good reason, in the opinion of officials, why the cost of powder should not be reduced at least 20 per cent.

The appropriation made by congress for an army powder plant amounts to $165,000. In the opinion of Waddell, as expressed in letters to congress, this sum was too meagre and he believed a plant should be erected which would enable the government to manufacture independently of the trust. Congress was disposed, however, to look upon the matter as an experiment, in spite of the satisfactory results obtained from the naval powder factory, which was authorized some years ago.

Moreover, there was unwillingness to drive private manufacturers out of business, especially as Gen. Crozier, chief of the bureau of ordnance, stated that a government monopoly would be as bad as a private monopoly, and it was more important to increase the powder making facilities of the country than diminish them. These arguments were all fine, but unquestionably one of the controlling reasons why such a small plant was authorized was the activity of representatives of the trust.

Millions in Profits to Trust.

The importance to the trust of preventing the erection of a larger plant by the government will be appreciated when it is known Secretary Taft estimates the proper reserve of powder for the army and navy to be 35,000,000 pounds. There are only 4,300,000 pounds on hand. That is to say, the government will have to expend about $25,000,000 in order to establish the reserve, and, if Mr. Waddell's figures of the cost be correct, the trust will reap a profit from the furnishing of this material between $11,000,000 and $12,000,000.

The trust is known as the Du Pont powder trust, which is alleged to own and control the Laflin & Rand, the International, and the California Powder companies. For several years the departments paid to the trust 88 and 90 cents a pound. The International company was organized and entered into the competition, causing a reduction in price until the Du Pont trust obtained control of the International product. Waddell estimated that the net profits of the trust due to the exorbitant price charged to governments amount to $2,500,000 per annum.

Plans for Government Plant.

In order to execute the will of congress Brig. Gen. Crozier has ordered Maj. Beverly W. Dunn of the army ordnance department, who has been on duty at the Sandy Hook proving grounds, to proceed to Philadelphia and organize a force of draftsmen and clerks who will prepare plans for the proposed government factory. Maj. Dunn will inspect the plants of the trust in Delaware and will take from them any ideas which may enable him to produce a model establishment.

While this work is being done a board will be formed, which will be instructed to select a site for the proposed plant. There are three points it will be directed particularly to examine—the government arsenal at Rock Island, Ill., the government reservation at Columbia, Tenn., and the military reservation at Dover, Del.

Dover has the advantage of being near Sandy Hook, where the testing of powder and guns is made, and there would be an economy over points in the middle west by reason of the saving in freight. The disadvantage of Dover is it is on the seaboard and accessible to a military expedition of the enemy, which might succeed in getting past the American fleet. The advantage of Rock Island, which is enjoyed also by Columbia, is that it is in the interior and never can be put out of business in consequence of military operations.

Water Contamination Is Issue.

The board of experts must consider, however, whether the water of the Mississippi river, upon which Rock Island is situated, can be given cheaply the standard of purity which is required in the making of powder. It also will have to pass upon the ability of the river to absorb the acids used in the manufacture of powder. Gen. Crozier is aware that St. Louis complained about the alleged contamination of the Mississippi water by the drainage of the city of Chicago. It may be the acids cannot be taken care of by the river and would prove a menace to health. In this event the powder factory will not be built at Rock Island.

While the plans Maj. Dunn is preparing contemplate a factory capable of an output of 1,000 pounds a day, they will be so arranged the factory can be enlarged without difficulty for the manufacture of as great a quantity as congress may see fit to direct. Gen. Crozier said today the primary purpose of the proposed plant is to determine the actual cost of powder. When the war department has established this it will be able to go to the private manufacturers and say to them:

"Gentlemen, we have found the cost of

NEW MOVE IN WAR ON STANDARD OIL.

Lake Shore Officials Will Aid the Federal Government in Rebate Inquiry at Cleveland.

WILL BARE TRUST DEALS.

Complete Change of Tactics Expected to Weave Chain of Evidence About Leaders of Combine.

Cleveland, O., July 16.—[Special.]—Testimony which it is expected will weave a chain of evidence around high officials of the Standard Oil company is expected as a result of a complete change of plans by the government in the rebate investigation here.

The new program includes a complete reversal of procedure affecting G. J. Grammer, vice president of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railway. Grammer will not be indicted in this or any other federal district. Instead, he will be asked to assist the government. Other officials of the Lake Shore road will assist the Washington authorities.

Basing his opinion upon the testimony already submitted Attorney General Moody believes the government at last has secured the evidence which will lead to bringing the Standard Oil company to its knees.

Acting upon the orders of District Attorney Sullivan, Assistant District Attorney Garry today issued another subpœna for the appearance of Grammer before the grand jury. Grammer immediately was served with the subpœna by Deputy District Marshal Fanning. He seemed pleased with the turn of events, which makes it certain that he is not to be made the scapegoat for violations of the law on the part of others.

Believes Indictments Certain.

The switch on the part of the government in finally deciding to summon Grammer as a witness is explained by the statement that the single desire of the department of justice at present is to get at the Standard Oil company.

A telegram from District Attorney Sullivan said that nothing was to be left undone to accomplish this purpose. The attorney general is firmly of the opinion that indictments can be secured here, and District Attorney Sullivan will resume work with the grand jury with this end in view.

In addition to ordering the issuance of a subpœna for Grammer, Sullivan wired to have all the employés of the Lake Shore railway who have testified before the grand jury recalled. These witnesses include J. L. Clark, western freight agent, and C. A. Slauson, freight agent at Chicago; M. C. Tully, R. H. Huddleston, G. B. Wheeler, and H. L. Meyer, all employed in the Cleveland offices.

Anxious for One More Link.

It is known that the government officials are eager to obtain one more link in the evidence already secured against the Standard Oil company. A most determined effort will be made to complete the chain through Grammer and Clark. What the government officials want particularly is the names of the Standard Oil company officials through whom, it is charged, rebating arrangements were made with the Lake Shore and other railways. With these names in their possession the government attorneys will be ready to strike.

It is said that any efforts on the part of witnesses to withhold information or practice evasion will meet with prompt action on the part of the government officials. The attorneys are certain that one of the witnesses to be called knows the definite information so greatly desired. The plan is to force the fixing of the names and facts by sweatbox examination if necessary before the grand jury.

Minutest Details Mapped Out.

District Attorney Sullivan gives no intimation as to the Standard Oil company officials he will go after. That the exact program was mapped out down to the minutest detail with the attorney general is admitted in the government building.

"The purpose behind the summoning of Grammer as a witness shows on its face," said Assistant District Attorney Garry. "The change in plans means that he grand jury will not conclude its investigations tomorrow. How long before the jury will be ready to make its report, I cannot say."

M. G. Vilas, treasurer of the Standard Oil company of Ohio, who has been sought as a witness did not put in an appearance today.

Will Begin New York Inquiry.

New York, July 16.—[Special.]—As a result of conferences held here by United States District Attorney Henry L. Stinson with Attorney General Moody and former United States District Attorney Charles B. Morrison of Chicago, now special counsel of the government in the prosecution of the Standard Oil company for rebating, it is understood an investigation soon will be instituted here.

Counsel Marchand Sees Morrison.

J. T. Marchand, special counsel for the interstate commerce commission, was in Chicago on his way to Colorado to conduct an investigation into coal rates. Mr. Marchand was in consultation with District Attorney Morrison for a large part of the day in relation to the coming grand jury investigation of some of the Chicago railroads relative to granting rebates to the Standard Oil company. Attorney General Moody has asked that Mr. Marchand be assigned to help the district and special attorneys for the government in the preparation of their cases against the railroads and the Standard Oil company.

It is probable a special grand jury will be called here to take up the Standard Oil matter within the next four weeks.

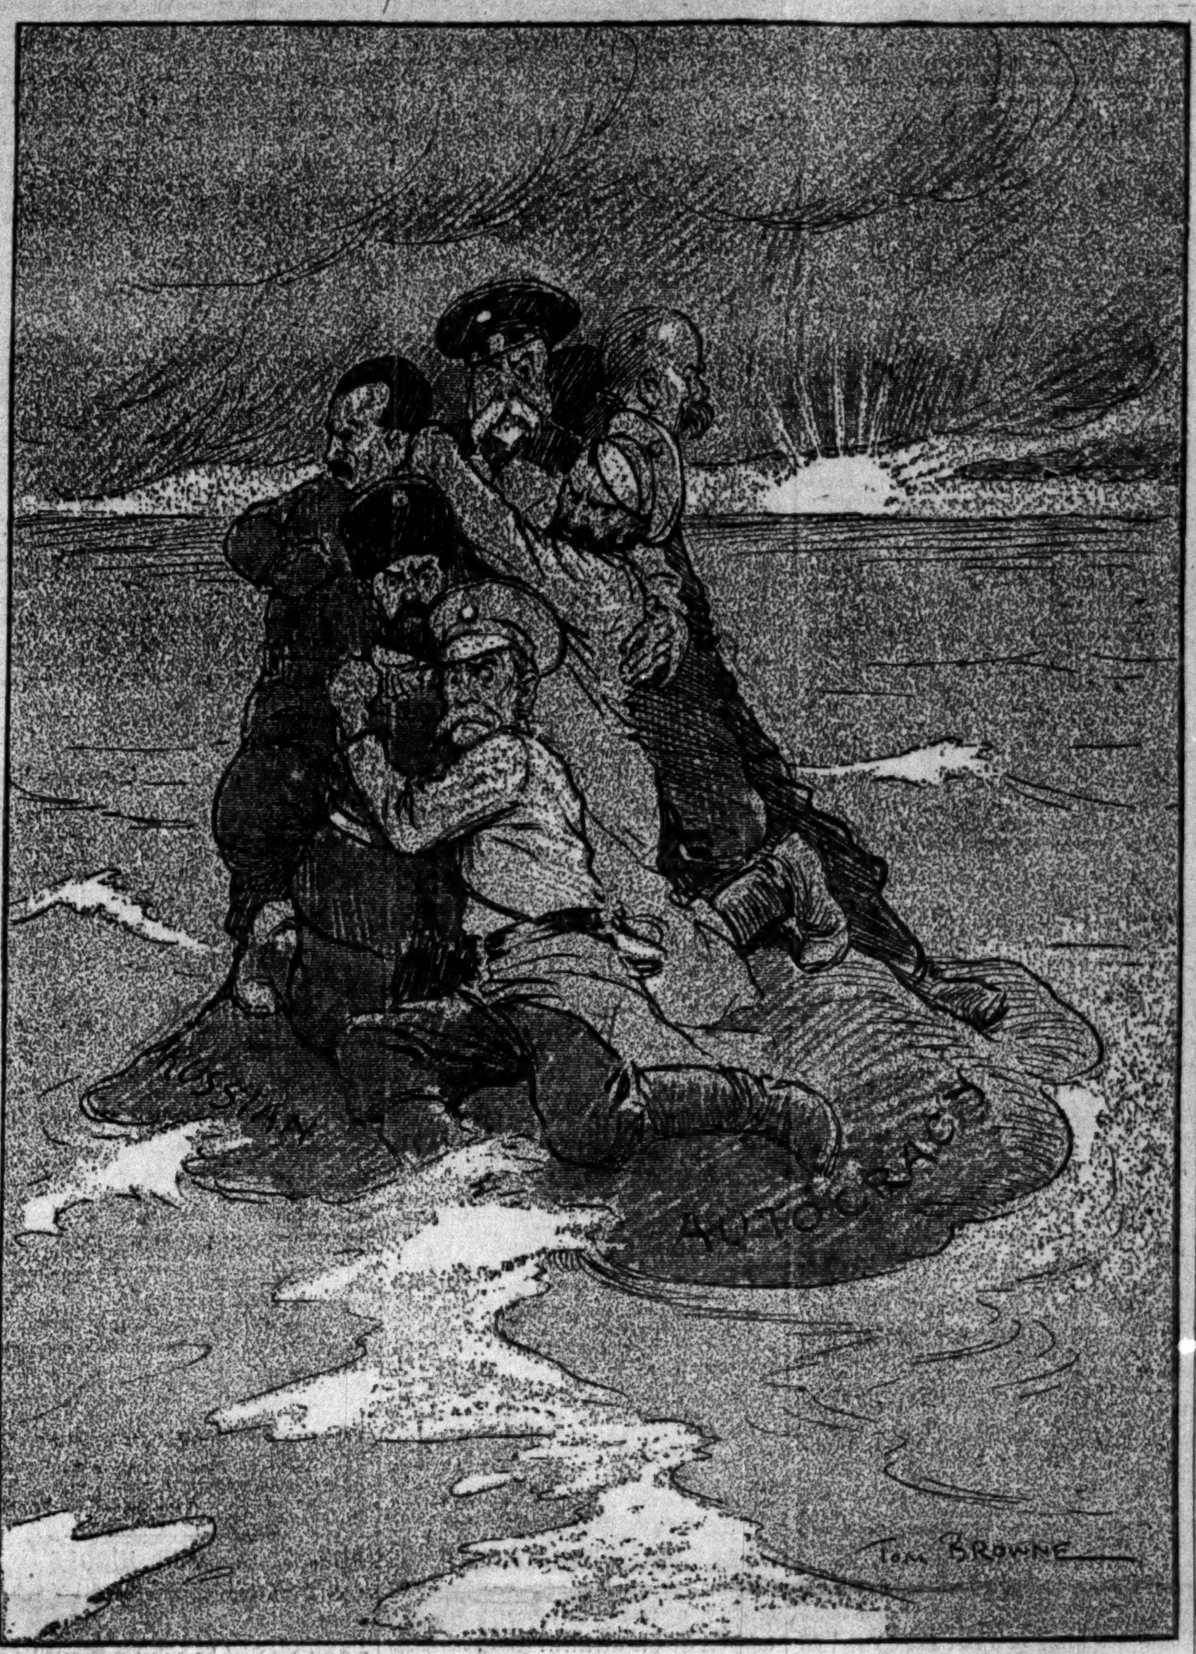
KAISER PLANS WORLD'S FAIR IN BERLIN IN THE YEAR 1912.

Germany Hopes to Rival Chicago's Famous Exposition and Will Ask All Nations to Assist.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]
[Copyright: 1906: By the New York Herald.]

BERLIN, July 16.—The government has decided to invite the nations of the world to participate in a great international exposition to be held here in 1912. It is proposed that the exhibition shall surpass all world's fairs, not excepting the marvelous expositions for which Paris is famous, or the two great American fairs at Chicago and St. Louis.

DOOMED.



LAKES TAKING TOLL OF LIFE.

Chicago Young Man and His Rescuer Die in Double Tragedy.

CRAMPS ATTACK A CITY BOY.

Another Resident Is Paralyzed When Head Strikes Rock.

Death by drowning yesterday claimed two residents of Chicago and its vicinity, and a third is not expected to recover. All were victims of their desire to escape the city for the seductive summer delights of Michigan pleasure resorts. They were among the earlier victims who have appeared and will appear in the long list that no outing season escapes.

A fourth death made a double tragedy of one of the drownings. An aged man, who yielded up the last of his feeble strength in a heroic but futile effort to rescue a 19 year old Chicago boy, dropped dead from heart disease over the lifeless body of the victim when it was brought to shore by stronger arms.

At a coroner's inquest in this city property owners were blamed for their failure to protect children from the river at Lessing street, where a 10 year old boy was drowned on Sunday.

The Dead.

DUTTON, ARTHUR, 14 years old; Arlington Heights; drowned at Michigan City, Ind.

SEELMAN, EMANUEL, 19 years old, believed to have been a student of the University of Chicago and a resident in California avenue; drowned at Conklin, near Muskegon, Mich.

STREET, ALFRED, 70 years old, resident of Conklin, Mich.; dropped dead from heart disease after futile attempt to rescue Seelman.

The Injured.

REARDON, PATRICK, 361 East North avenue; paralyzed and at point of death as result of striking his head on stone while diving from pier at South Haven.

Aged Man's Bravery Futile.

Emanuel Seelman, who had papers on his body indicating that he was a student of the University of Chicago and would be a sophomore next year, lost his life despite the brave efforts of Alfred Street, 70 years old, who tried to save him.

Seelman, who was spending the summer in a camp at Conklin, thirty miles east of Muskegon, was of athletic build. With three companions who were encamped with him he went in swimming, as usual, last night.

Seelman, who wore a maroon jersey with a big "C" in the center in honor of his university, sported about in the water for half an hour and then started to return to shore. Within two rods of the bank and in about ten feet of water, the young student threw up his hands and cried in a loud voice:

"Help! Help! I've got a cramp."

Street, who was driving along the lakeside, whipped up his horses.

"Keep up your courage!" he shouted. "I'll be there in a minute."

Rescuer Swims to Drowning Boy.

He hurriedly threw off his clothes as he drove up and jumped from the buggy within a few seconds after the boy's cries had reached him. He jumped into the water, waded as far as he could, and then swam to Seelman's side.

Street had toiled on a farm for three score years and was bent with age. His courage never faltered and he hung on for dear life for a minute. His waning strength was unequal to the task, and, with a despairing cry that brought the companions of the drowning youth to his side, he released his grasp. Then he sank into the water himself, and was pulled to shore by the campers.

In vain the companions of Seelman endeavored to find him. The body was not located until half an hour. Meanwhile Street lay unconscious on the bank. He recovered as the boy's body was brought to shore and laid near him. He raised himself partly on his hands, tried to speak, gasped, and fell over on Seelman's body. He had died from heart disease.

Papers on Seelman's body, besides indicating that he was a student of the university, gave an address in California avenue where he is supposed to have resided. His name could not be discovered last night on any registers of the university that could be reached.

Boy Taken with Cramps Also.

Arthur Dutton, 14 years old, a resident of Arlington Heights, is believed to have been taken with cramps before he was drowned at Michigan City, Ind., although his aunt, Mrs. Alice Freer, has a theory that he may have committed suicide. She says that he twice threatened to take his life.

Dutton was a member of the drum corps which went over on the steamer Theodore Roosevelt. Several of his companions were bathing and when they departed for the boat Dutton was missing. His clothes were found on the dock and life savers afterward discovered the body in six feet of water.

Head Strikes Stone in Diving.

Patrick Reardon, whose address, according to papers found on his person, is 361 East North avenue, is paralyzed and at the point of death at South Haven, Mich. Reardon arrived at the resort in the afternoon from Chicago and soon afterward went in swimming. In diving from the pier his head struck a large stone, rendering him senseless.

The death of Joseph Parat, a 10 year old boy, residing at 3 Greeley court, mentioned in Monday morning's papers, was due, according to the coroner's jury, partly because of a lack of proper signs of warning around the sand pile at Lessing street and the river.

REVENGE MOTIVE FOR ATTACK; VICTIM'S SKULL FRACTURED.

J. N. Johnson, a Drug Clerk, Beaten by Three Members of Gang That Was Broken Up by the Police.

J. N. Johnson, 170 Schiller street, a drug clerk employed at G. A. Marsh's pharmacy, Schiller and Wells streets, was beaten by three young men last night so severely that his skull was fractured. Revenge is declared to have been the motive for the attack.

He was taken to Passavant hospital, where it was said his condition is critical.

Johnson was attacked by the trio, members of which sprang at him from an alley in the rear of the drug store as he passed on his way home. Clubs and blackjacks were used and he was unmercifully beaten. When Johnson fell unconscious his assailants fled.

The police were summoned by pedestrians who discovered the prostrate man. He was taken to the hospital in an ambulance, where it was found his skull was fractured near the base of the brain.

A band of youthful disturbers made its headquarters in the alley, and Johnson was instrumental in causing the police to break it up. The attack is laid by the police to this fact, as no effort was made to rob Johnson.

SAD NEWS OF THE DRAMA.

Three Stars—Count 'Em—Three, Play to an Audience of One.

THEN THEY'RE FINED $9.75.

DeWolf Hopper, Joe Weber, and Digby Bell Heroes of the Horror.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 16.—[Special.]—A set of disgusted "Lambs" drew up in front of the Hotel Walton tonight in De Wolf Hopper's automobile.

They had been made to "Baa," "Baa," and then had been bled.

In the party besides Hopper were "Joe" Weber, Digby Bell, Charles T. K. Miller, and E. E. Pidgeon. Hopper began the story thus:

"We heard in New York there was to be a scrap of some kind over here tonight and decided to take a run over.

"Things went humming until we came to a little town just the other side of Trenton. We were going three or four miles an hour when a couple of constables with whiskers stepped in front of the machine. We were going so gently that as they laid their hands on the wheels they stopped going around.

"We had a message about you up the road," they declared.

"Then they took us to Squire Simkins, or Slimkins, or some kind of 'kins,' office. The squire stood us up, me at the head of the line and 'Joe' at the foot.

Squire Glad to See Hopper.

"The happy, cordial beam that came into his eyes was something beautiful to see when I told my name."

"Here, let me tell it right," said Digby Bell, who continued:

"That man Skinkins just gave Wolf the glad hand, and said:

"'Air you the comedian man that sings? Why, I have laughed at you a heap. I'm right glad to see you, but is it really you?'

"At that Hopper just rises on his toes and cuts loose a few bars from 'Wang,' and the squire smiles all over, and shakes hands again.

"When 'Joe' gives his right name the squire just seemed ready to collapse. 'Glad ter meet you, too,' he says. 'I was in ter see you once in York. Air you a really, truly funny man on the stage?'

"Joe let out a line of his own German that was a scream. The squire cried:

"'That's him!'

"Then the squire struck Bell," interposed Weber, and Digby did his little stunt in style. By this time we were all congratulating ourselves. We all felt we had made the hit of our lives, and were waiting for the squire to fall on our bosoms and say:

"'My cup of happiness is now full. I have met you great men. Twenty-three in peace.'

Chests Soon Deflated; Purses, Too.

"Just as we were swelling out our chests and wondering what we would buy with the fine money which our reputations had saved for us, the squire leaned over and again shook us all by the hand.

"'I have always hoped I would some day meet some of you gentlemen personally!' he said, 'and it has been a great pleasure for me to make yer acquaintance. I shall not detain yer any longer, as soon as yer settle the $9.75 the law imposes upon yer!'

"Then we went in silence."

MANY WOES OF A SMALL TAXPAYER

Record of One Man's Tangled Experiences in the Jungle of Personal Property Assessments.

STRONG LIGHT ON EVILS.

Weird Workings of the System Revealed When a Willing Victim Stalks It to Its Finish.

BY A PLAIN CITIZEN.

This is not the complaint of a Chicago tax dodger. It is the experience of a Chicago citizen who always has been willing to pay his full share of a tax equitably distributed even when most in doubt of the application of that tax to the community good.

Years ago, having banked far heavier in twenty payment life insurance policies in several big companies than I could be tempted to bank now, I furnished a five room flat in Chicago. Fourteen years' wear and tear on this furniture have not left it a particular snap to any first class dealer in second hand household goods. Removal to a seven room house several years ago added some necessary furniture, which also has been taxed every year. Investment in a new house two years ago, aided largely by a mortgage loan, has kept my salaried bank account to the minimum, until today, if I were sold out under a liberal hammer, I should have to get run over in fatal manner by an automobile in order to leave my family with more than a vacant lot or its equivalent.

But in spite of this I have been taxed year after year in increasing ratio on "personal property."

Sees Beauties of the Juul Law.

Several years ago the "Juul (Jewel?) law" was explained to me in the newspapers as a tax law that surely would land the tax dodger. In the first place it would bait him alluringly, for the reason that while he would be asked to list every cent of his personalty under oath, he was assured under that law that only one-fifth of the listed sum would be taxed. In the second place it was shown that with this scheduling of property under oath any attempt at tax dodging would result in somebody or something, somewhere and in somehow, landing the tax dodging perjurer in the penitentiary at Joliet.

That first year I made my schedule honestly, though under oath. But in that year's general schedules it was shown that Chicago and Cook county had far more money tied up in farm implements than they had in diamonds and jewelry. This was so unexpected that the board of review made a horizontally perpendicular raise on my sworn schedule! I was grateful, however, that the board didn't prosecute me for the individual perjury which it charged and I paid the tax.

The next year the assessors' building didn't look a bit good to me. I had seen the printed list of "personal property" schedules in my ward and saw at a glance that even as an agnostic there wasn't a church member in Austin who couldn't skin me at diminishing the value of wordly things.

Prepares a Little Self-Defense.

But I went down that year to make oath to another schedule. At the same time I felt as if I ought to scale things just a little, in self-defense. I'm no braggart anyhow; I never wanted to be worth so much more than anybody else that I'd be willing to swear to a lie just in order to seem to be so.

At the assessors' window a young man came up and said he'd fix me out. He wanted to know if I had a watch. I had, though it didn't have either chain or charm attached. I took it out of my pocket and laid it on the counter with maybe a few more explanations than I might have made if I had been trying to hock it. I told him that I had bought it about seven years before when Giles Bros. were selling out of business in the Masonic temple. I had paid $9 for it, realizing that it had an undesirable Swiss movement which would make repairs doubly costly or perhaps wholly impossible if anything got wrong with its insides. The young man glanced at its open face and with a quick movement of his pen wrote $5.50 on the blank.

I fell away from the window and staggered to the street for air. At home I had a clock which had cost me $8 a long time before, and which at that time required an eight day winding in order to induce it to run anywhere from four to thirty-seven hours a week. Horrors of what the board of review might do to me after such a beginning had unnerved me. I have no doubt that the young man in his optimism was all right, but he wasn't the one who had to do the swearing to the material facts in the case. I simply had to bolt.

Real Value of Tax Oath.

Under the Juul tax law, however, you have got to swear to something or get soaked 50 per cent over and above what the assessor's agent thinks you are concealing. I took the 50 per cent jolt that year and don't know yet whether I lost out, considering that even if I had sworn honestly the board of review might have had another horizontal perjury charge up its sleeve. Anyhow, as the board had shown me that its horizontal guess was more effective than my oath, I thought to myself, Let 'er go.

I continued to let things go for several years, largely for the reason that I had two children who had grown out of private kindergarten at $1.50 a week into the public school system for nothing a week. I wanted to pay some taxes!

Last year, through the combined efforts of the assessors' agent, the 50 per cent penalty, and—perhaps—the board of review, I found from the printed tax lists that I had $500 worth of personal property. Hardly any of my neighbors had much more than half as much, but, as I have said, this was none of my boasting. The assessors had fixed it up, but as they wouldn't swear to the figures I could have no recourse against them for perjury. It was just plain lying.

Here, however, I had the assuring text of the Juul law providing that only $100 of this amount should be taxed. This spring I discovered that the tax on this little $100 worth of fourteen year old furniture was $11.20—just $3.81 less than the whole $500 in good money would have earned me in one year in a Chicago savings bank, and with no wear and tear on the principal. It is going some when an assessment of 11.2 per cent is set against a $100 bill!

Comparisons with the "Neighbors."

As most of my neighbors that year, in circumstances like to mine, were assessed anywhere from nothing at all to about two-thirds as much as I was, it occurred to me that I had about as much "personal property" in Chicago as I could afford to own.

This spring I prepared to go down to the assessor's building within the time limit for swearing in what I didn't have. As more of my neighbors have $350 than any other neatly rounded sum of money, I thought if I made mine $400 even it ought to look pretty honest and not bragging, either.

But time flies. The assessor's agent told me I'd have to May 13 to file my furniture account, but, after some strenuous work in Chicago and two days more of it out of the city, I found the time limit had expired. Two weeks ago the published tax lists for this portion of the Thirty-first ward arrived. I had been assessed just $800 even!

Looking over the amounts assessed against some of my neighbors I got a little warm under the collar. A neighbor to the south of me in a house twice as big as mine and with two children in school, had only the same old $350 that he has had for years. A neighbor to the north of me in a $4,500 house didn't have anything! Another man a few blocks away, credited with being a millionaire and slightly discredited for having spent a year in the Cook county jail, likewise didn't have a cent of personal property, either under oath or within the guessing range of the assessors!

Go Light on an "Honorable Judge."

Even an honorable judge, whose home is one of the attractive show places for the real estate prospector, lacked just $50 of what the assessors put up to me! The judge, too, draws a community salary of $10,000 a year, raised by taxation, and I am in the position of paying on $50 more of assessed valuation than he!

I went right down to see the board of review. Everybody seemed polite and attentive there, in spite of the fact that they knew I had some sort of a kick coming. I was asked to sit down first in order of waiting in a row of empty chairs. I sat there alone about half an hour while three or four men, who were acquainted with attendants in the outer office, were ushered in on the jump to see Mr. Johnson. When I got in at last Mr. Johnson was as nice as he could be. He said he thought I had a distinct holler coming, and that just as soon as I got a note from the board to call I ought to hit it up for the board's office at once.

And there I am, in statu quo as it were, and unless somebody shall shoot me because of this article before I get the board's notice, I'm going to line up there and fight it out on it if it takes all my summer vacation.

Still, I am going to pay some "personal property" taxes for this year of our Lord 1906. No matter how opposed the board may be to it, I'm going to beat any little $350 man in Austin by at least $10 on assessed valuation, but I can't afford as much as the judge swears he will pay, else I wouldn't have made the kick in the first place over the measly little $50-divided-by-10 difference in our assessments.

As to the Millionaire.

As to the millionaire who isn't taxed anything on the furnishings of a big house, a big automobile, and a pony phaeton—well, I don't know! If I had been kept in jail a year just because I had been conducting a big business that some Illinois Anthony Comstock didn't like—O, well, I've always had such a prejudice for Comstock's freckles and red hair and whiskers that I can't make a fair deduction on possibilities! Still if I had been boarded free a whole year in jail, with lodgings thrown in, and hadn't any "personal property" scheduled with the assessors—O, I don't know!

As a willing sort of taxpayer, however, I never have dared probe too closely into what I might imagine I'm getting out of my tax money. In fact, I don't pay much attention to anything but getting the tax money together before it is overdue. Occasionally, however, some of these things I don't get have jarred in upon me in the past, quite rudely, so to speak.

Story of a Fancy Ash Can.

For instance, several years ago out here in the Thirty-fifth ward, we had a lady boss of the street cleanings gangs. Maybe she figured in a lot of other wards of the city—I don't know, but no matter. In the work of the ward scavengers she nursed the uplift ideals to beat the band and she wouldn't scare from the muck rake if two mice ran straight for her walking skirts. She didn't like, among other things, the hideous old wooden garbage boxes which jarred her esthetics every time she looked.

For a city beautiful they appeared to her as passé, to say nothing of being smelly in summer. She thought it would be an encouraging thing toward a garbage collector's seeing a little garbage once in awhile if the householders were forced to provide metal cans, one for garbage and one for ashes. So she wrote me to get 'em.

I had never seen ashes collected anywhere in the ward before. The average householder in the winter dumps them over the back fence into the alley. Then in the gentle, melting spring the peddler's poor horse comes along pulling the white man's burden and levels the Ash Range mountains. Two cans, as I say, didn't look a good business investment to me, but I'm not a business man.

I got the cans. The ashes can, with two gallons of ashes in it, disappeared two days later. The other can, chained to a fence post, lost only the metal cover that Halloween, but the cover was little good anyhow, for the reason that the can almost always was so full of garbage that it didn't fit on straight. As a lady had ordered it, too, I simply let it go, leaving the can bareheaded.

Beats Out the Garbage Collector.

Two years ago when I built a house for myself and the holder of the mortgage on it I put hot water pipes in the furnace for winter use and set a hard coal water heater close by in order to have hot water in summer. Then the thought occurred to me to cut out the garbage can, the garbage collector, and the lady boss of the work, all at one fell swoop. Ever since I have been burning all kitchen refuse which will not run into—not through—the sewers.

I say not "through" the sewers, advisedly. When my house was built I had a sewer trap put into the basement floor. It was all right in dry weather when we wanted the cement floor washed out. But it was all wrong when it rained hard. When it rained the choked sewers of Austin began to fill up, and then to back up into my real estate holdings. This sewer water used to smell worse than "back of the yards," and so frequently that I have had to close the trap with cement to the floor level.

Garfield park is about a mile and a half due east of me. We don't go to the parks often, but last fall—considering that the west park board always had taken a whack at my taxes—I concluded one Saturday afternoon to go over to the park when the lagoon fishing season was open, hire a boat and cast some salt pork lures where there weren't any geese and ducks. It isn't often my family has a chance to see me fail to catch fish in bait casting, and I knew my wife would enjoy it immensely.

Futile Effort at Park Trip.

We went, and in spite of the Yates administration a few years before we found the main pier in the main lagoon still there, with an attendant also, his boathook at parade rest. I told him what we had come for.

"But you can't hire a boat for fishing either on Saturdays or Sundays," he said, surprisedly.

"Why can't I?" said I, surprisedly, too.

"Because it's against the rules," he said bluntly.

It was in vain that I explained that we never had any time in which to fail to catch fish in the park save Saturday afternoons and Sunday; in vain that I showed him the thirty odd boats tied up to the pier, while we were willing and waiting to take one at 50 cents an hour; in vain that finally I told him if he would only let me have the boat I wouldn't uncover either rod or tackle while we were out.

"No," he said, "I'm sorry, but the rules won't allow me to rent a boat to any one who has fishing tackle of any kind out here on Saturdays and Sundays."

I asked him then if he wouldn't give me a check for the tackle and let me get it when we came back with the boat. But he said they had no such checking facilities, so we hit the trail for home again. We haven't been in the park since.

Still, as a taxpayer I have those two children in school. At least I'm getting something out of that. At the same time the school itself has been trying to get a little more than taxes out of me.

For instance, the children in the school are called upon to do "construction work"—whatever that is. In order to do this "construction work" the children need to have construction materials, and seemingly there are not enough indirect taxes raised to buy this material. In consequence, I have received a large number of requests from my children's teachers asking for occasional 25 cent and 50 cent pieces which are to go to the fund for the purchase of raffia, cardboard, paper, paste, needles, thread, and such things.

But, as an inborn American citizen, I have refused to recognize direct taxation in any form, much less to tolerate an unbonded taxing body which also is in the anomalous position of distributing these unconstitutionally "direct" taxes. Here I may be charged with some semblance of "graft," however. On one occasion my small boy brought home as a piece of "construction work," a wabbly, strawboard waste basket, done in wall paper designs on the outside in a manner to cause the basket to go into the furnace with its first overload of papers. Last winter, too, my little daughter brought home a "Merry Xmas" card, constructed pretty well in everything but the English of "Xmas." I think these things were made of those materials for "construction work" on which their dear father had defaulted, but, then, I am not claiming to be perfect in all things.

Proxy Graft Comes to Naught.

But, granting that I got these things through graft by proxy, the law of compensation has been acting in regulation way after all. For two years my little son has been a little shy on "brain" work, however his "construction work" did or didn't stack up. Last spring, when it had occurred to me that he ought to be in school seven days a week in order to catch up, I got a short jab in the solar plexus.

Both my children attend a school in Austin. I never cared particularly for the school's name, although consoling myself that by any other name the building would be as ill ventilated. But one morning a municipally employed building inspector entered the municipal school and discovered that a municipal ordinance was so violated against the municipally administered fire department that the municipality would have to nail up the door to this room and clinch a lead seal over the lock until the municipal ordinances were complied with municipally.

This brought another roomful of children down into the room occupied by my little son. Both rooms had been crowded before, and the result has been that in the last five months of school, instead of all day sessions for even five days, my youngster has enjoyed five afternoons a week in the back yard at home. He has been delighted, naturally, but he isn't paying any taxes personally.

The thing that is troubling his father just now is: When will the municipality fix up that room so that the municipal inspector can satisfy the municipal fire department that two rooms in the municipal Robert Emmet school won't compel me to half day violations of the Illinois compulsory education law? I don't think anything yet has been done to this end.

Deal in Water—Might Be Worse.

And speaking of fire and fire departments, I am reminded that until last spring the municipally owned and conducted water department of Chicago had compelled me to buy a limey, magnesia impregnated water from the village of Oak Park, paying for this liquid 25 cents a thousand gallons, when as a long annexed Chicago citizen I ought to have had good lake "boil the water" at 10 cents a thousand gallons. We got the lake water last winter, however, though on these hot days when the Chicago policeman can't see hose nozzles spouting all day on Austin lawns, we have difficulty in coaxing it at 10 cents much above the level of the first floor.

Still, when the Chicago water department took away my old Oak Park meter some time ago I kicked to Supt. Nourse and he sent it back again in good order. Thus I don't have to pay for water that I can't get. It might be worse—a good deal worse!

Still, there have been some harsh things said out here in Austin about the water pressure. They say the Lord only knows what might happen if a big fire got the bulge on the municipal fire department which has to depend upon a municipal water office for fire fighting material. I'm not worrying about that, however. The mortgage holder and I have our house insured and he holds the insurance policy as a sort of collateral security. If the house burns down it is up to him to settle with the insurance adjuster; I'm too busy looking after the 6 per cent per annum paid him semi-annually to worry about who is the Mayor Dunne-Raymond Robins chief of the Chicago fire department. The fire can't burn the lot, at least, and I've paid for that.

Real Problem Still Unsolved.

Yet after all none of this approaches the real question as to what I am going to do next spring in swearing to a schedule of my "personal property." I shall have to swear to something, otherwise the assessors' agent, the assessors, the Juul law penalty, and—perhaps—the board of review will have me a millionaire in a few years of this geometrical progression. I don't have to swear to the real estate property which the mortgagee and I own. On the house and lot this year I was soaked $48 and some cents, though goodness only knows what the holder of the mortgage paid on his "personalty" mortgage in his safety deposit vault.

Simply I have those fourteen year old household goods on my hands, and every time my wife lets the assessors' agent in with mud on his feet to look at these furnishings, they are worth just that much less, especially the Wilton and Smyrna rugs in the front and back parlors.

Shall I go to the Assessors' building next spring and swear to just what these things are worth if a loan shark should sell me out, trusting that my neighbors will be as honest as I, and thus avoid the board of review's horizontally perpendicular raise all along the line? Or shall I go down there, scaling values to such an extent that when the raise is made I'll get just about the "square deal" that I was practicing long before Roosevelt thought of riding up San Juan hill?

All Fixed by "the Other Man."

I work for a salary which another man fixes for me. When I start out to spend it, I pay prices which another man also fixes for me. But after earnest thrift, when I get some fourteen year old furniture together on this basis, I am taxed for having it, though if I didn't have it probably another law would send me to the bridewell for failure to provide for my household!

I'm going to swear in my personal property next spring, however. I seldom ever tell a lie, but, having told one, I haven't the least compunctions about making a notary public oath to it unless I have to pay the 25 cents fee. I don't think they charge you the fee at the assessors' office, though—at least not directly. Anyhow, I'm not going to continue being assessed on some fourteen year old house furniture about twice as much as neighbors of mine are assessed who own automobiles of the touring type and who are ripping up the special assessment paving on which I have a rebate coming, and over which I frequently am afraid to walk.

FALLS DEAD ON A STREET CAR.

Unidentified Passenger Expires at Ashland Avenue and Twenty-second Street—Ring Only Clew to Name.

An unidentified man fell dead in a westbound Twenty-second street car last evening at Ashland avenue. It was believed for a time the man had fainted, but a physician who was summoned pronounced him dead.

The man boarded the car at Halsted street. The Hinman street police were notified and the body was taken to John Cary's undertaking rooms, 568 West Twenty-first street. A gold ring bearing the initials "M. R." and a gold watch were found in the man's clothing.

AIRSHIP STRAYS FROM TRACK.

Attempt Will Be Made to Sail It from Sixty-fourth Street and Western Avenue to City's Center.

Wild's airship will attempt to sail over the downtown district this morning, starting at 8 a. m. from Sixty-fourth street and Western avenue, where it finally reached ground last night after flying from the White City. It started in the afternoon from Sixty-third street and South Park avenue and reached Sixty-ninth and Robey streets. Then it made a second flight, reaching Western avenue, where it remained over night.

REVIEWERS MAKE MORE REDUCTIONS

Several Big Concerns Secure Material Decreases of Assessments.

ADDITION TO HONOR ROLL.

Morgan & Wright Company Complains That Its Taxes Are Too Low.

Manufacturing in Chicago has received a setback during the last year. Representatives of dozens of big steel, rubber, tobacco, lumber, and stationery companies appeared before the board of review yesterday and made such showings that the assessments for the year fell materially lower than those fixed for last year. Here are a few instances:

	1906	1905.
Crescent Type Foundry	$ 7,375	$10,358
Midland Linseed Oil company..	32,000	35,000
Theo. A. Koch company.......	29,000	31,460
Amberg File and Index Co	60,000	75,000
Denison Manufacturing Co ...	44,479	54,725
Peter Van Schaack & Son......	63,000	75,000

In many instances this sacrifice was made in the face of the liberal figures of the assessors. The assessors fixed the Koch valuation at $59,000, the Van Schaack concern at $73,724, and so the list went.

The steel companies received harsher treatment, with the exception of the Bethlehem company. So far as is known the "steel trust" was not represented. The companies were dealt with as follows:

	Assessors.	Reviewers.
Illinois Malleable Iron Co.....	$339,800	Confirmed
Inland Steel Co., Chi. Heights	34,720	Confirmed
Bethlehem Steel Co...........	10,000	1,000
Iroquois Iron & Steel.........	277,000	326,900

Asks for Higher Assessment.

The roll of honor had the fifth name added to its list when the representative of the Morgan & Wright company, manufacturers of rubber goods, asked for an increase of personal property assessment. The figures were changed from $200,000 to $336,000.

In a letter protesting against the assessment of $5,000 upon his personal property John P. Drake Jr. said all his personal property was scheduled at $3,911, and added:

"With the local traction situation and the antagonism against the public service corporations I am interested in I feel poor enough to wear a common, everyday straw. The Panama has taken a back seat."

The traction tax situation may be enlivened when Corporation Counsel Lewis gets back from New York, where he is hunting for $20,000,000 of alleged juggled securities. His assistants have prepared full tables of the taxes for years and other interesting information. Col. Lewis claims that certain corporations—he did not specify traction—were in the habit of sending securities to Chicago during New York's stormy tax times in April and shipping them back to New York in July.

Reviewers in Lenient Mood.

Leniency was shown to some manufacturers who complained of poor trade, standstill business, increased rents, interest on borrowed money, etc. It was observed that President Meacham and Roy O. West of the review board made use of their oath taking prerogative for the first time during the session. The widows, laborers, and small traders who have filled the chambers last week did not have to go through the formality of swearing to tell the truth, but the manufacturers and others who complained yesterday did.

Complaints were made with varying results as follows:

	Assessors.	Reviewers.
Cameron, Amberg company...$	55,000	Confirmed
Lockwood & Strickland Co....	35,000	$15,000
George B. Wise...............	10,000	2,100
Otis Mfg. Co. [lumber]........	13,000	10,000
Sullivan Oil Co...............	15,000	7,000
Rothschild Sons & Co..........	25,000	Confirmed
Edward Hines Lumber Co.....	350,000	Confirmed
Revere Rubber Co............	43,800	33,800
Standard Oil Co..............	1,570	Confirmed

In the last named case it was alleged that most of the personal property, including the horses and wagons, has been transferred out of the city.

The case of the back taxes demanded of the Marshall Field estate will be heard before the board this afternoon.

DENVER WELCOME TO ELKS; MEETING FORMALLY OPENED.

Governor of State, Mayor, and Others Make Addresses—Organization in a Satisfactory Financial Condition.

Denver, Colo., July 16.—The Elks' convention opened at 8 o'clock tonight, when public exercises were held at the Tabor opera house. The theater was packed by Elks and their friends.

Walter Collier, exalted ruler of Denver lodge No. 17, presided and introduced the speakers. Gov. Jesse F. McDonald, Mayor Robert W. Speer, Luther M. Goddard of the Supreme court, and Perry Clay, a prominent member of the local lodge, made addresses welcoming the visiting Elks. Robert W. Brown, exalted ruler of the grand lodge, delivered an address in response.

Thousands of Elks this afteroon visited the University ball park, where an exhibition of broncho breaking and roping of steers was given.

It is generally conceded that Judge Henry A. Melvin of Oakland, Cal., will be the next grand exalted ruler. Practically all opposition was removed today when Dr. W. H. Haviland of Butte, Mont., absolutely refused to make the fight for the honor.

No concentrated opposition to Philadelphia has developed and that city probably will win the next convention.

The annual report of Fred C. Robinson, grand secretary of the grand lodge, shows that on July 10 there were 224,808 members, an increase of 27,597. The order is in satisfactory financial condition.

HOODOO DEFIED BY 13 ELKS.

Baker's Dozen of Members of Mystic Order Show Their Disregard of Popular Superstition.

Thirteen Elks from McKeesport, Pa., on their way to their annual encampment at Denver, registered yesterday at the Victoria hotel.

"We left home on Friday, the 13th," said M. A. Rapp, a member of the party. "We occupied sleeping car No. 13 on the way here, and will not give more than $13 for our breakfast."

Clerk Matthews assigned waiter No. 13 to serve them. At the conclusion of the meal the waiter received 13 cents from each one in the party of thirteen.

When ready to depart they asked the clerk to get them cabs numbered 13. After a hard search the obliging clerk found two cabs with that number, and the party filled both vehicles. At the Northwestern depot train No. 13 was boarded, and the party secured thirteen berths in a sleeper having no number.

HARDWARE DEALERS ON OUTING

Members of Association Will Picnic in Michigan City, Ind.—Justice Court on Boat.

Members of the Chicago Hardware Dealers' association and their families will "take a day off" tomorrow and go to Michigan City, Ind., on their annual outing. Stores owned by them will be closed. The trip will be made on the new steamer Theodore Roosevelt, which will be the scene of pranks which some of the picnickers expect to play at the others' expense.

A justice court will be established on the boat and dealers found guilty of violating the ethics of the trade will be summarily dealt with.

Vaudeville performances will be given for the entertainment of the women present.

LOT OF ICE; PRICE IS HIGH.

MORE THAN NEEDED IN KANSAS CITY; RATES GO UP.

Investigation by County Prosecutor Brings Out That One Firm Had Manufactured for It 4,000 Tons More than Was Contracted for, Which Was Shipped to Outside Points, While Schedule Kept Being Raised.

Kansas City, Mo., July 16.—During an investigation of witnesses by I. B. Kimbrell, county prosecutor, to determine whether or not there is an ice combine in this city, it was developed that two large ice making plants have delivered this season to the People's Ice Storage and Fuel company nearly 4,000 tons more ice than their contracts called for.

It was also shown that the People's company, despite the purported shortage of ice, recently has shipped ice to other places in carload lots.

The ice delivered to the People's company in excess of the amount contracted for was sold at $2 a ton, although at the time the market price to retail sellers of ice was advancing and nearly 2,000 tons of the ice went to the People's company when it would have brought $5 a ton on the market in Kansas City.

Deliver More than Asked For.

Frank Leeper, bookkeeper and scale keeper for the Heim Brewing company, testified that between Feb. 25 and July 11 of this year the Heim plant made 8,653 tons of ice, of which 5,401 were sold to the People's company. The contract between the Heim and the People's companies called for 3,863 tons.

"How did you happen to deliver to them 1,500 tons more than your contract called for?"

"We had the ice and they wanted it."

"At $2 a ton, all of it?"

"Yes."

"How did you happen to charge some buyers more than others?"

"After we had supplied the Val Blatz brewery and the Green Tree brewery, the people wanted ice and we thought the weather was warm enough to advance the price."

O. S. Lynds, bookkeeper for the Vanderslice-Lynds Ice company, testified that his company had sold to the People's company 2,028 tons more ice than that company had contracted for. The hearing will be resumed tomorrow.

Florida Icemen Acquitted.

Jacksonville, Fla., July 16.—The trial of several ice dealers in Jacksonville on a charge of combining to raise the price of ice resulted today in a verdict of not guilty, after one of the hardest legal fights in the history of the state. During the trial it developed that ice was manufactured at a cost of $2.60 a ton and retailed at from $6 to $8.

Yonkers to Have M. O. Ice.

New York, July 16.—[Special.]—The price of ice in Yonkers having attained a height of 60 cents a hundred owing to manipulation by the ice trust, Mayor Coyne tonight announced that the city government was preparing to supply ice at cost price. The ice is to be cut from a large lake next winter.

Ohio Bridge Man Fined $500.

Lima, O., July 16.—Harry Hammond, representing the Canton Bridge company, one of twenty-three bridge men convicted a week ago of violating the law against restraint of trade, was fined $500 today and ordered to pay the costs by Judge Cunningham. The costs will amount to $2,000. Judge Cunningham, before passing sentence, overruled a motion for a new trial. The case has been bitterly fought. Witnesses were brought from many distant points.

POLICE OFFICER JUDGES AND DECIDES FAMILY ROW.

Lieut. O'Toole of Central Station Permits Mother to Take Back Daughter, Sends Husband Home Alone.

The police of the central station last night served as arbitrators of domestic troubles which followed the elopement a year ago of Janette Van Ame, an 18 year old schoolgirl of Rockford, Ill., and Grover Cone, 25 years old, of Benton Harbor. The police interference was caused by the attempt of the girl's mother to take her daughter and 5 month old grandson from Benton Harbor to her home in Rockford, resulting in her being charged by her son-in-law with kidnaping.

After listening to the stories of those involved, Lieut. O'Toole sent the women and child to a hotel and had Cone escorted to the boat for Benton Harbor.

The police were called into the case shortly after the arrival of the steamer City of Benton Harbor at the Graham & Morton docks last night, when Mrs. Van Ame appealed to Policeman Foley for protection from her son-in-law and his efforts to gain possession of his child, which the grandmother was taking with the mother to Rockford, following Cone's alleged desertion of his family.

Policeman Foley, puzzled by the conflicting stories told, took the family to the central station, where Lieut. O'Toole acted as referee. He found the story of desertion true and decided against Cone.

DOWIE SAYS A REVELATION ASSURES HIM OF VICTORY.

Zion's Founder Tells of Vision Which Renews the Hopes of His Faithful Followers.

Dr. John Alexander Dowie again denounced his enemies at an early morning meeting at Shiloh tabernacle yesterday, and declared a divine revelation during the night had promised him victory.

The news of the vision gave renewed hope to the Dowie supporters and a larger audience than any Dr. Dowie had spoken to since his return gathered at the afternoon meeting in the tabernacle in commemoration of the feast of tabernacles. The first apostle showed signs of a return to his former vigor, speaking clearly and standing for several minutes without support from his negro bodyguard. At the afternoon meeting, Deacon E. C. Arrington predicted a victory for the Dowie forces, and said Dr. Dowie is storing up reserve energy which will be released in a whirlwind of destruction for his enemies.

Attorney Emil C. Wettin filed a brief in behalf of Dowie yesterday and the document was sent to Judge Landis at Burt Lake, Mich., for his consideration. The evidence already submitted is recapitulated and a plea is made that the entire estate be returned to Dowie and that no trust be declared

"CONGRESS OF NATIONS" IN RAID

Police Swoop Down on River Front Saloons, Capturing Thirty-seven Variegated Men.

There was a "congress of nations" at the East Chicago avenue police station last night—almost. Almost, because one or two nations were not represented. Eight were, however, and more would have been if a couple of prisoners hadn't escaped.

There were Russians, Bohemians, Scotchmen, Germans, Polish, Austrians, and Irish, too, not to mention the Englishman, and all—thirty-seven—were captured in a raid on the north bank of the river.

A squad of policemen surrounded three saloons in the vicinity of Rush and Kinzie streets about 11:30 o'clock, and after closing in upon the dramshops counted noses, with the above result.

For some time complaint has been made of street loafers along Kinzie and Rush streets. Pedestrians were annoyed or insulted, and the police decided to put an end to those conditions. The raid followed.

Veteran Regulars to Organize.

The Col. Crofton garrison of the Regular Army and Navy Union of the United States will be organized at Oddfellows' hall, Highwood, Friday evening with an enrollment of seventy-five charter members. This organization is to the regulars what the G. A. R. is to civil war veterans.

CARTER IS SORRY FOR UNDUE HASTE

Announcement of Engagement to Miss Munro Annoys Mrs. Carter-Payne.

MOTHER AND SON CONFER.

Payne, New Groom, Hard to Find; More Light on Matrimonial Surprise.

New York, July 16.—[Special.]—When Leslie Dudley Carter, son of Mrs. Leslie Carter-Payne, comes out of hiding his friends expect to hear him express profound regret that he was so quick in announcing his engagement at his merry little dinner at the Hotel Broztell on Sunday night to Miss Norma Munro, the intimate friend of young Carter's mother.

In sending out the news so closely on the heels of his mother's sudden marriage to William Louis Payne, the actor, Carter has caused displeasure not only to Miss Munro but to his mother.

There was a tale going the rounds at the Lambs' club tonight about a spirited talk early in the day between young Carter and Mrs. Carter-Payne. As the story went, Mrs. Carter, on arriving from Shelter Island, was dumfounded to read in the newspapers that her son had announced his betrothal to Miss Munro. Mrs. Carter was on her way to meet Payne, but on reading of the engagement she forthwith hastened to the home of Miss Munro, at No. 26 Central Park South.

Mother and Son Confer.

There was nobody at home except the maids. They said Miss Munro had started early in an automobile to her home near Red Bank, N. J. The actress used the telephone and was soon in communication with her son, who was at one of the uptown hotels. An hour later Mrs. Carter and Dudley were in earnest conversation at a restaurant.

Carter admitted to his mother he had announced the engagement and added he didn't see any harm in it. Mrs. Carter said she was not displeased over the engagement but did not think he had used good judgment in letting the secret out while the papers were full of her own marriage in Portsmouth. Dudley said he was sorry. Mrs. Carter went into seclusion at one of the hotels.

While Mrs. Carter and her son were in conference denials that any engagement existed were being sent out by D. F. Goodspeed, manager of the Munro Publishing company, in which Miss Munro has an interest.

"It's absurd," said Goodspeed. "I've just had a telephone message from Miss Munro at Red Bank and she tells me to deny as positively as I know how that there is any engagement."

Her mother, Mrs. Norman L. Munro, said she was sure her daughter was not engaged.

Dudley Avoids Old Haunts.

It was said that young Mr. Carter had registered under an assumed name at a Broadway hotel. He avoided all his old haunts.

"Dudley's scared," said one of his chums, who was at the Hotel Broztell dinner. "He made the announcement of the engagement all right, but there's been so much racket over it that he's sorry now."

Payne was just as hard to find today as was Carter. He telephoned his mother at her flat, 174 West Eighty-ninth street, around noon, confirming to her for the first time his marriage to the actress.

"You naughty boy!" she exclaimed. "Why didn't you tell me you were engaged?" Payne told her the engagement was too sudden.

"Anyhow, I forgave him," said Mrs. Payne in telling about it afterward. "I hope they'll both be happy, and I guess they will."

Payne was with Mrs. Carter this afternoon, it was said, and will leave for Shelter Island with her tomorrow. Mrs. Carter is going ahead with her theatrical plans for next season. Payne told an intimate friend that she would continue indefinitely with David Belasco. It is expected that when the season opens her husband will become her personal manager.

Light on Auto Trip.

The most authentic information obtainable regarding Payne's first meeting with Mrs. Leslie Carter comes from members of the Lambs' club, who are intimate friends of the automobile party of which Mrs. Carter, her son, Miss Munro, and Payne were members. Miss Munro got up the party three weeks ago intending that she, Mrs. Carter, Dudley Carter, and William Courtenay, an actor, should take a trip through Massachusetts and New Hampshire. When the auto called for Courtenay at his summer home near Seabright he said he had just invited some friends down for a couple of weeks and he couldn't leave them.

"Get more autos and bring them along," said Miss Munro. It was done, and the second automobile started with Jack Devereaux, Morgan Coman, Payne, and Dean. The party changed around after a while, and Payne by chance sat next to Mrs. Carter. On the succeeding days Payne made it his business to sit alongside Mrs. Carter, but none of the party suspected that it was a love match until the announcement came that they had been married during the stop Friday at Portsmouth.

FIREMEN SAVE HORSE IN RIVER.

Hundreds See Animal Hoisted to Docks Near the Rush Street Bridge.

Hundreds of persons stood on the Rush street bridge for twenty minutes last night and watched firemen of truck company No. 8 trying to rescue from the Chicago river a horse weighing 1,800 pounds, which had jumped into the water from the steamer City of Marquette.

The firemen, after placing ropes and straps about the animal, succeeded in hoisting it safely to the docks of the Barry Transportation company.

The horse jumped into the river while it was being taken on board. For nearly half an hour the frightened animal swam about in the stream, and it was with difficulty that it was finally captured by deckhands in a rowboat. They succeeded in getting him to the side of the dock, where the firemen were waiting.

FIRE ALARMS HOTEL GUESTS.

Blaze in Randolph Street Building Causes Excitement Among Occupants of the Briggs and the Bismarck.

Fire shortly after midnight in the five story building at 176 Randolph street, occupied by the paint warehouse of the Devoe & Reynolds company, caused a loss of $1,000 before it was extinguished.

The building is adjoining the Bismark hotel and opposite the Briggs house. Guests in both places were thrown into alarm by the noise of the firemen and apparatus. Panic, however, was avoided.

The blaze originated from an unknown cause in the basement and spread to the ground floor. It was confined there and extinguished after half an hour's work by the fire company.

Peddler Who Sells Cotton for Linen Arrested by East Chicago Avenue Police.

John Sudara, an Italian peddler, was arrested by the East Chicago avenue police, charged with operating a swindling game in the sale of linen. Sudara's plan was to visit housewives, exhibit a bolt of linen of a fine quality at a low price. Many women bought goods from him, but received a wrapped bundle, which, on investigation, was found to contain only a bolt of cotton. Sudara had been working in the vicinity of Pierson and Rush streets when arrested. One bolt of linen and four bolts of cotton were found in his valise.

MOTHER RUNS THAW CASE.

RETAINS BLACK FIRM AND DELAFIELD DESPITE SON'S WISHES.

Wealthy Pittsburg Woman Refuses to Allow Dismissal of Lawyers with Whom Youth Broke After Quarrel—Hartridge Says He Will Stick to Position—Parent and Child Have Long Conversation in the Tombs, Where He Is Awaiting Trial.

New York, July 16.—[Special.]—Mrs. William Thaw, mother of Harry Thaw, does not approve of her son's action in dismissing the firm of Black, Olcott, Gruber & Bonynge as his counsel nor in his dispensing with the services of Lewis L. Delafield. Mr. Delafield apparently is acting for Mrs. Thaw, no matter how her son regards him.

Mrs. Thaw called upon her son at the Tombs today. She also had expected to have a talk with the lawyers whom her son has announced he has dismissed. She did not do so, however, but in the afternoon, just before her departure for Roslyn, L. I., this statement was made by a member of the family as coming from Mrs. Thaw:

"The conference set for this afternoon with my counsel did not take place because I was not feeling well enough to go to Mr. Lewis L. Delafield's office. It will take place tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock. In the meantime I have notified Mr. Delafield to continue the Black & Olcott firm as my son's counsel."

Hartridge Intends to Stick.

At Mr. Olcott's office it was said today that the firm had had no communication with Mrs. Thaw and considered that it was out of the case. It also was announced that the firm had heard nothing from Delafield, although there was a hint that the firm expected some such thing as Mrs. Thaw's announcement.

Delafield refused to see reporters or make any statement.

Clifford W. Hartridge, Thaw's new lawyer, seemed to be surprised at the statement made for Mrs. Thaw.

"Mrs. Thaw can hire any lawyers she pleases," said Hartridge. "I am counsel for Harry Thaw and shall continue as such. If Mrs. Thaw has retained counsel it is possible we might work in conjunction in some matters. I saw Mr. Thaw twice today, both before and after his mother's visit. I still say that I am his counsel. Further than that I have nothing to say."

Thaw Has Long Talk with Mother.

Josiah Thaw and his mother drove down to the prison in a hansom, reaching there at 11 o'clock. Young Mrs. Thaw had preceded them and was having her usual morning talk with her husband when his mother arrived. Mrs. William Thaw was dressed in black and seemed bowed with grief.

Thaw was talking earnestly to his wife when his mother came along. When Mrs. Thaw approached her daughter-in-law immediately ceased her conversation with her husband. Mrs. Thaw, the mother, went up to the bars and kissed her son. There was no one near enough to hear what they said, but both seemed much affected.

Mr. Hartridge, on his second visit to Thaw, was accompanied by J. Ham. Lewis of Chicago.

JUDGE REBUKES LAWYERS IN HARTJE CASE FOR TALKING.

Tells Attorneys for Both Sides They Must Stop Rushing Into Print—Expert Says Coachman Letters Forged.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 16.—[Special.]—The arrival of the first of an additional number of handwriting experts, who have been called hither by the defense, and a severe scoring given counsel in the case by Judge Frazer this morning were the developments in the Hartje divorce case today.

Dr. B. F. Davenport of Boston, state handwriting expert of Massachusetts, consulting chemist for the United States government, arrived this morning and spent the greater portion of the day examining the forty letters. Dr. Davenport has concluded that at least a portion of the letters are not genuine.

Judge Frazer reprimanded Attorneys Rodgers, Ferguson, and Marron for their insistence in keeping the forty letters in their possession so long. He scored the attorneys on both sides for talking outside of court with no sparing hand. The attorneys became incensed and flatly denied they had talked.

JEWELRY ROBBERY OF 1901 RECALLED BY "SMALL AD."

Victim Says Police Asked Him to Publish "Personal" Notice, but They Declare the Report a Hoax.

The Hagamann jewelry robbery of 1901 was recalled yesterday when P. J. Hagamann, who still has his shop at 5454 Wentworth avenue, placed the following in the advertising columns of THE TRIBUNE:

PERSONAL—I WILL NOT BE RESPONSIBLE for any debts contracted by my wife and family.
P. J. HAGAMANN.

Hagamann said there is no domestic strife in his family and declared he was requested by the police to place the notice in the paper in an effort to discover two members of the gang who stole $6,000 worth of diamonds and watches from his shop five years ago. He says he is unable to understand how the two suspects can be rounded up in such a manner.

The police deny all knowledge of new clews in the case and state that two of the gang were sent to the penitentiary and that the other two have since died, thus closing the case. They think Hagamann is the victim of a hoax. Hagamann and his family live at 5519 Princeton avenue.

HAGENBECK'S CIRCUS SHOWS HERE FIRST TIME FOR 13 YEARS

Trained Wild Animals Divide Honors with High School Girl Who Executes the "Somersault of Death."

"The circus has come to town." Hagenbeck's rejuvenated show of trained wild animals, acrobats, and clowns made its appearance at Sixty-third street and Drexel avenue last night after an absence of thirteen years. New features have been added and the scope of the show has been widened.

Miss Isabel Loraine, who graduated "with honors" from the East Side High school in Milwaukee this spring, proved the feature of the show in her "somersault of death," in which she rode down an incline in an automobile and turned completely over in midair. She says she is only 17 years old, and last night was her first appearance as a professional in her thrilling "stunt."

Then the trained animals were attractions. The wrestling match between a large polar bear and his trainer, Herman Boger, and the feeding of raw meat from the latter's hand to the beasts kept spectators interested.

The circus will continue at its present location for the remainder of the week.

Conductor Drill of Choral Society Tendered Farewell Reception Before His Trip Abroad.

Members of the Irish Choral society tendered a farewell reception last night to their director, Thomas Taylor Drill, who will start for Ireland on a musical mission today. The reception was held in Mr. Drill's studio in Kimball hall. His trip is part of extensive plans of the society to organize Irish choral societies in all the principal cities in the United States.

During his visit abroad Director Drill will enlist the aid of the Irish composers to devote their efforts in producing compositions fitted for the uses of choral societies here.

Irish societies already have taken up the work in Syracuse, N. Y., Canton, O., and Scranton, Pa. On Wednesday Mr. Drill will be the guest of National President Dolan of the Ancient Order of Hibernians in Saratoga, N. Y.

R. H. WARFIELD, FRISCO POLICE HEAD, ACCIDENT VICTIM.

Had Just Been Sworn In as Commissioner—Run Down in His Gasoline Runabout on Mount Tamalpais Scenic Railway by Electric Car—Was Prominent Business Man and an Owner of Line on Which He Met Death.

San Francisco, Cal., July 16.—[Special.]—R. H. Warfield, who was sworn in this morning as police commissioner, was killed tonight on the Mount Tamalpais railway as he was going up to the tavern on the summit of the mountain where he lived.

Mr. Warfield was one of the owners of the scenic railroad, which is known as the "crookedest railroad in the world," and he had the use of a small gasoline runabout that ran on the rails. He was in this motor car with an engineer when the regular electric passenger came around a sharp curve at full speed. The motorman jumped, but before Mr. Warfield could escape he was struck. Death was instantaneous.

Mr. Warfield was one of the most popular men on the coast, having been identified with banking interests and afterwards with hotels in San Francisco. He was high in grand army and national guard circles, and was a prominent mason. He kept the California hotel for ten years, but retired just before the earthquake.

He was selected by Mayor Schmitz as police commissioner because of his wide acquaintance with municipal affairs and his many friends.

George Terrell, 125 Halsted street, was struck by an automobile owned by F. R. Crane, 1482 Washington boulevard, at Jackson boulevard and Halsted street. He suffered a broken leg.

Three men were each fined $15 and costs for speeding in autos. They were William Fell, 1419 Michigan avenue; Oliver Edick, Lake Forest; J. Kuyper, 4240 Cottage Grove avenue.

DETECTIVES MAKE EFFORT TO WORK

Talk of Chief Collins with Lieut. Rohan Disturbs Front Office Calm.

CARDS ARE PUT ASIDE.

Some Arrests Made During Day and Others of Last Week Claimed as New.

"Brave attempts" were made yesterday by the detective bureau to achieve a much needed reputation for energetic and efficient work in detecting crime. The attempts followed a heart to heart talk between Chief Collins and Lieut. "Andy" Rohan, who was called before the chief in the morning.

"Get busy, you fellows," shouted the lieutenant, his face aflame, as he descended to the front office, following his interview with the chief. "Get out and make some arrests. Solve some of these murder mysteries! Are you all loafers?"

So, when the rotund lieutenant had departed for rest and refreshment in the late afternoon, and his partner, Lieut. John Hartford, appeared on duty, the department was ready for an investigation.

"We've solved a murder mystery," asserted the lieutenant, proudly—"arrested five Italians for the crime. We've arrested also a fugitive from justice, a woman shoplifter, a naval deserter, and three pickpockets. How's that for one day?"

Part "Day's Work" Done Last Week.

The five Italians, who were charged with the murder of Francisco S. Papandrea, Luigi Nesce, and Ferdinand Nesce, whose cabin was dynamited in Maywood last Friday, it happened, had been arrested on the day of the crime and the day following. The lieutenant had a vague recollection of that, but he thought the arrests should be credited on the day they were booked, and they were booked yesterday.

"Any way, the murder has been solved," said the lieutenant. "The assistant chief and an Italian interpreter were with the prisoners this afternoon and they've confessed—practically confessed. There'll be some more arrests tomorrow. It was a pure case of robbery."

Detective Sergeant Buggie, who, with Sergeants McLain and Kelly, made the arrests, wasn't so sure there had been a confession. He said, though, with considerable confidence, that they had the "right men."

In the evening the five were booked on a charge of murder preferred by Buggie. The prisoners are Rocco Papandrea, James Papandrea, Frank Papandrea, Joseph Papandrea, and Salivato Hassetto.

List of Actual Arrests.

The actual arrests made by the bureau yesterday were:

Minegan, Frank J., fugitive from Kansas City, Mo.; charged with stuffing pay rolls of the Northern Pacific railroad; clerk, aged 27 years; single; arrested by Duffy and Tobin.

Otto, Mrs. Catherine, aged 48; housekeeper; charged with shoplifting; arrested by Buggie and Kelly.

Smith, August; naval deserter; arrested by Detectives De Roche and Morgan.

Boyard, Robert, aged 31; alleged professional pickpocket.

McNulty, James, aged 28; alleged professional pickpocket.

Nolan, Christ, aged 30; alleged professional pickpocket.

Boyard, McNulty, and Nolan, who were booked for larceny, were identified as the three men who a week ago snatched a diamond stud valued at $300 from the shirt front of Thomas J. Bolger, a broker with an office at 153 La Salle street. Mr. Bolger was riding in a street car when at Van Buren and Robey streets the men jostled him. Before he missed his stud they escaped from the car. He and his daughter identified the prisoners. The pickpockets were arrested in a West Madison street saloon by Detectives Garrigan and Stephens.

With this spasm of activity the energy of the detectives abated. The chairs in the squad room were filled by husky plain clothes men in the afternoon, though they straightened up when Lieut. Rohan passed through occasionally. There was no card playing, and the saloons patronized by the detectives in the neighborhood of the city hall missed them.

Chief Collins laid down the law to Lieut. Rohan in the morning, though he later denied that he administered a severe reprimand.

According to one of those who was present, the chief in strong language called down "Andy" for lack of discipline in the department, petty gambling, and inattention to duty. Later the chief declined to discuss his plans with reference to the detective department.

Private Detectives, City Stars.

The chief's attention was called to the detectives on furlough, who are using their stars for their private business, and he said he would take the matter under consideration.

The best known of these cases is that of Detective Edward S. McGuire, who carries a star as a city police officer, although he is in the employ of his brother's private detective agency. Charges against McGuire are to be brought before the civil service commission by Herman C. Lammers of 2345 Lakewood avenue.

Mr. Lammers is the husband of the woman arrested several days ago on complaint of Mrs. Lillian E. Calkins. Mrs. Calkins lost her purse, which she said contained $65. It later was returned by Mrs. Lammers, but the money was gone. The justice before whom the case was tried acquitted Mrs. Lammers, it having been shown that the pocketbook was empty when she picked it up.

Joel Baker, investigator for the civil service commission, has learned that Detective McGuire's alleged threats against Mrs. Lammers were open to grave criticism and he will recommend that his star be taken from him.

Suggestions to Merit Board.

The suggestions that Baker will make to the civil service commission are as follows:

"1. It is a dangerous practice for the police department to issue a star to a representative of a private detective agency, for it may be used by such representative, if so disposed, for purposes of intimidation and blackmail and for obtaining interviews with accused persons which otherwise would not be accorded. Under no circumstances should the sweatbox system be practiced on a woman at home in the absence of her husband or a protector.

"2. No police officer should assume to make a criminal investigation upon which he has not been directly detailed.

"3. No police officer should be permitted to intimidate citizens or charge them with crime. It is the duty of an officer detailed on investigation to inquire, not to charge; to ascertain facts, not to express opinions.

"4. It should be the duty of an officer suspecting a person of crime to report the same promptly to police headquarters and in no instance should the officer seek of his own accord to conduct criminal investigations except in emergency.

"5. Conduct in this case was unbecoming an officer."

Threats to Mrs. Lammers.

Baker's investigation developed that McGuire went to the residence of Mrs. Lammers and said, after displaying his star and representing himself a city detective:

"This woman (Mrs. Calkins) has a complete case against you."

"If that is true," Mrs. Lammers answered, "we are ready to meet them at any time."

Whereupon McGuire answered, in a suggestive manner:

"O, there'll be a trial."

"I found," said Baker, "that at the time that McGuire assumed to make this investigation he never had had an interview with Mrs. Calkins. He never had reported the case to police headquarters. He was not on duty as a policeman, but was on a furlough.

"Mrs. Lammers never before had been suspected of any crime. Mrs. Calkins told me that she was willing to let the matter drop and would have done so had it not been for the urgent solicitation of McGuire."

AN INTRODUCTION TO "NELLIE BLY"

CLOSER ACQUAINTANCE WITH "NELLIE."

NOTE ON BRIDGE; SUICIDE?

PAPER ATTACHED TO CLOAK TELLS OF DEATH PACT.

Two Young Women Discover Worn Silk Garment on High Steel Structure in Lincoln Park—Police Doubt Message but Will Cause Lagoon to Be Dragged This Morning to Ascertain Truth of the Threat at Drowning.

The Lincoln park police will be called upon today to drag the lagoon under the high bridge, where, last night, two young women found a black silk cloak, with a note attached stating the owner was about to commit suicide in compliance with a death pact between herself and a man.

The note read as follows:

> Dear Ed—By the time you receive this I will be resting in the lagoon. I have kept my part of the pact. Be sure to keep yours.
>
> FROM YOUR ELLA.

The garment, which was considerably worn, and apparently not serviceable for another season, was found by Miss Anna McRae, 392 Orchard street, and Miss Augusta Kennicott, 417 Webster avenue. They carried it with them out of the park until they met a policeman. He took the garment and note to the Larrabee street police station. It will be turned over to the Lincoln park police this morning.

The police believe the note is the work of a practical joker, owing to the worn condition of the garment, but the park officers will be asked to drag the lagoon to make certain this belief.

Jury Doubts Suicide "Pact."

Disbelieving the ante-death statement of Edward F. Kloss, proprietor of a millinery establishment at 231 North avenue, that he and his wife had entered a compact to die, the coroner's jury yesterday brought in a verdict declaring that Kloss had murdered his wife while she lay sleeping, and then fired a fatal bullet into his own brain.

The statement left by Kloss, addressed to the "Herr Coroner," follows:

> I herewith inclose $30 to pay Mr. Allen for burying us. We are both satisfied and we both have agreed to die.

There was no evidence to corroborate Kloss' statement that his wife agreed to die. Relatives and neighbors declared he was abusive to her and that they did not believe she entered a suicide compact.

Wife Dead, Tries Suicide.

Despondent over the death of his wife last April, W. H. Trundell, 42 years old, 1219 Montana street, attempted suicide by turning on the gas. The man spent the afternoon in Graceland cemetery over his wife's grave, returning early in the evening. He went to his room, and nothing more was heard from him until Policeman A. V. Boschult of the Sheffield avenue station noticed a groan emanating from an upstairs window. The policeman investigated and Trundell was found, nearly unconscious. He was taken to the Alexian Brothers' hospital, where it was said he will recover.

Dies by Eating Rat Poison.

J. W. Coles, 35 years old, committed suicide by eating rat poison in a room in the Richardson hotel, 318 and 322 State street, shortly after 6 o'clock. Coles attracted the attention of hotel employés and they hurried to his room. When they arrived he was found to be dead. The police took the body to McNally's undertaking rooms, 518 Wabash avenue.

Suicide in Y. W. C. A. Home.

Coroner's Physician Otto Lewke, in a postmortem examination yesterday, discovered carbolic acid in the stomach and lungs of Miss Anna Sinns, 25 years old, who died suddenly on Sunday in the kitchen of the Young Woman's Christian association home, 288 Michigan avenue, where she was employed as a cook. The suicide was due to despondency following ill health.

West park police yesterday began a search of the east lagoon in Garfield park for the body of L. S. Snyder, 240 Indiana street, who had left a note saying he was going to kill himself. Later Snyder appeared safe and sound and said his real name was Hildebrand.

FOLK PLANS DRASTIC MOVE TO ENFORCE SUNDAY LAW.

Instructs for Proceedings to Revoke Charters and Confiscate Property of the Violators in St. Louis County.

St. Louis, Mo., July 16.—[Special.]—Following reports of flagrant violations of the Sunday law throughout St. Louis county, Gov. Folk not only sent Assistant Attorneys General Joseph Kennish and N. T. Gentry to this city to proceed against those accused but also issued instructions for proceedings against Delmar and other suburban gardens to seek revocation of their charters, confiscation of their property, and the imposition of fines upon the proprietors.

The same action is to be taken against all amusement resorts in the county where intoxicants have been sold on Sunday and quo warranto proceedings in each case will be filed before the Supreme court.

The governor instructed for similar steps against clubs as well as dramshops.

SECOND SUIT IS FILED BY THE TRUSTEES OF MUTUAL.

Action Charges Former Life Insurance President with Having Secured Large Sums of Policy Holders' Money and Secretly Disposed of It—Trustees Are Quick to Sue Him, but Slow to Proceed Against Themselves—More Suits Contemplated.

New York, July 16.—[Special.]—Richard A. McCurdy, former president of the Mutual Life Insurance company, today was served through his counsel, Delancey Nicoll, with papers in a suit which calls upon him to account for about $2,000,000 of the policy holders' money disbursed through the "yellow dog" funds during his régime.

This is the second suit brought by the company individually against its former president, and the fifth against him, his son Robert, and his son-in-law, Lewis A. Thebaud.

So far no suits have been brought against anybody except the McCurdys for the millions wasted, stolen, and illegally diverted from the policy holders. The same trustees who were in power while the policy holders were being defrauded still are in power. Most of them will be renominated on the "administration ticket" tomorrow.

McCurdys Only Ones Sued.

None of the trustees has shown any inclination to bring suit against others on the board or anybody but the McCurdys. The trustees are unanimous, though, in pursuing the McCurdys to the limit with all kinds of litigation, though many of them made great fortunes by successfully courting the favor of the older McCurdy when he was czar of the Mutual Life.

In announcing the new suit the Peabody administration issued a statement in part as follows:

"Complaint today was served in a second action against Mr. McCurdy, under advice of Joseph H. Choate."

McCurdy is called on to account for large sums drawn from the treasury on vouchers signed by Robert Olyphant and other members of the expenditures committee. These sums were drawn in lumps of $25,000 each. As far as known $600,000 of the policy holders' money was taken that way. What became of it never has been disclosed. Olyphant declared he always supposed it went for expenditures in connection with the Mutual Life's legal department.

Almost Charges Theft.

The complaint practically charges the money went to President McCurdy and was disbursed secretly by him. It makes an even more startling accusation—that he received money obtained by Lysander W. Lawrence on fraudulent bills for stationery and other supplies and disbursed it for various secret purposes.

Lawrence got about $100,000 a year from the Mutual Life through a collusive arrangement with "Andy" Fields for supplies which never were furnished the company. Lawrence had been putting in bogus bills for more than eighteen years. It is estimated the money thus obtained, with interest, aggregates $2,000,000.

Two More Suits in Sight.

The suit brought today, though no specific sum is named, calls upon the elder McCurdy to account for about $2,600,000. He already has been sued for more than $2,000,000. Two more suits are to be brought against him. These, with the others, will hold him responsible for about $8,000,000 in all.

The trustees of the Mutual will meet at 12:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and will ratify the "administration ticket" prepared by H. H. Rogers.

AERONAUTS FACE DEATH BY FIRE WHEN HIGH IN THE AIR.

Machine Blazes Into Flame While 400 Feet Above Ground During Flight Taken by Accident.

Pottsville, Pa., July 16.—[Special.]—A blazing airship, which threatened to roast its two occupants, 400 feet above the earth, amazed the residents in this section yesterday.

The aerial craft was manned by George Phillips and a companion, and it caught fire from a spark from the gasoline motor.

Phillips constructed the ship on his own plans on a farm near Orwigsburg. While making experiments he would allow the ship to rise about ten feet in the air. Early yesterday morning, however, while he was taking one of these ascents the ship got beyond control, and rising swiftly struck a course in this direction.

As observed from St. Clair the ship seemed to be making fast progress, going northward directly in the teeth of the wind. For a minute there was a bright flame visible. The ship descended swiftly, and reached the ground badly damaged, after a flight of twelve miles. Phillips said the fire was only a "flash in the pan," but he admits that he and his companions were considering the project of jumping to the earth in the parachute to save themselves from being roasted to death.

SPURNS LIBERTY IN VAIN.

GOURDAIN GOES TO WASHINGTON ON STRANGE MISSION.

Convicted Lottery Operator, Whose Case Was Appealed Against His Will, Says He Will Ask the United States Supreme Court to Compel the Joliet Penitentiary Warden to Receive Him as a Prisoner and Let Him Serve His Sentence.

After a busy day spent at Joliet in making preparation for building his private prison, Louis A. Gourdain, the convicted lottery operator, left for Washington over the Pennsylvania road at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon to ask the Supreme court to grant a writ of mandamus compelling his return to the state penitentiary as a prisoner.

If the attempt fails Gourdain declares he will start building his miniature penitentiary on land for which he negotiated to pay $4,500, which lies in the shadow of the Illinois state prison. He declared his intention to forego sleep and food until he once more shall be a prisoner.

"I may starve, but it is not likely," he said just as the train was departing. "I shall visit the Hotel Raleigh at Washington, but I shall not sleep or eat there. I shall give the Supreme court three days to grant my request. It is my intention to return to Chicago immediately, probably by way of New York, and, if my request has been denied, I may begin piling up the stones of my prison with my own hands. It will surprise you to see how quick that prison will be built, even if I have to turn stonemason.

Exeunt All the Gourdains.

"For four and one-half years I will remain a prisoner. Then I shall gather all the Gourdains on earth and go with them to New Orleans. A tug will carry us to the yacht Imperial, which never has been and never will be within the jurisdiction of the United States. It is the fastest yacht afloat. I have never revealed the secret of where it was built nor the mysteries of its perfect mechanism. When we are once on board no one will know what has become of the Gourdains."

When Gourdain alighted from an Alton train at Joliet he was accompanied by his wife and son, Harold. The party entered a carriage and proceeded to the house of W. H. McGee, 1809 Collins street, within a stone's throw of the entrance to the prison. Heedless of his wife's entreaties, Gourdain entered the house and handed Mrs. McGee a month's rent for a portion of the house.

"If your husband don't want me just keep the money and consider the contract broken," said Gourdain.

Then he handed around silver quarters to some children at the entrance, telling them to "go buy candy." Mrs. Gourdain and her son are expected to move into the house today.

Friends May Ask Conservator.

Gourdain's next visit was to Dentist Copley of Joliet, whom he commissioned to purchase the piece of ground near the McGee house on which the miniature prison is to be erected unless Gourdain's friends interfere by having a conservator appointed for his estate.

Having finished this business, Gourdain said farewell to his family and went to the Alton station, where he waited impatiently for the 4 o'clock train for Chicago, which was half an hour late. He asserted that if he should miss the train for Chicago he would refuse to reënter the Auditorium Annex, but might sit in a chair in a room in the Grand Pacific hotel instead.

LUCKY ONES TURN UP NOSES AT CROW RESERVATION LANDS

Only 78 Appear of 125 Entitled to File on First Day—5,000 Acres May Be Passed Up for Homesteading.

Billings, Mont., July 16.—The doors of the local land office opened this morning for filing on the lands of the Crow reservation, drawings for which took place in Billings on July 2, 3, and 5. Of the 125 names slated for entry today only seventy-eight appeared.

If there is a proportional decrease each day officials who have participated in former drawings say the total number of filings will not reach more than 1,000. This will mean that there will be about 5,000 homesteads which may be filed upon by any one eligible after Sept. 15.

The first man to file was Owen B. Williams, who drew No. 1. He made his entry on a quarter section a short distance east of Custer, where he resides. No. 2, a man from Chicago, filed on a tract in the Sanders town site. No. 3 located near Huntley, a small place twelve miles east of this city. No. 4 appeared, but made no filing and neither did No. 6.

Several women took advantage of their rights and made their filing, among them Mrs. Bridget Artery of Butte, Mont., who drew No. 26.

Court Protects the Igorrotes.

Judge Bethea of the federal District court issued an order yesterday restraining F. F. Barker, said to be a representative of the war department, from taking from Chicago the thirty-six Igorrotes now on exhibition here until the court has determined the civil status of the visiting Filipinos.

COOKE HIDES HIS BROTHER

NEW CHARGE AGAINST EX-CLERK BY WITNESS BRADLEY.

He Tells of Conversation with Former Employer in Which He Was Told That George Cooke Had Been Taken "Out of the Way" in Fear He Might Give Detrimental Testimony—Sensational Point in Trial on Conspiracy Charge.

The charge was made in open court yesterday that John A. Cooke forced his brother, George W. Cooke, to leave Chicago for fear the latter might give testimony detrimental to the former Circuit court clerk in the case now on trial before Judge Ben M. Smith, in which Cooke is charged with conspiracy to defraud the county.

Charles H. Bradley, former chief clerk under Cooke, testified that in a conversation he held with Cooke in the office of John E. Seinwerth during the latter part of March or the first of April, Cooke told him this.

The statement brought Attorney James Hartnett, counsel for Cooke, to his feet with an objection, and it was sustained by Judge Smith. State's Attorney Healy, however, is confident of getting that conversation on record and will make another attempt today.

Identifies Fictitious Names.

Both sessions were consumed by the state in introducing more books, vouchers, and deposit slips by which it is attempting to prove the pay rolls in Cooke's office were systematically padded. Bradley identified each one of these and specified the names which were fictitious. None of the men whose names were thus used did any work in the office, he said, except George W. Cooke, and he would not be positive as to him.

Nine different months were considered and the total amount alleged to have been fraudulently secured by Cooke in that time was $5,194.

In some instances the amount which Bradley admitted he secured from the county treasurer on spurious warrants equaled the sum placed in the Chicago National bank by him on the same day to the credit of John A. Cooke's personal account.

Bradley's refusal to state whether the warrant drawn in favor of George W. Cooke was fraudulent led State's Attorney Healy to inquire how much work the defendant's brother did in the office.

"I don't think he worked there more than six months on and off during the entire period," replied the witness.

Carried on Pay Roll for Years.

"Do you know of any time when he was carried on the pay roll when he didn't work?"

"Yes; month after month and year after year."

"Did you ever talk to defendant about his brother?"

"Yes, in July or August, 1903. He said I could leave George's name off the pay roll because of the notoriety occasioned by an interview which John A. Cooke had given a newspaper reporter regarding his brother's propensity for drink and his worthlessness as a clerk."

"Did you ever have any other conversation with him?"

"Yes, in Seinwerth's office in the First National Bank building, in March or April of this year."

"What was said?"

"I object," interposed Attorney Hartnett, but Judge Smith ruled the witness should first answer the question.

"I met Cooke by appointment in Seinwerth's office, and when Seinwerth left the room I turned to Cooke and said I understood he had been out of town for some time. He replied he had, and I asked: 'Did you take George with you and get him out of the way?' Cooke replied: 'Yes, I did.'"

"By 'George' you meant the defendant's brother, and were so understood, is that not so?" inquired Mr. Healy.

The witness answered in the affirmative, and Attorney Hartnett then renewed his objection, which was sustained by Judge Smith.

REFUSES TO GIVE $158,000 TO PEORIA SCHOOL BOARD.

Tax Collector Contends Members of Board Remaining Since Ouster Are Illegal, So He Won't Turn Over Funds

Peoria, Ill., July 16.—Charging that the eight inspectors remaining since an order of ouster which unseated eight members is an illegal board, Tax Collector John White has refused to turn over the remaining $158,000 of school funds, thus embarrassing the board which has $88,000 of outstanding notes falling due. The remnant of the board in session tonight served notice on White that he must turn over the money or stand prosecution for the payment of a fine of $18,000 for withholding the funds.

ARMY MEN PITCH TENTS IN CHICAGO

Long "Hike" Puts but Two Regulars Out of Commission on Second Day.

MULE KICKS AT AN AUTO.

Animals Are Center of Interest to Children; Band Gives a Concert.

After their first day's heavy march, soldiers of the Twenty-seventh infantry swung into a pace yesterday that carried them from north Evanston to the foot of Chicago avenue before noon. The troops recovered rapidly from the previous "hike." While fifteen were obliged to drop back for repairs on the preceding day, it was not until the southern boundary of Lincoln park had been passed that two of the privates gave out from fatigue and rode the last half mile in the hospital wagon.

With a good start on their way to Indianapolis, the spirits of the men rose. Mounted officer and private alike found pleasure in the activity to which they are becoming accustomed.

"Of course they like it," said Col. W. L. Pitcher, the commanding officer. "There never was a man lived with true soldier blood in his veins who didn't have a hankering after activity."

"We can't play the real game," said a service veteran, "so we like to get as close to it as possible."

Commander Favorite with Men.

It is the attitude on the part of their commander that is largely responsible for the satisfaction the soldiers feel under circumstances that would put them in a state of chronic complaint under many an officer. Without descending from his position Col. Pitcher is one of them. He passes among them with a gruff word or two, he knows their troubles, he appreciates them, and, in a word, he controls them to such an extent that smilingly they do tasks that ordinarily would lead to surliness. This he has accomplished in the ten days he has been in command of the regiment.

Both of the men who gave out near the end of the day's "hike" were carrying the Mexican pack, which has become the object of profanity from the members of A and B companies.

"Nothing ails them but fatigue," said Surgeon Compton Wilson, "but the irritation produced by the sticks and straps of the pack put them in a mental condition where they are not fit to bear physical fatigue. It gets on their nerves without their knowing it."

New Burden Made Lighter.

A slight change for the better in connection with the new carryall was made in ordering the men to turn in the three days' rations they have been carrying. This consisted of two days' allowance of hard tack and corned beef, and an emergency ration of tinned condensed food that may be used as soup, may be fried, or eaten in its prepared state. The removal of these articles lessens the burden upon the men between three and four pounds, a difference to be appreciated. Several of the men went to the hospital last evening for repairs to the spots worn off by the sticks.

Camp was broken at Evanston before the suburb was awake, and it was only a few of the residents, in scanty apparel, who ventured forth from their doors to see the khaki clad men. Through Rogers park and Edgewater the spectators increased in number and in Lincoln park both sides of the roadway were crowded.

Army Mule Sees Auto; Kicks.

The sagacious army mule came into prominence during the day. The long eared brutes displayed a decided antipathy for automobiles, while they showed a clear liking for children. In the former exhibition, a brown animal with zebra stripes on his legs played the leading rôle. Private Markovitch was riding him, as an extra wagon hauler, beside the baggage train when a machine snorted disdainfully near his hind quarters. His reply was to plant two bright new shoes squarely on the varnished surface of the car, branding it with the "double horse shoe" mark. His rider, who acts also as his groom, had called him plain "Jack" until that time, but changed the name at once to "Jack the Giant Killer." He spent the rest of the day in commending his steed for his display of quick judgment.

"Nellie Bly," so called because of the suggestion of the rhyme, "Nellie Bly winks her eye," seen in the sedate and regular lowering of her left eyelid as a friend approaches, is a great, gaunt, white mule. She proved to be a favorite with the children who visited the camp. The wagon squad was kept busy introducing little girls to the object of their wonder.

Fort Brady Troops Joined.

The grounds at the foot of Chicago avenue, in Capt. Streeter's "district," did not prove as satisfactory as the Evanston fields, and the eight companies were scattered over it at some distances apart. Two companies of the Fourth regiment from Fort Brady had been on the ground for a day, and will join with the Twenty-seventh on its Indianapolisward march. The Twenty-eighth, from Fort Snelling, Minn., will put in an appearance somewhere along the line of march, although the exact point has not been ordered by the department commander.

North siders in great numbers gathered around the camp ground as soon as the regiment landed, so that sentries became necessary. They patrolled the paths around the small park, and only those who had real business to transact were allowed within the lines. The colonel and his staff took up their quarters at the west end of the park, and there received callers during the afternoon. Two distinguished visitors passed into the camp and out again before the soldiers discovered their identity, else there would have been a demonstration of some sort. They were Lieut. Gen. Henry C. Corbin and Brig. Gen. William H. Carter, commander of the department of the lakes, who will be in command of the encampment at Indianapolis. They came as friends of Col. Pitcher, and remained but a short time, departing without making any more than an informal inspection of the camp.

Regimental Band Concert Heard.

The soldiers were allowed unusual liberties in the afternoon, as their long march had made them tired—and thirsty. They remained in the camp during the evening, when the regimental band gave a concert, drawing one of the largest crowds that ever pushed into Streeterville. At tonight's camp at Yates avenue and Sixty-seventh street another concert will be given. This will compete with the widely advertised concerts of a large amusement park in the neighborhood, which it is expected will not result unfavorably for the soldier musicians.

As the regiment covers the ground laid out for it by the department officials, a mounted engineering officer, Lieut. E. V. D. Murphy, is charting out the route traveled. He estimates distances carefully, and at each turn in the road halts his horse long enough to figure out the angles and directions, which he records on a field chart. Upon his return to Fort Sheridan he will reproduce the map on a larger scale and it will be forwarded to headquarters of the northern division, including the departments of the lakes, Missouri, and Dakota, at St. Louis. It will be made a part of the general road map, showing routes in the division territory that are suitable for the transportation of troops.

TRAMP INVADES A HAMMOCK.

Resident of Evanston Calls on Police to Remove Slumbering Pilgrim from His Front Porch.

A weary wayfarer took possession of a hammock on the front porch of the residence of J. W. Currier, 986 Sheridan road, Evanston, yesterday afternoon, and Mr. Currier was forced to call on the police for aid. The stranger was in a drunken sleep, and Currier spent more than half an hour in belaboring the intruder's feet with a heavy stick before he telephoned for the police.

ON TRAIL OF CHECK FRAUD

BANKERS AND DETECTIVES EXPOSE WORK OF SWINDLER.

Several Aliases Used by Man Whose Identity Yet Has Not Been Learned—Department Stores and Merchants His Principal Victims—Uses Clergyman's Name in Operations at Denver—Goes Through Western States and Gets Money from Stores.

Chicago department stores and merchants throughout the country were warned yesterday to be on the lookout for operations of a clever bogus check worker, whose identity is unknown. The warning came from the American Bankers' association.

His method of operation, according to the Pinkerton Detective agency, is to present checks for from $20 to $30 in the office of the store, representing that he has not sufficient money to pay for his purchases.

If at a department store he generally represents that he wishes to buy a dress for his wife or daughter, stating she is in the woman's parlor.

The swindler gets his checks at various banks, where he manages to secure blocks of ordinary counter checks, his appearance in the bank being accounted for under some suitable pretext.

Illinois Firm's Name Signed.

During January he operated in St. Louis, Milwaukee, Wis., and Louisville under the name of A. C. Acton, his checks purporting to have been signed by S. R. Swanson & Bro., Galesburg, Ill., the checks being issued for amounts ranging from $12.75 to $18.75, he claiming to be traveling agent for this firm. He also passed some checks purporting to have been signed by Harris & Riggley in New Orleans.

During March and April he operated from Dallas, Tex., northwestward through Colorado, Montana, and Washington, receiving cash on worthless checks drawn to the order of H. M. Moore, purporting to have been signed by J. R. Mercer, and drawn on the Penn National bank of Reading. During this trip he passed checks in Tacoma and Seattle, and also operated in Oregon. At Denver he represented himself as a clergyman.

Operates in Grand Rapids.

He next appeared in Grand Rapids, where he operated under the name of W. M. Warde. These checks purport to have been signed by Hirth, Krause & Co. of Grand Rapids.

The swindler is described as 35 to 40 years of age, 5 feet 8 or 9 inches in height, 140 pounds in weight, slim build, medium dark hair mixed with gray, close cropped mustache, or maybe clean shaven. Generally dresses like a business man in plain dark clothes.

FORMER COED AT EVANSTON WEDS WHILE "CAMPING OUT."

Miss Grace Moore of Dixon, Ill., Clad in Outing Costume, Becomes the Bride of R. P. Shepard.

Miss Grace Moore of Dixon, Ill., a former student at Northwestern university, was secretly married yesterday to Robert P. Shepard at Momence, after eluding a number of the members of a camping party with whom they were on an outing. They are spending their honeymoon on a picturesque spot on the Kankakee river near Momence.

Late in the afternoon Shepard, attired in camping costume, drove to Momence, and after finding a minister returned to camp for his bride. She also was clad in outdoor attire, and the other members of the party did not learn of the marriage until several hours after the ceremony had been performed.

Miss Moore was a student in the college of liberal arts of Northwestern university at Evanston, but was not graduated, having left school a year ago. During her residence in Evanston she lived at 1827 Orrington avenue. Shepard visited her frequently at Evanston and the romance began under the oaks of the university campus. Emulating the Rev. Walter MacPherson, who recently was married on the lake shore near Wilmette, they will spend their entire honeymoon out of doors.

PRIMARY BALLOTS GIVE LORIMER AID

Candidate and Men on Ticket Get Advantage of Alphabetical Preference.

YATES IS READY TO START.

Opens Offices in La Salle Street to Book Speeches; Other Dates Fixed.

Sample ballots for the first general primary election to be held in Illinois—Aug. 4—are being prepared by the election commissioners, and the listing of candidates shows that so far as position on the ticket amounts to anything the advantage is all with the Lorimer county ticket and with Senator Cullom.

The Deneen candidates have been the victims of the alphabet which also has jumped on Richard Yates, who runs third in his class, following the "unknown"—William G. Webster.

Position on a primary ballot is not of as much importance as position in a horse race, but it may be recorded safely that if the politicians had anything to do with it there would go up a mighty objection from the majority faction in Chicago which finds all but one of its candidates given inferior places on the ballot. The law requires that the candidates be listed alphabetically, and for every office but Probate court clerk the Deneen candidates will follow those on the Lorimer ticket.

Position Affects Voting Strength.

The theory on which politicians object to having their candidates placed second or worse on a ballot is that a certain number of careless voters will take a ticket and mark the first names they come to for each office. It also has been proved in primary elections elsewhere that with a big field few candidates whose names began with letters further down the alphabet than E or F got a vote, except a few whose names began with X, Y, or Z, and therefore were at the bottom of the ticket.

This year's republican primary ticket carries no more than four candidates for any one state or county office, and therefore does not present a big field. In some of the senatorial districts there are a number of aspirants, but in no case enough to cause the confusion which would result if county commissioners, for instance, were to be nominated by primary vote.

Senator Cullom's Name First.

Senator Cullom heads the ticket and it is due to the fact that his name begins with C and not to his age, high position, or long continued public service that it does. Mr. Webster comes second and Yates is last in the senatorial class.

John Smulski, the organization candidate for state treasurer, trails along at the tail end of the candidates for this office. For county offices Charles Alling, Lorimer candidate for county judge, precedes Lewis Rinaker; for county treasurer, Charles Randall is ahead of John R. Thompson; for county clerk, Joseph Badenoch precedes Joseph Haas, and for superintendent of schools, J. Porter Adams leads A. F. Nightgale, Deneen.

Yates Gets Local Headquarters.

Richard Yates, who came here in the morning to start his Chicago campaign again, has a small office force quartered in the railroad and warehouse commission's office at 218 La Salle street and thus in another way acquires the trademark of the state administration for his candidacy. His booking agent, Charles Seinwerth, from the office of Superior Court Clerk Charles W. Vail, has been put in possession of these quarters.

A change in the dates for the former governor was made yesterday and he will be sent to the Thirty-second ward, 6922 Wentworth avenue, Thursday night instead of to the Sixth ward. He will speak in the latter ward Friday night at Oakland Music hall, Fortieth street and Cottage Grove avenue.

Congressman Lorimer's complete schedule for the week has been arranged as follows:

Tonight—Forty-second and Colorado avenues.
Tomorrow night—Twenty-second street and Ridgeway avenue.
Thursday night—Hamlin avenue and Douglas Park boulevard.
Friday night—Forty-second avenue and West Madison street.
Saturday night—Twenty-sixth street and Fortieth avenue.

Harrison Heads Bryan League.

The determination of Carter H. Harrison to stand in the van of the Bryan movement in Illinois was given official announcement during the day in the formation of the William J. Bryan League of Cook County, which has been given a charter by the state. The society has organized with the election of the following officers:

President—Carter H. Harrison.
Vice president—Edgar B. Tolman.
Secretary—John J. Sloan.
Treasurer—Oscar F. Mayer.
Executive committee—Carter H. Harrison, Edgar B. Tolman, John J. Sloan, Oscar F. Mayer, Henry B. Chamberlin, Peter Reinberg, and Bernard F. Mahoney.

The purpose of the league is to give organization to the enthusiastic but unsystematic rejoicing with which the local democracy is hailing everything connected with the Nebraskan's name.

It is not announced whether the league will work in harmony with or in opposition to the "hundred distinguished Illinois democrats" who are being gathered to descend upon New York and welcome Mr. Bryan. The means by which the league proposes to achieve its end include the opening of downtown headquarters for the propaganda and the establishment of branch offices in the different wards.

Jandus Files a Protest.

State Senator Cyril Jandus has protested to the election commissioners against the placing of J. O. Hruby's name on the primary ballot for the democratic nomination for state senator in his district, the Fifteenth, on the ground that his petition was filed too late.

Robert Redfield in the afternoon denied a report printed that he was not a candidate for the democratic nomination for county judge. He points out that a Bar association primary is to be held on all who have filed petitions for this office and he says his course in the democratic primary will depend largely upon the expression of the lawyers at the bar primary.

Simon Tuckhorn, proprietor of the Olympia and henchman of Kenna and Coughlin, was given his fourth dose of medicine in the morning by Justice Caverly, the Kenna and Coughlin candidate for Municipal court judge. Tuckhorn pleaded guilty to a charge of gambling and was fined $25.

FAVOR JEROME AND FOLK.

Georgia Legislators Indorse New Yorker for President After Hearing Brief Address by Him.

Atlanta, Ga., July 16.—The lower house of the Georgia legislature today passed a resolution favoring District Attorney William Travers Jerome of New York and Gov. Folk of Missouri for nomination on the democratic national ticket in 1908. The action was taken after Mr. Jerome, upon invitation by the legislators, had addressed them briefly on the relations between north and south.

PASSES CHILD LABOR BILL.

Georgia House Votes for Measure Identical with One Already Approved by Majority of Senate.

Atlanta, Ga., July 16.—By a vote of 125 to 2, the lower branch of the Georgia legislature today passed the so-called child labor bill. This bill is identical with the senate measure, which already has the approval of a majority of the upper house. The bill provides that no child under 10 years of age shall be employed in any factory or manufacturing establishment within the state.

DYNAMITE EXPLOSION KILLS 3; PANES 7 MILES AWAY BROKEN.

Terrific Accident in Works of Atlantic Company Near Ashland, Wis., Kills the Superintendent and Two Laborers

Ashland, Wis., July 16.—Just as twenty-five workmen were entering the works of the Atlantic Dynamite company to begin their day's work today the nitro-glycerin let go. Three were killed—J. L. Pierce, superintendent, and two laborers. Twenty were more or less hurt.

Although the accident occurred seven miles from Ashland, large plate glass windows were shattered in Ashland's main streets, dishes rattled, and lighter dwellings vibrated for fully a minute.

Of the twenty-five buildings of the plant not one escaped damage. The neutralizing plant, where the explosion occurred, was totally destroyed. The cause of the explosion has not been determined.

The fire broke out immediately, but was quickly extinguished.

Supt. Pierce, who came to Wisconsin to take charge of the company's plant, is well known as a chemist and powder maker.

WON'T TOUCH LITTLE KANAWHA

Federal Judge Refuses to Appoint a Receiver for Gould Property on Chicagoan's Complaint.

Cincinnati, O., July 16.—United States Judge Thompson refused today to assume charge of appointing a receiver for the Little Kanawha syndicate's property in West Virginia.

The motion for the appointment of a receiver was made by attorneys representing John S. Jones, a Chicago capitalist. Jones asked for a receiver for the property some months ago, when he sued George J. Gould, Joseph Ramsey, and William Guy, trustees of the syndicate, and the Little Kanawha syndicate. In that suit he declared that Ramsey and Guy had been running the syndicate's affairs to suit themselves and that they did not consult him or Gould.

In handing down his decision Judge Thompson said that in his opinion the trustees did not know of the granting of the injunction and added that there is no need of appointing a receiver, as Gould, Ramsey, and Guy are each personally able to pay whatever the courts decide to be Jones' interest in the property.

LORIMER CALLED HARM TO DISTRICT

Congressman and His Allies Denounced at Two Friestedt Meetings.

BITTER TALK ON BLOUNT.

He and the Others Alleged to Have Used Political Power for Personal Gain.

Sharp attacks on the record of Congressman Lorimer and on the conduct of his political allies, Fred M. Blount, John R. Walsh, and State Senator Homer K. Galpin were made last night at two meetings of Friestedt republicans held in the Sixth congressional district. In the Thirteenth ward the leaders and followers of the rebellion against Lorimer met at 1576 West Madison street and in the Twentieth ward a similar meeting was held at 586 Madison street.

Lorimer was held up to the scorn of all intelligent voters as a man who long ago ceased to represent his constituents honestly and fairly and became the legislative agent of special interests.

Blount was characterized as a political trickster who at last has been shown up before the community as involved in the violation of the national banking laws. At both meetings a strenuous appeal was made to the workers to get out and see that both Lorimer and Blount are shelved for good at the primaries on Aug. 4.

Friestedt States His Position.

Ex-Ald. Luther P. Friestedt, the opponent of Lorimer for the congressional nomination, spoke at both meetings, but he confined his remarks to a discussion of his own position and his aims.

At the Twentieth ward meeting T. Fred Laramie, secretary of the anti-Blount faction of the ward club, started the ball rolling with a heart to heart talk with the voters concerning their obligations to the congressman and his lieutenant. There were about 100 precinct captains and other ward workers in the hall, and the speech was enthusiastically received as something that all had thought but nobody had dared to say aloud.

"It is time for the voters of this ward to consider the position in which they have been placed by their present representative in congress and by his satellites," said Mr. Laramie. "Many evils have befallen this ward in recent years, but the greatest is that the men who have represented Lorimer in this locality have been men without scruple and known only by their motives of self-aggrandizement.

"This ward would be much better off today if it were not for the fact that Lorimer is represented here by a man whose sole ambition and function in life is fattening his own bank account through the use of his political influence, whose entire aim for many years has been the getting of city, county, state, and national funds into his own hands. He has bent all political resources and ends to his uses, and I don't believe he ever put a man in office or in the way of getting an office whom he did not absolutely control.

Day of Reckoning Comes.

"But this man of whom I speak—this man who represents Lorimer in this ward—has been found out at last. He has been shown up before the public, for today he stands charged with being involved in violations of the federal banking laws. He has been shown up as the associate of the man who is responsible chiefly for these violations of the law.

"Do you know the man to whom I allude? I think it is scarcely necessary for me to say that I refer to Fred M. Blount of this ward. Are you going to follow his political dictates any longer? It rests with you to say whether his power as the representative of Lorimer shall be continued or cut short. It is for you to get out and elect the delegates on Aug. 4 who will at last put Mr. Blount on the shelf to dry along with his hireling, Homer K. Galpin."

Tremendous cheering greeted this speech.

Coyne Called to Platform.

A little while later ex-Postmaster F. E. Coyne dropped into the meeting and was called upon for a speech. He started out by calling attention to the literature circulated by the Lorimer people attacking Friestedt for resigning from the city council.

"Why, these people who are responsible for this attack," said he, "are the ones who insisted most strenuously that Mr. Friestedt accept a renomination to the council with the understanding that he could resign in the second year in order to carry out previously arranged business ventures in Europe. He didn't want to run, but finally was persuaded to on those grounds.

"Mr. Friestedt's conduct throughout his aldermanic career is an argument in his favor. When he found that he could not give full attention to the interests of his constituents he resigned. He did just what Lorimer for the same reason ought to have done years ago. Any public official who cannot give his time fairly and honestly to the people he is supposed to represent ought to resign at once.

"It has been extremely difficult to elect Mr. Lorimer in the past, and the republicans of this ward ought to be tired of the load. In the Thirteenth ward I am sure Friestedt will carry every primary district except the one in which Lorimer's brother-in-law resides."

Mr. Coyne served notice that the Friestedt people are on the lookout for crooked work at the primaries.

"There won't be any voting of dead ones this time," he said. "They won't get the chance to vote ringers under the names of those who have died or moved out of the ward, because you are going to do your duty and see that these names are stricken from the poll lists."

Friestedt Speaks.

Mr. Friestedt explained his resignation from the council essentially as Mr. Coyne had presented the matter and then talked of his qualifications for congressman. As an instance of his interest in local problems before congress he cited his service on the ship canal commission, which has studied the problem of improving the Chicago river and sanitary canal.

"I have no animosity toward Mr. Lorimer," he said. "If I am nominated I shall expect all republicans to support me and if I am defeated Mr. Lorimer's lithograph can be hung in my front window the next day."

PUTS BLAME ON CONGRESSMEN.

Francis W. Parker Censures Mann and Lorimer for Attitude on Pure Food Legislation.

Francis W. Parker last night mildly censured Congressmen Mann and Lorimer at three meetings in the Sixth ward, at 16 Forty-third street, 158 Forty-third street, and Forty-third street and Evans avenue.

He said Lorimer was with the trusts. He also blamed him for the attitude he had taken during the agitation for more stringent regulations for the packers. He said neither Lorimer nor Congressman Mann were to be depended upon when it came to pure food legislation that would meet the wishes of consumers.

"Congressman Mann," said Mr. Parker, "is in the class mentioned the other day by Senator Platt, who are in politics for the business there is in it. He has always been with Lorimer and Jamieson, who also are in that class. Mann never has opposed Lorimer or Jamieson. He was with Lorimer when Lorimer opposed the president on legislation for wholesome meat."

Clyde W. Jones, candidate for state senator; W. T. Ap Madoc, who is running for representative; and John R. Thompson were among the speakers. All the meetings were well attended and enthusiastic.

BEATS UNCLE IN STREET.

JOHN P. LENEHAN RESENTS REPROACHES WITH BLOWS.

Physical Culture Politics Again Breaks Out in Thirteenth Ward—Employe in Criminal Court Clerk's Office Cuffs His Kinsman for Accusing Him of Lack of Family Affection—Assailant Prominent Worker for Blount-Lorimer Faction.

Physical culture politics came to the front in the Thirteenth ward again last night, this time involving a nephew in an assault on his uncle.

James J. Lenehan, 55 years old, was beaten by John P. Lenehan, a clerk in the Criminal court clerk's office, until the bystanders came to the rescue of the older man and pulled his nephew away from him.

The nephew was one of the principal witnesses in the Kopf murder trial.

John P. Lenehan is a son-in-law of David Clark, the republican committeeman from the ward and the leader of the Blount-Lorimer faction in republican politics in that district. James Lenehan, his uncle, was an employé in Sheriff Barrett's office and was discharged by Sheriff Pease when he was appointed to the office after Barrett's death.

Nephew Blamed by Uncle.

It was the loss of the position which caused the fight—or attack—the older Lenehan not doing enough in defense to make it much of a contest. The uncle blamed his nephew and Clark for the discharge, alleging that they could have protected him in his employment if they had not wished to have him ousted in order that they might persuade Pease to appoint a Blount republican in his place.

Uncle and nephew met in front of E. E. Foster's drug store, 1369 West Madison street, in the evening, and the former upbraided the latter with a charge of showing a spirit not in keeping with family affection. After a few remarks the nephew made it apparent that there were other displays, not in keeping with family affection, which he felt himself able to make.

No Complaint to Police.

The two came to blows, and the nephew, with age, weight, and general huskiness in his favor, cuffed the uncle until the bystanders prevailed on him to desist.

As no complaint was made to the police at the time the nephew was not arrested.

John P. Lenehan is one of the workers in the Blount organization, now being attacked by the Coyne following in support of Luther P. Friestedt for the congressional nomination in the Sixth district. The ward has not regained its normal condition politically since the killing of John V. Kopf in a club election contest between the two factions.

When the uncle was seen late at night he was busy massaging a discolored eye with a piece of ice behind the prescription case in Kline's drug store at Sacramento avenue and West Madison street. There were several bruises on his forehead. He frankly admitted the fight was caused by an interchange of remarks touching upon the reason for the loss of his job.

"John as much as intimated that Clark would fix me up after I lost my job," said James J. Lenehan. "Clark didn't do anything about it. When I began talking about 'the father-in-law's' political aspirations, John came for me. He is younger than I am, but he has a 'trimming' coming to him and his uncle is the boy to see that he gets it."

BACHELORS AND OLD MAIDS DARE ROOSEVELT TO DEBATE.

President Invited to Take Affirmative Side of Race Suicide Question at Convention in Forest City, Ia.

Forest City, Ia., July 16.—[Special.]—Clinton Merrick, chairman and moving spirit behind the state convention of bachelors and old maids here July 24 to 26, has written President Roosevelt to ask him to attend the convention and defend his advocacy of the big family in the race suicide debate that will take place.

At this convention it is proposed to nominate a full state ticket on the strict race suicide platform, contending that the growth of population has weakened the many in their struggle against the trusts.

In his letter to the president, Merrick says: "We would be pleased to have you debate in favor of the question, 'Resolved, that race suicide is caused by too few births.' We bachelors and maids will take the opposite side—viz.: 'That race suicide is caused by too many births and that degeneration is caused thereby.' And we will allow the affirmative two-thirds of the time.

"'Dear Teddy,' our society analyzes that chapter of the bible where it reads, 'Multiply and replenish the earth,' to mean that we should care intelligently for the human beings and their offspring. So the question arises, 'How many children can the common laborer afford to support at $1 a day?' which, I believe, is about the average wage for unskilled labor."

Merrick concedes that if the president will attend, "we may be obliged to vote that you are a bachelor and old maid smasher," but he declares they will be hard to convince.

BATTLESHIP NEBRASKA TRIED.

Is Sent Over Course Off Seattle, Wash., and Develops Great Speed—Two More Tests Coming.

Seattle, Wash., July 16.—The battleship Nebraska, under direction of the government trial board, today went over the course off Vashon island fourteen times. The vessel developed great speed between the stake flags. All conditions were favorable for the trial. The contract with the Moran Bros. company calls for a speed of 19 knots. The vessel next will receive an endurance test and a sea test. The Nebraska reached a speed of 19.51 knots, which has been equaled only by the Georgia.

Cruiser Milwaukee Given Test.

San Francisco, Cal., July 16.—The trial trip of the cruiser Milwaukee, which has been completed at the Union Iron works, was held today in San Francisco bay. The weather was so foggy it was decided inadvisable to take the vessel through the Golden Gate. The cruiser Milwaukee will cost the government about $1,500,000. It is stipulated in the contract that the vessel must attain a speed of twenty-two knots.

Prepare for Mimic War.

Rockport, Mass., July 16.—Headed by Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans on the flagship Maine, with the battleship Missouri close behind, the North Atlantic squadron today began preparation for the naval war maneuvers. One of the social features of the fleet's stay will be a banquet planned by the members of the north shore summer colony on July 20. Admiral Dewey, Rear Admiral Evans, with fifty of the line officers, and Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, will be the guests of honor.

AUTO LAMP BLOWS LEG OFF.

St. Louis Chauffeur Experiments with a New Light and an Explosion Follows.

St. Louis, Mo., July 16.—[Special.]—In an explosion of an automobile lamp tonight the right leg of Charles Borghoff, 779 Aubert avenue, a chauffeur, was torn completely off. A piece of the lamp was thrown two blocks. Borghoff was experimenting with a new motor car light. As he struck a match and held it to the lamp the explosion occurred. One piece was hurled against Borghoff's leg above the knee, severing it as cleanly as with a surgeon's knife.

BISHOP SPALDING RECOVERING.

Peoria Prelate Able to Walk Around in Milwaukee Sanitarium After Paralytic Attack.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 16.—[Special.]—Bishop Spalding of Peoria, who some months ago suffered a stroke of paralysis, is a patient at Sacred Heart sanitarium. It was stated there tonight that the prelate is gradually improving and able to be around. His left side is partly paralyzed.

VAIL INDORSED AS SMILING CHARLEY

Neighbors and Friends Assemble at Banquet and Declare Confidence.

GOV. DENEEN IS PRESENT.

Latter Says Present Court Clerk Is Only One to Give Full Time to Office.

Charles W. Vail, clerk of the Superior court, was christened "Smiling Charley" before 500 of his friends in the hall at 6318 Yale avenue last night and Gov. Charles S. Deneen, who was a guest, gave his approval. The meeting, with the banquet which preceded it, was given by the regular republican organization of the Thirty-second ward to friends of Mr. Vail to testify the regard in which the Superior court clerk is held by his neighbors.

Charges of irregularities in Mr. Vail's office have been preferred by the citizens' committee. The shortage was at first declared to be $1,400, but this has now been reduced to $269 and, while saying he did not get the money, the clerk has announced his willingness to pay that sum. His friends received him royally and again and again declared their belief in his honesty and integrity.

Among the men there, besides Gov. Deneen, were Roy O. West, chairman of the republican state committee; Gen. E. C. Young, who presided; Drainage Trustee Henry F. Eidemann, Ald. A. J. Fisher, William J. Roberts, and John Burns, County Attorney Lewis, George W. Patton, Congressman W. W. Wilson, and E. R. Eldridge of Livingston county.

Smiling Charley Song.

The song which caught the fancy of the audience was given first on the program by the Oakland quartet, and to the tune of "Tammany" they sang the following refrain:

Charley Vail, Charley Vail,
When your term of office is o'er,
We'll elect you four years more,
Smiling Charley, Smiling Charley,
Charley Vail.

The Rev. Martin Luther, former pastor of the Englewood Presbyterian church, who came from Neosho, Wis., to attend the meeting, spoke at length upon the good qualities of Mr. Vail.

Although he took occasion to praise Mr. Vail as a hard and faithful worker, Mr. West dwelt much upon the adequacy of the primary law, and he said that even with its imperfections it is still "the best primary law in existence in any state in this union."

"I knew Charley Vail when he was a little curly headed boy," declared Mr. Patton, and as Mr. Vail's pate is now shiny every one laughed. "I was going to say," continued the speaker, "there was not a dishonest hair on that head, but I'll substitute any bone in his body, and I know that $269 is a mistake."

Cheers for Gov. Deneen.

When Gov. Deneen rose every man in the hall stood up and for nearly five minutes waved handkerchiefs and hats, cheering all the time.

"I appreciate this cordial greeting more than words can tell," said the governor. "I had no adequate conception that it would be such a meeting or I would have come prepared. I met Mr. Vail in 1892 and have been getting better acquainted with him ever since. And I can say this, that he started out without influence and has worked his way to the top, and, moreover, he has always kept his word. There has never been need for written pledges when Charley Vail gave his promise.

"Four or five years ago he was offered the unanimous nomination to congress, but he knew his capabilities and refused it. When he was placed on the ticket as Superior clerk he was elected by the greatest majority ever polled in this district—7,000, I think it was. After election he frequently talked to me about what he was going to do in that office. He said he was going to devote his time to it, and he has done this. To my knowledge, he is the first clerk in Cook county to do this.

Rebuke to Detractors.

"Some time ago several men sought to blacken his character and this large meeting is a rebuke they justly deserve. No one charges him with taking a cent, but they say he was negligent. How about the paid auditors of the county who examined his books and passed on the system?

"I am glad to come here and testify for Mr. Vail as I have a keen sympathy for him. I wasn't in office as prosecuting attorney two days before they were after me and I was subjected to every abuse and charged with everything save murder. I defied them then and I defy them now. The day of the election 43,000 papers containing charges against me were circulated. They didn't have type big enough so they whittled some out of cord wood and to make matters worse spilled a barrel of red ink over these.

"The same crowd was opposed to the new primary law and is against it now. But, while many distinguished men do not believe in it, those who are close to the people do. I'll stake my political future on the workings of that law."

Mr. Vail followed and received a greeting similar to Gov. Deneen's and in a few words thanked his friends.

TAGGART WINS FIRST ROUND.

Indiana Court Refuses to Name Receiver or Grant Inspection—State Will Appeal.

Paoli, Ind., July 16.—Thomas Taggart, chairman of the democratic national committee and manager of the hotel at French Lick Springs, won the first round today in the legal battle begun by the state to suppress gambling at the resort.

Judge Buskirk sustained the third section of the demurrer of Taggart and the other defendants, which means that a receiver will not be appointed for the hotel. Attorney General Miller gave notice of an appeal to the Indiana Supreme court.

The court held that under the law before such relief could be sought as is asked for by the state there should have been an examination by the auditor of the affairs and business of the companies.

CONFER ON FIELD STORE.

OFFICIALS AND FIRE RISK MEN WILL MAKE INSPECTION.

City's Legal Representative Promises Fight in Courts if Arrangements Are Not Made to Compromise the Dispute Caused by Building Law Infractions—Literal Observance of Measure Denounced—Changes Made in Other State Street Houses.

City officials and fire insurance experts will inspect the retail store of Marshall Field & Co. this morning with a view to judging the equity of Building Commissioner Bartzen's demand that the structure be made to conform to the new building ordinances.

The acceptance of the invitation to visit the store was the outcome of a conference yesterday afternoon, in which Commissioner Bartzen, Assistant Corporation Counsel Hornstein, and James Simpson, general manager of the company, participated. These men, with a representative of the fire department and several underwriters, will view the premises.

Throughout the conference Manager Simpson insisted that he was earnestly desirous of carrying out the provisions of the law for the safey of life in public buildings. But he declared the Field building is safer as it is than if it conformed to the letter of the ordinance.

City Will Make Fight.

"Simpson is afraid to let this dispute be fought out in the courts," said Attorney Hornstein at the close of the conference. "He knows that the evidence will show the store has been a violator of the law ten years. He says he should not be compelled to conform to the new ordinance.

"Unless the matter is settled out of court after the visit to the store tomorrow I shall file at once my answer to Mr. Simpson's petition for an order enjoining Commissioner Bartzen from interfering. I will call the attention of the court to the fact that the twelfth floor of the State street store has only two stairway exits, each three and one-half feet wide and two twenty-two inch fire escapes, and that 500 persons are employed on this floor. I will ask the court if he considers that safe."

Mr. Simpson declined to discuss his attitude during the conference. The attempt to enforce the building laws in the Feld stores has had a good effect on all the big State street firms, city officials say.

Other Stores Start Changes.

"For years it was impossible to enforce the building laws in the State street stores," said Mr. Hornstein. "They would refuse to comply, pointing out the fact that the Field stores were full of violations. Within an hour after Bartzen closed Field's last week the other stores were tumbling over themselves to get in line."

PUTS BARTZEN IN BAD LIGHT.

Landlord Shows Permit, Signed by the Building Commissioner, Authorizing Him to Violate the Law.

Ferdinand Brogni, who is having trouble with the building department over his houses at 214 Forquer street, has come to his own defense with specifications signed and approved April 18 last by Commissioner Bartzen, Deputy Commissioner Hughes, and Health Commissioner Whalen, giving him permission to do just what the city authorities now say he shall not do.

Brogni recently was ordered to stop work on his houses because he had not conformed to the law. Investigation was made yesterday by Mrs. Brittain, of Hull house, of the City Homes association, which made the first complaint against putting the two houses on Brogni's lot without the required twenty feet between. She found that Brogni possessed permits given by Commissioner Bartzen. Now the whole case is in a muddle.

"I don't know what to do about it," said Mrs. Brittain last night. "I think the city ought to set the buildings right and pay for the expense, for the department of buildings certainly is at fault. This man is poor and he is unable to go ahead with his work."

FIGHT IN ALLIS-CHALMERS CO.

Opposition to Proposed Bond Issue May Lead to Forming of Stockholders' Committee.

New York, July 16.—[Special.]—Opposition that may lead to the formation of a stockholders committee and legal proceedings developed today at the meeting of the stockholders of the Allis-Chalmers company called to ratify the proposed bond issue of $15,000,000. Against the opposition of several large minority stockholders the plan was adopted by a close vote. The management needed 121,125 shares of preferred stock to put the plan through, and had 123,000.

The management was represented by Judge E. H. Gary, E. D. Adams, Mark T. Cox, Charles Allis, and Cornelius Vanderbilt. The leaders in the opposition were Frederick H. Kelsey, James Welton, F. H. Smyth, James A. Trowbridge, and C. E. Kissam. Kelsey presented the following resolution as soon as the meeting was called to order:

Resolved, That any and all action relative to the proposed bond issue of the Allis-Chalmers company's property is hereby postponed until the next annual meeting; that the president appoint a committee of five from the preferred stockholders for the purpose of inquiring into the matter of the proposed bond issue, two of the members to be selected from those not identified with the promotion or the past or present management, which committee shall be chosen to fairly represent the various interests of the company, and shall report at the annual meeting in September.

This resolution was barely defeated.

CHICAGO WOMAN HEIR TO ACRES

Mrs. Pearl Clause Learns She Is One of Six Entitled to Large Tract of Kentucky Mine Land.

Logansport, Ind., July 16.—[Special.]—Mrs. Pearl Clause of Chicago learned tonight that she is one of six heirs to 4,000 acres of mining property in Floyd county, Kentucky. The estate was left the Lunsford heirs by their great-grandfather, but they had married and moved away before the grandfather came into the property and knew nothing of it until a mining company anxious to purchase the land traced three of the heirs to this city. Mrs. Jennie Ludders, one of the local heirs, immediately wrote her sister, telling her of the fortune, and asking her to come at once to this city, where three of the heirs live. The fourth will go to Kentucky to claim the property.

Oil Magnate Offers $250,000 for Building if Others Give Equal Amount.

SHOOTS TWO; KILLS SELF.

New Yorker Wounds Girl and Her Mother and Commits Suicide with a Knife.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE. New York, July 16.

Rockefeller Offers $250,000 for Frisco Y. M. C. A.

H. J. McCoy, secretary of the San Francisco Y. M. C. A., announced here today that he received an offer from John D. Rockefeller to give $250,000 toward rebuilding the San Francisco Y. M. C. A. buildings provided an equal amount was secured from others. Mr. McCoy says he already has obtained $105,000 of the needed amount. Fifty thousand dollars of this amount was subscribed by Morris K Jesup.

Shoots Girl and Her Mother; Kills Self.

Adam Scheuig, 30 years old, employed in a butcher's shop in East One Hundred and Forty-ninth street, today shot and fatally wounded Miss Louise Karcher, daughter of his employer, seriously wounded the girl's mother, and committed suicide by cutting his throat with a butcher knife. The supposed motive for the shooting was the rejection of Scheuig's attentions.

Attempts Suicide; Is Saved After Struggle.

John Klubnik, machinist and inventor, threw himself from the Willis avenue bridge over the Harlem river this evening in an attempt to commit suicide. He was rescued after a long struggle, which was watched by a large crowd, and taken to the Lincoln hospital. He will recover. Klubnik was in an unhappy mood, because, after working for months to complete an invention, he discovered the same device had been patented before in London.

Hugh Sheridan and Joseph Anderson, two special officers for the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, put out in a row boat and picked Klubnik up after he had dived out of their reach several times.

Two Persons Claim Body of Woman Suicide.

The body of the woman who threw herself into the East river from the pier at Twenty-second street last Saturday, after carefully disrobing, was found and brought to shore by William Walker, employé of the dock department. Policemen had the body taken to the morgue, where, not long afterward, two identifications were made.

James McKeon of 410 East Twenty-second street said he was sure the woman was Mrs. Kate Parsons, and a man named Patrick Reilly, who said he lived at 630 East Twelfth street, said the woman was his sister Mary, but did not know where she had lived. Investigation seemed to prove that he did not know where he lived himself.

Leo Stevens, Charles Levee, and James Hare, who made a balloon ascension from Clifton, Staten island, today, narrowly escaped drowning when the balloon was wrecked by coming in contact with the mast of a sloop in Flushing bay. A hole was ripped in the bag, which collapsed, leaving the three men clinging to the rigging, from which they descended to the deck of the sloop.

BLAME FOR SALISBURY WRECK.

Coroner's Jury Declares Twenty-seven Americans Lost Lives Because Train Was Running Too Fast.

SALISBURY, England, July 16.—The coroner's inquest into the cause of the wreck of the Plymouth steamer express on July 1, whereby twenty-seven lives were lost, resulted in a verdict today that the derailment of the train was due to the high speed at which it was running, contrary to the company's orders.

The jury declined to allow the verdict to be recorded as one of accidental death, saying it considered that a certain amount of blame attached to the company as well as to the engine driver.

The guard of the express, Harrison, testified that the illfated train was running at the rate of at least fifty miles an hour through Salisbury, whereas the proper speed is thirty to forty miles. The company issued instructions in February regarding the speed at this particular point, but the instructions were subsequently canceled.

Counsel for the London and Southwestern railroad announced that the railway accepted full responsibility for the accident and all the legal consequences resulting from it.

There is no improvement in the condition of Robert S. Critchell of Chicago, who was seriously injured in the wreck.

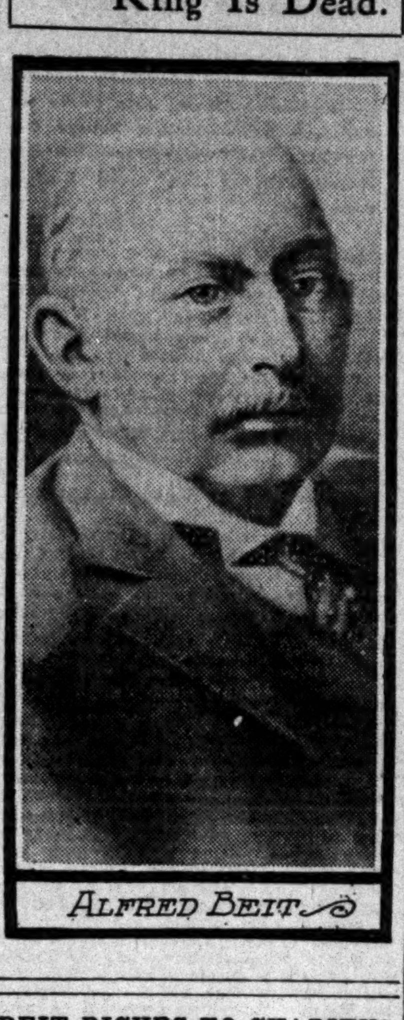
African Diamond King Is Dead.



ALFRED BEIT

BEIT RICHES TO CHARITY?

GREAT INTEREST SHOWN IN WILL OF DIAMOND KING.

Magnate Who Dies in London Is Supposed to Have Left Estate of $35,000,000 to $50,000,000—South Africa Millionaire Friend and Business Associate of Cecil Rhodes—Worked Together in Development and Consolidation of Mines.

LONDON, July 16.—Alfred Beit, the world's greatest diamond merchant, who died here today, left a fortune of between $35,000,000 and $50,000,000, and it is believed most of it will go to vast educational, charitable, or national interests.

Beit, who was 53 years old, never married. Like Cecil Rhodes—his best friend—he was a woman hater. He has no direct heirs to his estate.

Cecil Rhodes and Alfred Beit were almost inseparable companions, and Rhodes exercised a wonderful influence over him.

Just as Cecil Rhodes startled the world by devising millions for English, American, and German scholarships at Oxford, it is believed Alfred Beit's will contains provisions for great public benefactions.

Mr. Beit was seldom seen in public and was hardly known outside of the circles of scientific finance. He controlled the output and price of the world's diamond industry, had a great distaste for notoriety, was popular with his inmates, and was usually referred to as the "Little Man."

Pioneer in Diamond Rush.

Thirty-eight years ago the first diamond was picked up in South Africa and there was a rush to the country from Germany as well as from England. A brisk trade sprang up and large orders for stores and machiney of all kinds reached the Hamburg merchants. One of the firms affected by this sudden growth of commerce was the shipping firm to which young Beit belonged, and as at that time the prospect in South Africa was not a certain one and credit orders were risky, a crash being possible at any moment, the firm decided to send out a representative to investigate and report. Mr. Beit was 22 at the time, but he had established himself so well in the good graces of the heads of the business that he was chosen for the task and set sail for Cape Town.

Preceded Rhodes to South Africa.

Going to Africa in those days was not such an easy thing as it is today. Not an inch of the 11,000 miles of railway now in use had been laid and the only way of traveling in Africa was by bullock team. In this way Mr. Beit journeyed some 300 or 400 miles, from Cape Town to Kimberley, where he found a city of mad men. Gold seekers from every part of the civilized world were there, attracted by the stories of fortunes made by a stroke of the pick.

Though the late Cecil Rhodes is inseparably associated with the history of South Africa, Mr. Beit was in that country several years before him and it was he who first realized the danger of putting too many diamonds on the market at once. He saw that diamonds might easily become so cheap as to be profitless to mine and he began to carry out his idea of controlling the market by buying up scattered claims. The result was that when Mr. Rhodes appeared on the scene Mr. Beit was already well established as a sort of a diamond king in his own domain.

The great house of Werner, Beit & Co. is the leading house in the Kimberley diamond trade, and Mr. Beit also was associated with many other gigantic concerns. One of his firms holds 2,000,000 acres of the most valuable agricultural and mineral land in the Transvaal, and Mr. Beit was himself the largest individual owner of mines and land in the south African republic. He was a director of the British South African company, the United Concessions, and the Exploration, all of them most valuable properties.

Never Played to Public.

Beit never played to the public. He would now and then amaze the trade—as when he cut down a 482½ carat pure white diamond to 228½ carats and placed it in the window of a Paris shop as a "sample of our goods."

Mr. Beit was the poorest looking rich man on earth. His clothes were so plain as to be almost shabby. He never discussed his trade with outsiders, but beneath his mild and apparently diffident exterior was a capacity for business unsurpassed by that of any man.

Some time ago Mr. Beit put up a new house in Park lane. This dwelling is one of the most substantial and most costly in Europe, but it is not overtasteful in its architecture. When it was built people were in dispute about its architectural style.

Mr. Beit's affection for the late Cecil Rhodes was wonderful. Like the "uncrowned king of Africa," Beit was known as a woman hater.

In his life there was but one romance. He was several times reported to be engaged to Mrs. Adolph Ladenberg, a beautiful New York woman. Always this rumor was denied, but, it is said, his heart was given to her.

As an indication of his nature, he recently gave a ball in Johannesburg, and every woman present was presented with a pure white diamond weighing a carat.

Mr. Beit was accused of financing the Jameson raid.

The markets were not affected by Mr. Beit's death, as for a long time it had been recognized that he was in delicate health.

HONDURAS READY TO HEAR REASON.

Central American Republic to Arbitrate if the Others Will.

U. S. CRUISER IS AT HAND.

Marblehead Ready to Take the Commissioners Out to Sea to Confer.

Washington, D. C., July 16.—Honduras is willing to disarm and submit its grievances to arbitration as soon as Guatemala and Salvador agree to do likewise. A dispatch announcing this was received today by the state department from Philip H. Brown, American chargé, who is looking after the interests of the United States in Honduras and Guatemala during the absence of Leslie Combs, American minister to those countries, who was on his way to the United States when the war broke out, and has not yet been able to get back to his post at Guatemala city.

Secretary Taft and Acting Secretary Bacon of the state department conferred with President Roosevelt today at Oyster Bay. Secretary Bacon returned to Washington tonight with instructions to hasten negotiations so that the situation may be quieted if possible before the Pan-American meeting in Rio Janeiro.

Mr. Merry, the American minister to Salvador, advised the department today that he is still negotiating with the Salvadoran authorities to get them to agree to disarm and meet Guatemalan envoys in Washington or elsewhere to arrange for a settlement of the difficulties.

Marblehead at Scene of Trouble.

The navy department was informed this afternoon by cablegram from Commander Mulligan of the arrival of his ship, the Marblehead, at La Libertad from Panama, which port he left last Friday night.

Before sailing Commander Mulligan was instructed by the navy department to report to Minister Combs at La Libertad, which is a port near San Salvador, the capital of Salvador.

In the absence of Combs, Brown will communicate with Commander Mulligan, and that officer will place his ship at the disposal of the American legation, so that Brown will be in a position to carry out the instructions cabled him today from Washington to proffer to the governments of Salvador and Guatemala the use of this American warship as a place of meeting for the peace commissioners.

Conference Seems Likely.

It is believed the Marblehead will take on the Salvadoran commissioners at La Libertad and then proceed to the nearest Guatemalan port, San José, where the agents of that government will board the ship, which will then go to sea beyond the three mile limit until the conferences are over.

Gives Details of Fight.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]
[Copyright: 1906: By the New York Herald.]

City of Mexico, July 16.—Advices from Salvador today state that a tacit armistice exists with the two armies facing each other, resting on their arms on the Salvadoran border and awaiting developments in the mediation offered by the United States and Mexico. The dispatch declared Salvador victorious in every battle, and gives the following losses in the fighting up to date:

Salvador—Dead, 700; Guatemala—Dead, 2,800; Salvador—Wounded, about 1,100; Guatemala—Wounded, 3,900.

The messages says Gen. Regalado was leading his troops a mile in advance of the main body of the Salvadoran army, with fifty picked men, when he was killed. First a shell killed his horse under him, and five minutes later he was shot through an arm. He continued at the head of his men until the whole band was annihilated by the terrific fire.

The Salvadorans declare that their main army then engaged the enemy, drove the Guatemalan army back and recovered Regalado's body.

They say they counted 600 dead Guatemalan soldiers on the battlefield.

New York, July 16.—The following telegram has been received from the president of the republic of Honduras:

To Start Counter Rebellion.

PANAMA, July 16.—President Cabrera's plan seems to be to concentrate his efforts on the Honduras side so as to enable Gen. Rivas, a Salvadoran, who has taken part with Guatemala, to enter eastern Salvador, where he enjoys much prestige, and start a revolution.

THREE AMERICANS IN PRISON; SENTENCED ON ISLE OF PINES.

Nineteen Year Old Girl and Two Men Convicted of Building Toy Telegraph Line for Their Own Use.

HAVANA, July 16.—American residents of the Isle of Pines are excited over the imprisonment in the common jail at Neuva Gerona of Miss Millie Brown, 19 years of age; L. C. Giltner, postmaster of the town of Columbia, and William Augustine, all Americans.

The three, for their own instruction and amusement, had constructed a toy telegraph line 1,800 feet long, strung from Giltner's store to the residences of the other two. They were arrested without warning, charged with the violation of an old military order prohibiting other than government telegraph lines, tried by a newly appointed judge, and sentenced jointly to pay $500 fine or to a joint term of imprisonment of 100 days.

All refused to submit to the payment of the fine and were taken to jail to serve 33 days each. The jail has no accommodations for female prisoners.

The Cuban government has no report of the incident, which is reported by Americans who have arrived here from the Isle of Pines.

WARSHIP FLEEING MALARIA.

Cruiser Columbia Sails from Panama for Boston So More than Half of Marines Can Recover.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

SAN JUAN, P. R., July 16.—The United States cruiser Columbia sailed today for Boston. It has on board 300 marines from Panama, where they were stationed during the emergency arising from the elections. Of this number 165 are suffering from malaria contracted in Panama. Nineteen are in a serious condition. It originally was planned to establish a hospital camp at San Juan, but Naval Surgeon Stokes, realizing that five days' quarantine of a warship is necessary, recommended to the navy department that the time might better be spent in voyaging north, where the climate and other conditions would be more efficacious than here. The department approved the recommendation and issued orders for the Columbia to proceed to Boston.

Insubordination in Famous Fortress in Heart of Czar's Capital, Almost Opposite His Winter Palace, Creates Consternation in Ranks of the Autocracy—Cossacks so Rebellious That Whole Battalions of Them Are Disbanded and Sent Home.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 16.—The mutiny of an entire regiment of troops in the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul, the celebrated citadel and prison, in the heart of the capital and across the river from the winter palace, created consternation in official circles. Every effort is being made to prevent the particulars from becoming public.

It is only known that two soldiers refused to obey the orders of an officer. When he threatened them with arrest they raised a cry of alarm. Almost immediately the entire regiment to which the two men belonged came to their support.

It is not known what the situation is inside the fortress, although it is known a special military court is investigating the mutiny.

On top of this comes the admission that the war department has been compelled to disband several battalions of Cossacks because of their refusal to obey orders.

Assassin's Error Proved.

Additional details of the assassination of Gen. Kozloff of the headquarters' staff, in the park at Peterhof on Saturday, prove beyond question that the murderer believed he was killing Gen. Trepoff.

The tragedy occurred at 9:20 in the evening, in the presence of several thousand people, who were listening to the music in the English park, below the Grand château, adjoining the park of Alexander palace, where the imperial family and Gen. Trepoff reside.

A young man, dressed in the clothes of a workman, seeing Gen. Kozloff, who resembles Gen. Trepoff, gazed long and earnestly at the general's face and then took a photograph from his pocket to compare it with Kozloff's features, as if to make sure of his identity. The man then drew a pistol and fired four shots pointblank at Kozloff, who fell mortally wounded and died on the spot.

The assassin started to flee, but Prince Andromiroff seized him and turned him over to the police, who thronged the park, the crowd shouting "Lynch him!" but the prisoner was conducted safely to police headquarters. When he was searched Trepoff's photograph was found in the assassin's pocket, leaving no doubt regarding the identity of the person he intended to kill.

Workmen and Police Clash.

Sunday night witnessed the usual collision between workmen and police and gendarmes in the industrial quarters of the capital. The most serious affair occurred on the Schlusselburg road, where a crowd of 3,000 persons attacked a steam street car which ran over a drunken soldier. The crowd stopped the car with obstacles placed across the track with the intention of lynching the engineer and conductor, but finally were dissuaded by the pacific counsels of a workman.

TELLS OF TORTURE OF JEWS.

Washington Resident Receives a Letter Describing Massacre of Family at Bialystok.

Washington, D. C., July 16.—[Special.]—Additional details of massacres of Jews at Bialystok, Russia, are contained in a letter which has been received by Charles W. Pafflov, a resident of Washington, who for years lived in the Russian city.

"The letter I received," said Mr. Pafflov, "is devoted principally to a description of the assassination of the Einstein family. The head of the family was at one time teacher of my correspondent's children, a man whom I knew well, and who was universally respected and esteemed for his intelligence, probity, and industry.

"A mob, encouraged by the police, attacked his humble dwelling and seized him. While some held him, others nailed him down, driving spikes through his hands and feet and muscular parts of his arms and legs. Then they gouged out his eyes. They did not stop at this. The son was subjected to the same cruelties. These atrocities were perpetrated in the presence of a wife and mother, who was scourged to death after the atrocious murder of her husband and son. The pretext for the massacre was that a Jew had thrown a bomb into a religious procession.

"The moving cause which induces the government to massacre Jews is not far to seek—it is an open secret. These massacres are intended to create diversion, to turn public attention from the misrule of autocracy and to direct the universal feeling of unrest against Jews, and thus relieve the bureaucracy."

Alleged Forger Arrested.

Salt Lake City, Utah, July 16.—A. M. Potter was arrested today at the request of the Detroit (Mich.) authorities, who charge him with cashing a forged check for $2,000 on the Dime Savings bank. Potter is said to be the son of a Colorado banker. The detectives declare that he has operated on the Pacific coast as Richard L. Adams and A. B. Baker.

powder is such and such sum a pound. We are prepared to allow you a reasonable profit, but you must put your price below that which you have fixed in the past."

The navy department claims to have pursued this policy since the erection of the powder factory at Indian Head. Bids are not invited, which is a course only allowed in the purchase of ordnance material, but the department and manufacturers reach an agreement and the contracts are then placed. This seems to be a sensible mode of procedure, because no competition exists between the various companies which comprise the trust, and to call for bids merely would be to lend a touch of humor to the situation.

Shows Cost of Product.

Mr. Waddell estimated the trust made powder at a cost between 30 and 35 cents a pound. The powder is composed of cotton saturated in nitric and sulphuric acids, which is then washed, forming gun cotton. The cost of this operation is from 20 to 22 cents a pound. The gun cotton is then gelatinized and this extra cost, added to salaries and expenses, increases the price to the trust between 30 and 35 cents a pound.

Rear Admiral Mason, chief of the navy bureau of ordnance, thought this estimate too low. Experience at Indian Head demonstrated the powder cost to be 60 cents a pound. This price includes not only the cost of the ingredients of powder but the expenses of its manufacture, the interest on the capital invested, insurance, etc. It does not take into account the occasional rejection of large lots of powder which fall beneath the standard fixed nor the salaries of the naval officers who are detailed to supervise the operations of the factory.

Giving due weight to these considerations, Admiral Mason said the navy department had come to the conclusion that 70 cents a pound, the government to furnish the alcohol, which costs approximately 5 cents, was a fair price to pay.

Best Product Is Demanded.

"It would be bad policy," he declared, "in connection with a matter so essentially military as this to accept anything but the best powder that can be made, and the only way to get this is to set the highest possible standard and to hold manufacturers up to it by rejecting without hesitation every pound which fails to meet the requirements. The greatest advantage of having a government plant is we can follow up the cost of manufacture, and then, by allowing what seems a fair margin of profit for the outside manufacturer, we can agree on a price which will justify him in using the most improved methods at every point."

The navy factory manufactures 20 per cent of the powder required for the naval service. The amount the army factory will turn out will be only a small proportion of that required by the army, "but," to quote Gen. Crozier, "it will be enough for the present to enable the war department to exercise an appreciable control over the supply the military requires."

POETICAL MARINE IS EXILED.

Author of Rhyme Criticising Officer for Having "Always in the Way" Played at Funeral "Transferred."

Washington, D. C., July 16.—[Special.]—Private "Al" Price of the marine corps, who arraigned in scathing rhyme an officer who ordered the playing of "Always in the Way" at the funeral of a brother marine recently in the Philippines, is to pay a heavy penalty for his poetizing. According to information received at the navy department he has been detached from service at the Marine hospital at Manila and sent to Zamboanga, on the island of Mindanao, for service. Zamboanga is known in army and navy circles as the "jumping off place." To be sent there means exile. Private Price will have ample time in his new station to write as many poems as he may wish, but he will not have the same opportunity to get them published as he had at Manila.

T. W. HARVEY JR. IS ACCUSED BY WIFE

She Tells Judge Husband Came Home Intoxicated Several Times a Week.

ASKS FOR A DIVORCE.

Desperate Efforts at Secrecy Made by Counsel and Abetted by Court Clerk.

A divorce from Turlington W. Harvey Jr. is sought by Mrs. Mary Dwight Harvey, who says her husband made it a practice to go to their home in Lake Forest intoxicated several times a week.

Mrs. Harvey filed suit last Friday, but the obliging clerk of the Superior court kept the papers out of sight. Yesterday the plaintiff appeared before Judge Chytraus and told her story. Immediately after the hearing her attorney, Frank H. Scott, of Scott, Lord, Bancroft & Stephens, took the files in the suit from the courtroom, promising, it is said, to send them to the clerk's office in the Fort Dearborn building. He did not return them and at his office last night it was said he had left town for the east.

Notwithstanding all these violations of law and court rules in the effort to get a secret divorce, the story came out when Mrs. Harvey gave her testimony, though she spoke in tones so low as to be barely audible.

Mr. Harvey Not in Court.

She appeared in court, wearing a light summer gown. Mr. Harvey was not present. He had filed an answer to the bill and was represented in court by Attorneys Rush and Holden. No testimony was offered in his behalf, and only Mrs. Harvey gave testimony in her behalf.

She was asked when she and Mr. Harvey were married and replied that the ceremony was performed ten years ago at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Dwight, in Lake Forest. She told the court that after their marriage she and Mr. Harvey went to Lake Forest, where they have since lived.

Begins Drinking to Excess.

"Several years ago," said she, "Turlington began to drink to excess. Several times a week he would return home in an intoxicated condition, and finally our relations became so unbearable that we decided to separate."

The witness then related that Mr. Harvey left their Lake Forest home and went to Racine, Wis., where he is now in business.

Mrs. Harvey seemed much relieved when Judge Chytraus told her he did not wish to ask any further questions.

Judge Chytraus took the matter under advisement, but it is expected that within a few days he will sign a decree which has been prepared by Mrs. Harvey's lawyers. The decree will be based on charges of drunkenness, and will stipulate that neither Mr. nor Mrs. Harvey may remarry in this state within one year.

The defendant is the son of T. W. Harvey, who formerly was in the real estate business, and for whom the town of Harvey, Ill., was named. He was a member of the Onwentsia club and of the Lake Forest Open Air Horse Show association. The Harveys have three children, whose custody is asked by the mother.

Divorces Husband Who Beat Her.

Mrs. Louisa W. Borland, 960 Douglas boulevard, obtained a divorce and $5,000 alimony in Judge Frost's court in the afternoon from Dr. Leonard C. Borland. The decree was entered on grounds of cruelty, after Mrs. Borland had testified to several instances of abuse at the hands of the physician.

Mrs. Borland told the court she and Dr. Borland were married Oct. 27, 1897, and that they lived together until several months ago.

"One day last July the doctor and I had some words and he struck me in the face," said she.

They have one child, Viola Louise Borland, for whose support the decree provides $3,000. It also is stipulated that the defendant is to pay his wife's passage to Germany, her former home.

Suit Follows Elopement.

An elopement to Hammond, Ind., less than two months ago ended in the Circuit court, where a bill for annulment of the marriage was filed by Rose Liebowitz. She recites that she and Nathan Liebowitz went from her home in Chicago to Hammond May 23 last, and were married by Justice McMahon. Some weeks after the ceremony she returned to the home of her parents because of alleged acts of cruelty on the part of her husband. It is declared that she was not 18 years old when the marriage was performed.

Divorce was asked in the Superior court by Mrs. Priscilla Austin, who accuses Harry E. Austin of having transferred his affections to Miss Elizabeth Brett. The Austins were married at Ottawa, Ill., Oct. 16, 1901, and separated last Sunday.

Savory Canine Sausage Brings 15 Cents Per Pound—Horseflesh Also in Favor.

HAMBURG, July 16.—The growing scarcity of beef and mutton have given a fillip to the price of horseflesh, and the demand for dogflesh is increasing. The former has risen 10 pfennigs per pound, now varying from 9 to 11 cents. Dogflesh sells for about the same price, but dog sausage, which is more savory than horse, fetches 15 cents per pound.

Hair All Came Out and He Suffered Very Much—Under Doctor Three Months and No Better—Permanently Cured at Expense of $2.

CUTICURA REMEDIES WORK WONDERS

Mr. A. C. Barnett, proprietor of a general store in Avard, Oklahoma, tells in the following grateful letter how Cuticura cured him and his son of terrible eczemas:

"My little boy had eczema. His head was one solid sore, all over his scalp; his hair all came out, and he suffered very much. I had a physician treat him, but at the end of three months he was no better. I remembered that the Cuticura Remedies had cured me, and after giving him two bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, according to directions, and using Cuticura Soap and Ointment on him daily, his eczema left him, his hair grew again, and neither he nor myself have had any eczema since.

As to his own case, Mr. Barnett says: "I suffered with eczema, a burning, itching, breaking out on my face for more than a year. I took treatment from physicians for several months, which did no good. I was then advised to try Cuticura. I took six bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, and used Cuticura Soap and Ointment freely every day. I began to improve soon after starting to use them, and when I had taken the six bottles of the Resolvent my face had become clear, I had good color, and all eruptions had left me.

"We use the Cuticura Soap and Ointment in our family now for general use, and it keeps our skin soft and healthy. I cheerfully recommend the Cuticura Remedies for all cases of eczema. (signed) A. C. Barnett, Avard, Oklahoma, Mar. 30, 1905."

NATIONALS BEAT QUAKERS AGAIN.

Like the Entire Series, Game Is Hard Fought, the Score 3 to 1.

VISITORS ABUSE UMPIRE.

Dooin Expelled from the Game; Superior Fielding Determines Result.

Murphy's Spuds completed the wrecking of Philadelphia's pennant hopes yesterday, threw the third harpoon into the ribs of Effingham Willie, and sent him and his hustling band away with three heart breaking defeats and a tie—the third defeat as hard as the others. The score was 3 to 1.

Chicago made its three on two hits, one a bunt—getting only three altogether off Duggleby's grand pitching, while the Quakers could make but one run off a triple, two ripping doubles, and two singles, and that only by brilliant baserunning, coupled with a close decision at the plate.

The Quakers made three errors, and each error gave Chicago a run, while the Spuds, playing close and fact behind Pfiester's excellent twirling, made up in the field what they lacked at bat.

Case for President Pulliam.

Effingham Willie's crowd took the defeat much to heart, as they did the other two, and during their roaring and expostulating—some of which language reached the grand stand and disgusted the spectators almost as much as Sunday's did—Dooin was chased out of the game and off the field by Umpire Johnstone. Part of the language poultice that Dooin applied to Johnstone reached the upper boxes of the stand, and those who heard it did not blame Johnstone a bit.

At the start the Quakers threatened to annihilate Pfiester. Indeed, they tagged his eccentrics hard to the finish—except where they struck out, as eight of them did. In the first Gleason tripled with one out and Titus ripped a beauty inside of Chance, who dived sideways, speared the ball while falling, and managed to hold Gleason at third while his throw to Evers retired Titus. Courtney hit another hot one at the manager, who got it and threw his man out at first.

First Run from a Wild throw.

Slagle started off for Chicago with a hit, advanced to second on Sheckard's sacrifice, and went to third when Dooin made a wide throw to catch him napping, and scored on Schulte's hot hit through Duggleby. Slagle hesitated about starting home and Doolin had plenty of time to get him at the plate after he recovered the ball, but he threw to first. Doolin cracked out a double in the second, went to third while Moran and Pfiester were chasing Lush's weak roller, and, as Moran made the throw to Chance, Doolin dashed for home and got the decision, although the chances are he was out a foot.

Bad Breaks of Quakers.

The game tightened up then until the fourth, when luck, combined with the breaks of the Quakers, gave the Spuds two more runs. Sheckard started with a hard drive straight at the tough luck Duggleby, who fielded it brilliantly and made a perfect throw to Lush, the pitcher who was subbing at first, vice Bransfield, and Lush muffed the ball. Schulte followed with a safe bunt, Dooin and Duggleby getting mixed on which should handle the ball. Chance rapped a hot one to Lush, who, with a double play before him, fumbled an instant and then got only Chance. Steinfeldt flied to Thomas, and Sheckard scored. By the way, he left third two steps before the ball was caught, but Johnstone didn't see it. Then Doolin picked up Tinker's bounder and tried to throw it through Lush, succeeding excellently, and Schulte scored.

Cleanly Fought at Finish.

From that time on they fought it out on even terms, each team getting one hit during the remainder of the game, and Pfiester steadying and dazzling the visitors with his speed. When they did hit they hit fiercely, but their aim was bad, and the third defeat descended upon them. Score:

Notes of the Nationals' Game.

New York comes today to open a series of four games. The Giants will spring their new slugging outfield and make one more bid for the pennant.

Chance met with an odd accident in the first inning. He was running so fast to first to beat a throw that his feet got tangled and he shot out into right field on his face. He escaped uninjured.

Donovan got the hot end of conditions in the fifth. Dooin was at bat with two strikes called when he plastered Johnstone with English. Donovan, who replaced him, got only one swipe at the ball and struck out.

Titus showed up Chance and Pfiester in the third inning. He hit an easy bounder to Chance and ran it out hard. Chance could have beaten him to the base easily but waited for Pfiester to cover the bag, and Pfiester did not, so Titus reached the base in safety.

Courtney was robbed of a base hit in a strange way in the sixth. He slashed a hot one straight at Pfiester, who had no time to dodge. The ball struck the pitcher squarely on the shin, rolled a foot or two, and Pfiester recovered it in time to throw his man out. Pfiester's leg was injured, but he stuck to his task.

The Quakers stopped the Spuds on the bases in the seventh. To start Chance was hit by a pitched ball, making no effort to dodge. A moment later he was nipped off first and run to death. Tinker drew a pass, stole second because Doolin muffed the throw, and then was caught five feet off second by Duggleby's quick throw to Doolin.

GIANTS MAKE A FAST FINISH.

McGraw's Men Again Defeat St. Louis Cardinals by Ninth Inning Rally—Score Is Three to One.

Cincinnati, 7; Brooklyn, 6.

Cincinnati, O., July 16.—Today's game was a seesaw affair, Brooklyn tying the score in the first half of the ninth only to be beaten out in the last half. Brooklyn made a triple play in the seventh inning, after the bases had been filled. Kelley tapped to Alperman, who threw Barry out at second. The ball then was passed to first, retiring Kelley, and on to the plate, where Huggins was caught, after having run from second base. One run scored on the play. Score:

NO CHANCE TO BEAT US—M'GRAW

Giants Come to Chicago from St. Louis Boasting a Sure Pennant Holding Team.

St. Louis, Mo., July 16.—[Special.]—John T. Brush declared before leaving here today that he had paid $10,000 bonus to the Robisons in the trade of Mertes and Marshall for Shannon and Shay. In effect, this means he gave the veteran left fielder and a coming catcher, with $10,000 cold cash, for Shannon alone. Brush regards Shannon as a star and is highly pleased over the acquisition both of this man and Seymour, for whom he states he also gave $10,000 cash. Another deal involving the same amount of money is about to be consummated, according to McGraw and Brush. It is understood they are after a crack pitcher.

Said McGraw tonight: "With this pitcher I am after the reorganization of my team will be complete. I read a lot in the papers about me getting rid of Browne. I don't see any chance for any club getting him away from me. I regard Browne as one of the most valuable men in the business. Seymour and Shannon are whirlwind players, and if St. Louis is tickled over the deal just closed, why so are we. With Mike Donlin back in the game Aug. 1, we will be stronger than we have been at any time this year. Matthewson is rounding into form again and Ames' arm is well. Am I going to win that flag? They haven't a chance to take it away from me."

President Brush said: "We can't afford to do any experimenting. We have been fighting all season under adverse conditions, and when it was put up to us to strengthen the team in order to cinch the pennant money was no consideration. McCloskey is a shrewd fellow and a great manager, and is going to have a crackerjack team next season at the rate he is going."

Quick Wedding for Ball Player.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 16.—[Special.]—Getting married against time is the latest oddity of this age of speed mania. The man to introduce it is Shortstop Albert Bridwell of the Boston baseball team. Bridwell is to be married tomorrow morning. It is to be literally a wedding "on the fly." There was no game here today between Boston and Pittsburg and "Brid" at once started for Ohio. He plans to drop off at Portsmouth, O., tomorrow, and get married between trains, taking another train with his bride to reach Cincinnati on time for tomorrow's game there.

Local Games Scheduled.

Games listed at local baseball parks for next Sunday are as follows: Marquettes at South Chicago, Normals and Olivers at new Washington ball park, Spaldings at West End park, Mutuals at Artesian park, Chicago Edgars at Callahan's park, Leland Giants and Athletics at Auburn park, Oak Leas at Lawndale, White Rocks at Rogers Park, Laporte at Gunther park, Illinois Giants and Pullmans at Ashland park.

Manager Collins Disabled.

Boston, Mass., July 16.—[Special.]—This statement was issued by the Boston American league club today: "Manager Collins was at the Huntington avenue grounds this morning and practiced sufficiently to find that his knee was not strong enough for work. He is now being treated by Dr. W. A. Brooks. Meanwhile Outfielder Stahl will be in charge of the club. Manager Collins' relations to the club remain unchanged."

Saginaw in New League.

Detroit, Mich., July 16.—President Jackson of the Southern Michigan Baseball league tonight announced his organization had taken in Saginaw. Clarence Jessup will be the playing manager. The new club is strengthened by half a dozen players from the Marion club of the former Interstate league.

H. J. TWEEDIE MEMORIAL CUP.

Trophy Commemorative of Late Golfer to Be Competed For at Glen View Links.

In connection with the annual open tournament of the Glen View club, which will start tomorrow, there will be play for the Herbert J. Tweedie Memorial cup, donated by President Phelps B. Hoyt of the Glen View club.

Mr. Tweedie's untimely death leaves a widow with eight children, only one of which is her own, with no means of support. Prominent golfers have expressed the desire that a fund should be raised by the golfers, and a committee consisting of Phelps B. Hoyt, David R. Forgan, and Edward P. Martin has taken charge of the matter.

The memorial cup presented by Mr. Hoyt will be played for on Friday at eighteen holes, medal play handicap. The round can be played either in the morning or afternoon. A voluntary entrance fee of not less than $1 is required, and the entire proceeds will be devoted to the benefit fund. Subscriptions are solicited not only from those who take part in the event but from all other golfers of Chicago. These can be sent to Mr. Forgan, who has consented to act as treasurer, or to the other members of the committee.

Entries for the Glen View cup will close tonight with Harry B. Clow at the clubhouse. Play in the thirty-six hole qualifying round for the Glen View, Directors', and Lear cups will start tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

Central Illinois Golf Tourney.

Galesburg, Ill., July 16.—[Special.]—The Central Illinois gold tournament with Champaign, Decatur, Quincy, Peoria, Bloomington, Jacksonville, Springfield, and Galesburg represented, opens here tomorrow.

Egan Plays in Vermont.

Manchester, Vt., July 16.—[Special.]—H. Chandler Egan, at his first appearance on the Ekwanok links here today, made the thirty-six holes in 75—76—151, equaling the record of Alverse K. White of Boston made last year.

An eighteen hole novelty event for women is carded at the Calumet club for this afternoon.

Today is open day for members of the Women's Western Golf association at Midlothian. The event is a medal play handicap.

Members of the Chicago club will compete on Saturday for the Deering cup at eighteen holes medal play. Entries will close on Friday at the clubhouse.

The annual open tournament of the Rock Island Arsenal Golf club will be held on Aug. 13 to 15. Entries must be made to George W. Burr, Rock Island Arsenal, Illinois.

On Coach Courtney's Case.

Ithaca, N. Y., July 16.—[Special.]—J. L. Senior, graduate manager of athletics at Cornell, who is alleged to be the cause of Coach Courtney's desire to leave Ithaca, said today: "I shall request the Cornell athletic council to revise thoroughly my conduct and determine what these alleged differences between Mr. Courtney and myself are. I am ignorant of them. The investigation, however, probably will not be held until fall. I then shall insist upon a published report. I also shall insist that both Mr. Courtney and myself attend the meetings jointly.

VICTORY FOR SOX IN TENTH INNING.

Defeat Highlanders and Secure Even Break on Series; Score Is 7 to 4.

WHITE RELIEVES OWEN.

Clever Working of Hit and Run Play in Extra Round Gives Comiskey's Men Game.

New York, July 16.—[Special.]—Chicago's White Stockings defeated the Highlanders in the final game of the series today, but it took ten innings of hard playing to do it. The score was 7 to 4 and the victory gave Comiskey's men an even break on the series.

The hit and run play caught the New Yorks off their balance in the tenth inning and was followed by two hits and an outfield fly, which won for the aggressive visitors. George Davis and "Jiggs" Donahue transacted the hit and run business and that pair all but beat New York by themselves. Davis played a great batting and fielding game. Donohue took a leaf out of Chase's book and gave an admirable imitation of the sort of game that the latter so often plays. That is the highest compliment that can be paid to the exhibition given by the agile "Jiggs."

New York really lost the game in the seventh. The Highlanders were two runs ahead when this round began. There was one out when Doc Newton's base on balls put his fellow "doc," White, on first. Hahn laid down a safe bunt and Jones hit a grounder to Williams. Right there came the play that lost the game. Conroy did not cover second and the chance to force Hahn was gone. Chase had gone over after the grounder, too, and Newton did not cover first. Jones was safe and the bases filled and Isbell's hit brought in two runs and tied the score. It would have been only one run had the infield been awake and no necessity for that extra inning.

Owen Knocked Out of Box.

Owen was batted out of the box in the third inning and White went in. The local hitsmiths could not get to him. Cumulative hitting finally sent Newton into retirement. He was effective for half the game, but was bumped boisterously in the second half.

What scoring New York did was due mostly to Conroy. He doubled in the first inning and scored on Laporte's double. Keeler walked in the third inning and Chase singled. On a throw to third to head off Keeler Chase lit out for second, but was caught between bases. But he dodged past Donohue and returned in safety to first. Keeler and Chase then trooped in ahead of Conroy when the latter slugged one of Owen's slants over Isbell's head for a home run.

Davis singled in the second inning and was forced by Donohue. Rohe singled to right, sending Donohue to third. Keeler then introduced a play by which a throw to the pitcher entices the batter into trying for second base. Keeler returned the ball to Chase. Rohe bit at the bait and broke for second, but the throw was a bit wide and Rohe was safe. This play was on Sullivan's fly to right on which Donohue scored. Singles by Davis, Donohue, and Rohe gave Chicago a run in the sixth.

Victory in Tenth.

Davis rammed a liner to left in the tenth. He broke for second, and drew Conroy over, and Donohue poked a single squarely through the aperture. Delehanty returned the ball to third, and Laporte was hurt in a collision with Davis. Donohue sneaked to second on the throw to third. Chesbro then relieved Newton. Rohe made a scratch hit in front of the plate, and Davis beat Chesbro's toss to Kleinow. Sullivan peeled off a torrid smash to Chesbro. The burly boxman knocked the ball down, but could not grab it in time to prevent Donohue scoring. Tannehill's fly to Hoffman was good for one more run. That was enough. Score:

VANENNA LEADER IN RACE.

Cameron's Yacht Has Good Margin on Fleet in Contest to Mackinac Island.

Vanenna, flying the colors of the Chicago Yacht club, was leading the other yachts in the race to Mackinac island by a good margin as the boats neared the finish of the long cruise, according to reports received from North Manitou island last night. Vanenna passed North Manitou at 12:40 noon well in advance of the other yachts. The Toledo representative, Hussar II., was second, and the schooner Mistral third. The sloop Vencedor passed Manitou at 2:30, far behind its rival, and Juanita, Hawthorne, and Neva, in the order named, followed an hour later.

Vanenna did not gain the lead until after Muskegon was passed. At this point Mistral was in front. Vanadis passed Sleeping Bear Point with Juanita, Vencedor, and Hawthorne following in this order.

Vanenna at this time was six miles to the good of the fleet, and gained rapidly from then on to North Manitou island.

ATLANTIC STAKE WON BY J. C. GORE

Miller Outrides Hennessey on Royal Breeze in the Brighton Feature.

GARNISH GETS HANDICAP.

Agile Makes a Game Run at the Finish Too Late to Overtake Rival.

New York, July 16.—[Special.]—The Brighton Beach track was in fine shape today and 12,000 persons attended the races. The Atlantic stakes, for 2 year olds, was captured by the Newcastle stable's recently acquired J. C. Core. Miller had the mount and he clearly outrode J. E. Hennessey in a driving finish, the favorite beating Royal Breeze by three parts of a length in 1:07 1-5. James R. Keene's Yorkist was four lengths back.

Garnish, the second choice, made all the pace in the handicap at a mile and a sixteenth. He was tiring at the end, but Koerner got him home three parts of a length in front of the rapidly closing Agile, who had three lengths over Orly II., the favorite, the latter beating Keene's Belgravia a head.

Al Stoke's Kassil, the favorite, had an easy time winning the steeplechase. He left the others when Terry decided to cut loose and romped home fifteen lengths in front of Yama Christy.

George J. Long's Arcite, favorite in the third race, was pinched off on the backstretch just as he was going to the front and Troxler had to pull up short. Arimo led until well into the stretch, where Cochran put up a weak ride, and George S. Davis, coming from behind, beat him a length.

James R. Keene's Suffrage, the hottest favorite of the day, won the last race, for maiden mares and fillies. She had difficulty in getting to the front, but at the head of the stretch she had a commanding lead. Then she began to stop and it was only by a few inches that she took the race from Tipping, a 40 to 1 shot.

AUTO TOUR IS GROWING.

SEVENTY-TWO MACHINES LEAVE SARATOGA ON THE GLIDDEN.

Number of Participants for Long Distance Trip Has Increased Instead of Decreased—Many Join Party for Pleasure Trip—Broken Bridge Delays All the Competitors—Officials Announced for the Local Endurance Test.

Elizabethtown, N. Y., July 16.—[Special.]—The third annual tour of the American Automobile association, which includes the Glidden contest, grows as it goes. It started out today with more cars than started from Buffalo. Sixty-nine started from Buffalo. On Saturday sixty-one started from Utica and went to Saratoga. Today seventy-two started from Saratoga.

The difference was made up by a number who entered as participants on a pleasure tour.

From Saratoga the route led to Elizabethtown, ninety-four miles, through the glories of the great north woods. The roads generally were good, and every one enjoyed the scenery and began to declare it was a pleasure tour after all. Then, the latter part of the trip, they began to find places where cars were ditched or broken, and said it was a real contest.

Encounter Broken Bridge.

Incidentally the tour ran up against a piece of the United States army, which caused every one to travel seven miles out of the way. The army men comprised the Fifth infantry regiment from Plattsburgh, under command of Col. C. D. Cowles, who were marching 200 miles to Albany. They had a camp pitched six miles north of South Scroon, and wagons carrying the camp baggage had broken a bridge a few miles north of camp. All the regiment that marched had to travel seven miles out of their way to get to camp, and all automobiles had to make a detour of seven miles to get to Elizabethtown. In consequence the checking is all out of gear tonight. No one arrived on time, but the committee of the contest decided to allow all an hour and a quarter for the extra mileage, which let in a whole lot with a clean score. It seems now that if a few more changes are made by the committee all cars will finish will a clean score.

Baggage Car Ditched.

The accidents of the day were both sensational and picturesque. The confetti car of Walter White, which lays the trail, first broke a wheel. Later it was ditched. The baggage wagon now is in the same ditch, where the bank crumbled beneath the weight of the motor cars, and it did not get here tonight.

The car of S. S. Gorham, secretary of the A. A. A., broke its oiling mechanism and had to quit. The car of J. W. Morrison of Boston, carrying Mrs. Morrison and her daughter, Miss Sullivan, broke a wheel sixty-five miles out. There also were several minor mishaps to cars.

OFFICIALS FOR AUTO TEST RACE.

F. C. Donald to Referee Endurance Contest Over Elgin-Aurora Course Next Week.

Officials for the first annual reliability test of the Chicago Automobile Trade association and the Chicago Automobile club, which will be run over the Elgin-Aurora course Thursday, July 26, were selected last night as follows: Referee, F. C. Donald, Chicago Automobile club; starter, Charles P. Root; judges, J. W. Hayden, K. Franklin Peterson, R. W. Spangler, G. G. Greenburg, and W. H. Arthur; timers, David Beecroft, Charles W. Mead, Percy P. Platt, Dr. C. S. Chapin, and Ludwig Wolf; chief of checkers, Richard Bacon; control committee: Elgin, L. B. Garrison and H. Wood; Aurora, Frank Anderson, L. H. Brunemeyer, and W. J. Reed.

Several changes were made in the rules governing the contest. The clause requiring an owner to be on his own car was changed to read: "The entrant shall be the owner of car." Clause 23 was changed so that penalizations for motor stops shall be made only outside controls, or for traffic interference which will permit of starting from any gear the contestant desires. Another change was to order that observers must occupy a seat beside the driver.

It was decided also to ask the trade to close the automobile stores on the day of the test.

WAIDNER WINS FROM BYFORD.

Young Kenwood Player Defeated Only After a Hard Struggle—Tennis at Parkside.

After a brilliant four set match L. Harry Waidner defeated the young Kenwood man, Heath Byford, in the challenge round of the Illinois state championship at the Aztec club yesterday, 4—6, 6—3, 6—1, 6—4. As a result of this match Waidner gains permanent possession of the "challenge" cup, having already won two legs on it.

In doubles Waidner and Peters beat McKeever and Beard, 6—3, 3—6, 6—4, 6—4.

Byford started in well, and although he lost the first two games, he captured the next five by the cleverest kind of work and led at 5—2. Here Waidner braced and took two games, but was unable to make it a deuce, losing the set, 6—4.

In the second set Byford kept up his pace and led at 2—1, but Waidner braced and took the set, 6—3.

The third set was Waidner's all the way, the chief reason for Waidner's easy win in this set being Byford's wildness. The fourth and final set went to Waidner chiefly through Byford's misplays, for, although they were fairly even on placed balls and aces, Byford put fourteen out of court and eight into the net. On placed shots Byford scored 11 to Waidner's 7.

Byford again showed his nerve in this final set, for after Waidner had gained a lead of 5—2 Byford captured two games by pretty places and smashes. Throughout the match twelve deuce games were played, many of them being unusually long. Byford's chief weakness was in his serving, for he made nine double faults to Waidner's three.

The features of the match in doubles were the remarkable returns at times of Charles Peters, the "Circus Solly" of the tennis world. There seemed to be no position in which Peters could not return the ball, and much laughter and applause was brought out by his returns. The second set went to McKeever and Beard mainly through their clever placing. In this set four deuce games were played and McKeever and Beard scored 42 aces and 24 places to 33 and 14 for Waidner and Peters.

The preliminary and first rounds of the Wanderers club's open tournament at Parkside were disposed of yesterday. In doubles the surprise came when Cock of the Wanderers club and Carr of the University of Chicago defeated Hayes and Blatherwick, the Iowa state champions. The match between Edwin Ashcraft and Cheney was hard fought, the first set taking twenty-two games. Summaries:

Singles, preliminary round—Kellogg beat Carr, 6—3, 6—4; Klaner beat Robertson, 6—3, 6—3; Smullen beat Wood, 7—5, 6—4; Ashcraft beat Cheney, 12—10, 6—4; Burford beat Allan, 6—1, 6—0; Peters beat Belford, 6—2, 6—0; Hayes beat Winans, 6—1, 6—2; Elmslie beat Wilkens, 6—3, 6—2.

Singles, first round—Bailey beat Kellogg, 6—1, 6—4; Blatherwick beat Acret, 6—0, 6—2; Klaner beat Wolf, 6—1, 6—2; French beat Lynch, 6—8, 6—4, 7—5; Poppin beat Ritchie, 7—5, 6—2; Dunscombe beat Smullen, 16—14, 6—3; Hayes beat Elmslie, 6—2, 6—2; Hardin beat Vernon, 8—6, 3—6, 8—6.

Doubles, first round—Cock and Carr beat Hayes and Blatherwick, 1—6, 6—3, 6—4; Bond and Darrow beat Beck and Clark, 6—3, 6—3; Burford and Kellogg beat Clare and Bergfeld, 3—6, 6—4, 6—3; Perce and Wilkens beat Vernon and Davenport, 3—6, 6—1, 7—5.

NATIONAL TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Official Program Provides for Western Championship at Chicago on July 21.

Boston, Mass., July 16.—The program of the national championships under the auspices of the United States National Lawn Tennis association was announced tonight. The championship in doubles will be contested in two sections, the first at Chicago July 21 and the second at Longwood July 23. No player will be allowed to enter both tournaments. The winners at Chicago will play the winners at Longwood, at Newport probably on Aug. 21, and the winners of this last match will be called on to play Holcombe Ward and Beals C. Wright for the championship at Newport, probably on Aug. 22.

The singles tournament will be held at Newport Aug. 21 and following days, and the winner of this will be called on to play Beals C. Wright for the championship.

The winners of the several interscholastic singles tournaments will play also at Newport for the championship about the same time.

Marksmen at Rockford.

Rockford, Ill., July 16.—Many prominent trap shooters participated in the two days' tournament which closed here today. W. D. Stanard of Chicago was high professional gun yesterday with a score of 217 out of 230, and Dr. Herbert, Poplar Grove, Ill., was high amateur gun with 207. F. B. Barkley of Chicago, professional, today had 216 out of 225, and T. J. Malana, Rockford, was high amateur with 201. Alex. Vance, Capron, Ill., was second high amateur with 200. J. F. Graham, Long Lake, Ill., won the diamond badge, a fifty target event.

BERGER SPRINGS A BIG SURPRISE

Californian Gives Jack O'Brien a Hard Battle at Philadelphia.

BOTH MEN ARE BEATEN UP

Advantage for Veteran at Finish, if Any at All, Is Considered Slight.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 16.—Sam Berger, the California ex-amateur heavyweight, tonight gave Philadelphia Jack O'Brien the hardest six round battle of his career.

Notwithstanding O'Brien continually sent his left to the chin and wind, Berger came back and forced the fighting in every round.

O'Brien had all the advantage in the opening round and landed almost at will. His footwork seemed to dazzle Berger, but as the fight progressed the Californian improved.

In the second round Berger opened up a deep gash over O'Brien's left eye and the Philadelphian had Berger bleeding from the nose. Both men were covered with blood as they went to their corners.

The third round was one of the fastest ever witnessed in this city between heavyweights. O'Brien was forced to use all his cunning to avoid Berger's rushes and the latter again opened up O'Brien's damaged eye with a vicious right. Just at the close of the round O'Brien's short arm jolt to Berger's jaw made the latter's knees knock together. Both men were tired when they went to their corners.

The fourth round was almost a repetition of the third. It was give and take from the time the men faced each other until the gong sounded. O'Brien did the greater part of the leading in this round, as in the previous ones, but his blows did not have the force of Berger's.

Berger had the Philadelphian decidedly worried in the two closing rounds. When O'Brien led he invariably would jump in the air and swing his left arm around Berger's neck, the evident intention being to tire his heavy opponent.

When the fight ended both men were covered with blood and the referee's shirt was crimson from his efforts to separate them. When they rushed to the clinch it was several seconds before the referee could make them break clean.

The men entered the ring in perfect condition, and as they had agreed to fight at catchweights no announcement was made of their weights. Berger's manager said the Californian weighed 200 pounds, while O'Brien weighed close to 175.

No decision is allowed in the bouts in this city, but it seemed to be the consensus of opinion that O'Brien had a slight advantage. Berger, however, surprised the spectators by his cleverness and also his gameness. He always came back after the elusive Philadelphian, no matter how often O'Brien sent his left to Berger's jaw.

McNamara and Green Fight Draw.

Davenport, Ia., July 16.—[Special.]—Willie McNamara of Chicago and Joe Green of San Francisco fought a fast ten round draw tonight before the Tricity Athletic club. In the preliminary Morris Rauch and Patsy Hogan loafed three rounds and the bout was declared no contest. Frank Amerman of Davenport won from Pete Savoss of Chicago in the first round, and Rufus Phoenix of Moline was awarded the decision over "Kid" Delaney of Davenport in six rounds. Batling Nelson and Joe Galligan gave a six round exhibition. Abe Pollock was referee.

St. Louis Gets Big A. A. U. Meet.

St. Louis, Mo., July 16.—The annual athletic championship meet of the western division of the Amateur Athletic union was tonight awarded to St. Louis. It will be held the first week in September, probably on the grounds of the Delmar racetrack.

SEEK REFORM IN STATE FOOD LAWS

Establishment of Uniform Measures to Be Work of Convention of Experts.

PRESENT SYSTEMS CLASH.

Standard of Purity, Imperative for Protection of Consumer, to Be Discussed.

BY PAUL PIERCE.
[EDITOR "WHAT TO EAT."]

Hartford, Conn., July 16.—[Special.]—Enactment of state food laws to comply with the new national law will be the most important subject of consideration before the national convention of state food and health officers, which will begin a five days' session here next Tuesday.

This, the first convention of the association since the national law was passed, finds a confusion of food regulations among the various states, each different from the other, and few, if any, harmonizing with the national law. The result is that the manufacturer in many instances faces the problem of having to make his products comply not only with the national law but with the widely varying laws of the many states.

The Illinois law is found to be among the most conspicuous for its variance with the national law as regards labeling, and the Illinois delegates, H. E. Schuetnecht, assistant state food commissioner, and J. T. Bryan, state analyst, will study the convention proceedings with a view of having the Illinois law changed at the next session of the state legislature that it may be in conformity with the national law. While Alfred H. Jones, Illinois state food commissioner, will not attend the convention, he is said to be heartily in favor of such a change.

Uniform Laws Are Needed.

Until uniform state laws are secured with provisions corresponding to the national law the battle for pure foods in the United States will not have been won. The national law, it must be remembered, pertains only to interstate traffic. It prohibits the shipment of impure foods from one state into another, but it does not prohibit the sale of impure foods in the state in which they are manufactured. Thus Illinoisans are dependent entirely on a state law and its capable enforcement for protection from adulterations that might be put out by manufacturers in that state. The same is true of all other states. Hence the importance of uniform state laws is readily recognized.

The organization of state food officers, known as the National Association of State Dairy and Food Departments, until its name was changed to the interstate pure food commission, at the convention in Portland, Ore., last year, has been among the most arduous workers for pure food and a national food law. Its efforts have been handicapped to a large extent heretofore by the absence of any national measure to serve as a guide. This great obstacle, however, now has been removed. The officers of the interstate pure food commission are:

President—J. B. Noble of Connecticut.
First vice president—Elton Fulmer of Washington.
Second vice president—E. W. Burke of Wyoming.
Third vice president—Mrs. Mary Wright of Colorado.
Treasurer—T. K. Bruner of North Carolina.
Secretary—R. M. Allen of Kentucky.

Standard of Purity Necessary.

Next to the plans for uniform state laws, the most important subject of discussion before the convention will be that pertaining to food standards. This is to be a guide to manufacturers so that they will know what degree of purity is required of their products. No provison for standards is made in the national law.

The committe of food standards of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists has been commissioned by congress to collaborate with the secretary of agriculture in fixing standards of purity in foods, and has drafted a set of standards which the present convention may be urged to adopt. The general considerations which guided this committee in preparing its standard probably will be adhered to by the interstate pure food commission also.

Packing house interests will watch the proceedings of the convention carefully in the fear that extreme restrictions may be placed on their products by some of the state officers and the new state laws that are to be enacted. That the packing house exposures will come up for important consideration almost is certain, but just what action the convention will take on this score is impossible to determine yet.

Present State Laws Impotent.

A statement I have just obtained from Senator P. J. McCumber, whose efforts aided the enactment of the national food law, aids in explaining the relative positions of the state and national laws as regards the purity of foods and standards. McCumber says:

"While accomplishing some good, the state laws have been impotent because of the limited area over which they could operate. The manufacturer resided, in most cases, in another state. It was impossible for the state to prevent the introduction of these spurious and unwholesome goods over its border. The retailer was generally ignorant of the character of the goods he purchased, and the state laws could not reach the real culprit.

"Under this national law we are able to strike at the root of the evil, the manufacturer. While it does not prohibit any person from manufacturing and shipping into another state, or any person from purchasing any article he may desire, it does compel every food article to unmask before it can cross state lines. People will not purchase adulterated or misbranded articles of food if they know them to be such.

"The result of this enforced publicity as to the character of food products will be to render the manufacture of such goods unprofitable, and in that respect the law will be self-enforcing.

"There has been some fear on the part of advocates of a national pure food measure that the elimination from the act of that section authorizing the secretary of agriculture to fix standards for the guidance of the department and of the courts might weaken the law and render it less effective. I do not think this fear is at all well founded.

Must Make Fraud Impossible.

"What we want, then, is protection against fraud and deceit, so that we can go into the markets and purchase those things which we know to be conducive to health and avoid those things which we know to be injurious. I do not think we need any other standard than that which is established by the law itself—namely: that all food and drug products shall neither be misbranded nor adulterated, and that no food shall contain any added injurious or deleterious substances. Except for these prohibitions the manufacturer is free to make and sell and the people to purchase any article their tast or fancy many demand.

"It may also be borne in mind that in addition to this pure food law we have another act on our statute books authorizing and directing the secretary of agriculture to ascertain and determine the highest standards of food products. But this is for the information of the public and not for the purpose of compelling all food products to measure up to the standards as ascertained by the bureau of chemistry of the department of agriculture.

"The food bill as it passed the senate provided that it should go into effect on the first of July, 1906; as it passed the house the penalty provision for misbranding was not to go into effect until eighteen months from its passage. The conference committee of the two houses compromised by making the act take effect from and after the first day of January, 1907.

"If the states will now enforce the provisions of their own laws, within their own borders, in a few years we will eliminate counterfeit, spurious, and poisonous food products from the commerce of the country."

WILL FIX TRACTION PRICE.

COMPANIES TO SET VALUE ON INTANGIBLE PROPERTIES.

They Promise Also to Tell City How Figures Are Made Up and to Give Any Information Desired from Records to Enable Representatives of Chicago to Compute Total — The Definite Offer to Be Made on or Before Sept. 15.

Something that had the appearance of an agreement to agree was the outcome of the meeting yesterday between the traction men and the council committee on local transportation. The companies agreed to submit the values they place on their intangible properties and the process by which they estimate these values.

The city experts will begin the investigation of the intangible property values at once. The figures on the tangible holdings are being studied already. It is expected that the experts will be able to report their conclusions by Sept. 15.

On paper the agreement entered into is inspiring of confidence and hope. In fact, too inspiring, and that's why some of the aldermen suspect the companies are not in reality agreeing to all that the language seems to imply. The willingness of the companies to give information concerning the intangible values was officially laid before the committee in a typewritten statement that for carefulness of wording compelled the admiration of every lawyer present.

Offer of Union Traction.

It was presented to the committee by W. W. Gurley, representing Union Traction, and reads as follows:

"The companies represented by me will, on or before Sept. 15, 1906, furnish to the city's representatives the gross sum or amount which they are willing to take for their intangible rights and properties in the city of Chicago, and also at the same time will furnish a statement of the elements of value upon which the companies base their estimates and figures furnished to the city.

"The aforesaid companies will also furnish to the city's representatives, upon request, any information shown by their records or books which may be asked for the purpose of enabling the city's representatives to determine for themselves the value of the intangible rights and properties of the companies in the city of Chicago."

John P. Wilson for the City railway entered into a similar agreement.

What Are "Elements of Value"?

"Elements of value" was the phrase which every alderman present immediately seized upon. They wanted to know just what it meant—whether it meant an itemized statement, etc. They were assured that the companies would give the city all the information possible in estimating the values. It will be a difficult task to arrive at the intangible values, and it is a question just how much light the books of the companies will throw on the problem.

A subcommittee consisting of Chairman Werno and Ald. Finn, Dever, Foreman, and Bennett was appointed to prosecute the inquiry into the tangible and intangible values in conjunction with the experts. The main committee then adjourned pursuant to the call of the chairman.

MEN HELD AS PICKPOCKETS ACCUSED OF CAR ROBBERY.

Three Prisoners Are Identified by Man Whose Diamond Was Stolen—Peddler Enticed Into House and Beaten

James McNulty, Robert Boyd, and Christopher Nolan, said by the police to be among the most successful pickpockets in the country, were positively identified by Thomas Bulger, 20 Potomac avenue, and his two daughters, as the men who robbed him of a diamond on a westbound Van Buren street car Sunday afternoon. They were arrested by the West Lake street police.

After being beaten until he was almost unconscious by two women and a man, who had enticed him into a house at 80 Superior street in the afternoon, Meyer Melneck, a peddler, 457 Milwaukee avenue, told the Chicago avenue police his assailants robbed him of goods he was carrying worth $150.

Constable Schott arrested Mrs. Rose Veler, Barbara Smareck, and Andrew Borovitz.

Mrs. Jennie Jones, 1311 State street, reported the loss of jewelry valued at $100 from her home to the police of the Harrison street station in the evening.

Five young men are held at the West Chicago avenue station, two of them identified as having assaulted Lorrenz Worzdzin, 132 Augusta street, early Sunday morning. The victim was held up and robbed of $125. The youths are Stanley [illegible]roch, 94 Fry street; William Klein, Harry Klein, 543 West Chicago avenue; Anton Chester, 661 Milwaukee avenue; and Max Rose, 480 North Ashland avenue.

Thieves entered the rear of two Halsted street stores near the residence of Captain William P. Clancy of the Stockyards station, lighted lanterns, and proceeded to loot the establishments of money and articles valued at $100. The stores robbed were a Chinese laundry at 5540 Halsted street, and the printing shop of James C. Holmes at 5538 Halsted street. Capt. Clancy's residence is at 5553 Green street, his back yard extending to within a few feet of the rear doors of the shops.

Offices on the fourth and sixth floors of the Firmanech building, 171 Washington street, were entered during the night by burglars and property valued at several hundred dollars was taken.

COUNTY BOARD SURPRISED BY NEW CHIEF AT DUNNING.

Dr. Oscar C. Wilhite Arrives and Assumes His Duties, While Commissioners Are Waiting to Receive Him.

While the county commissioners were waiting in President Brundage's office yesterday to tender a reception to Dr. Oscar C. Wilhite, the newly appointed superintendent of the county institutions at Dunning, they learned that he had arrived in town, gone directly to Dunning, "had his coat off" and was at work. The new official was informed of the reception over the wire and came down to attend it.

Among those who were gathered to meet him were the commissioners, the department heads, and Dr. V. H. Podstata, whom he succeeds. The two men greeted each other warmly, having been colleagues on the staff at the Kankakee asylum. Dr. Podstata is now in charge of the asylum at Elgin.

"I have a high idea of my predecessor's ability," said Dr. Wilhite, "and I shall try to keep things up to the pace he set. I have not yet had time to go into a detailed study of the place."

WILL PRESS DEATH INQUIRY.

Coroner Plans to Hold Post-Mortem Examination on Body of an Italian.

Coroner Hoffman will today continue his inquiry into the death of Giuseppe Gangiono at Weber, Ill., and a post-mortem examination will be made of the body to discover the character of the wounds which caused his death. The man was buried at Mount Carmel cemetery and the body will be exhumed.

Vincenzo Gangiono, 133 Ewing street, brother of the dead man, asked the coroner to investigate, charging that Cuono Piordi was responsible. Piordi was arrested pending the investigation.

Vincenzo declared he found his brother severely injured, lying near railroad tracks at Weber.

He said his brother told him that Piordi had beaten him.

Suspected Land Fraudists Released.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 16.—Joseph Black, John C. Black, and August Anderson of Shawano, Wis., who were rearrested recently by Thomas B. Reid, United States marshal, in connection with indictments relating to Oregon land frauds, were released today through habeas corpus proceedings by United States District Judge Quarles.

TO PAY TEACHERS AS SUIT'S RESULT

WILL TURN MONEY OVER.

Checks for $30 Each Will Go to 1,644 Instructors in the City Schools.

After four years of litigation the 1,644 teachers who joined with the teachers' federation in resisting the salary cut made by the board of education in 1900 will receive next Thursday and Friday their pro rata share of the $73,980 awarded them by Judge Dunne and agreed to by the trustees.

This will make $45 apiece for the teachers, less $15 for the expenses of the four year fight, including lawyers' and stenographers' fees, court costs, and traveling expenses to Springfield. Checks for $30 will be delivered to the teachers by Attorney I. T. Greenacre in his offices, room 11, 84 Washington street. Teachers whose names begin with letters from A to L will be paid on Thursday, the rest of the alphabet on the day following.

Miss Ella A. Reeves, president of the teachers' federation, will be present to identify the teachers. "Paying hours" will be from 9 in the morning to 5 in the afternoon.

End of Picturesque Fight.

This rings down the curtain on the picturesque fight which the teachers have made on the school board and the "tax dodgers," whose remissness impoverished the school fund.

The trouble began in 1900, when the board of education, finding that its appropriation was running low, cut the pay of all the maximum salaried teachers in the grammar and primary grades $7.50 a month from January to June inclusive. These teachers were among the best in the schools, all of them having served at least seven years before attaining the scale.

The cut reduced their ten months' pay from $850 to $805 for the primary grade teachers and from $875 to $830 for the grammar teachers. Their vigorous protest was met by the response that the taxes had not netted the city enough money to meet the growing needs of the school system.

Suits Won by Teachers.

Then the teachers started suit to have the Chicago Union Traction company, the Chicago City railway company, the Chicago Telephone company, the People's Gaslight and Coke company, and the Chicago Edison company taxed on their capital stock. This was successful and brought $249,554.79 into the county treasury.

In 1902 the teachers brought suit against the board of education for the repayment of the losses which they had suffered.

Their claims were threefold. They demanded the restoration of the monthly cut of $7.50, their salary for the extra week in which the schools were closed for lack of money, and remedy for the financial loss entailed upon some of them by the readjustments of the schedules. They were successful on the first point only and the school board, at its meeting on April 25, agreed to settle the case on that basis.

At the meeting of the board Wednesday night an order was passed authorizing City Treasurer Blocki to turn over the sum named to Attorneys Darrow, Greenacre, and E. B. Smith, who were named in the stipulations as the ones to handle the fund. This was done on Saturday, the check being placed to Mr. Greenacre's personal account.

Heavy Expense of Litigation.

Attorney Clarence S. Darrow's fee for his share in the five years' fight is said to be $3,600, a similar amount going to Attorney E. B. Smith for the work which he did in the case after retiring from the office of assistant attorney general. Attorney Greenacre, who was in it from the start, is said to have asked about twice what the others receive.

All of them took hold of the case on the contingent basis. Most of the expense was due to the prolongation of the suit, fourteen continuances having been taken, necessitating additional stenographic work and trips to Springfield.

The first teacher on the list of successful litigants is Miss Mary M. Abbe, a teacher in the Marshall school. She resides at 6619 Lafayette avenue.

DRAINAGE BOARD COMMITTEE CONSIDERS BIDS FOR STONE.

John M. Ewen's Proposal Tentatively Accepted—Change in Physicians Advised—Packers to Clean Creek.

Bids for the sale of stone along the banks of the drainage canal were considered at a meeting of the finance committee of the drainage board yesterday afternoon. The bid of John M. Ewen at 10½ cents a cubic foot was finally tentatively accepted. Ratification of the committee's action by the board at its next meeting is all that is necessary to close the contract. It was estimated that the Ewen bid will net the board more than $50,000 a year.

Six thousand dollars a year for a physician's service to the sanitary district was considered too high by the committee, and the recent contract with Dr. M. W. Cushing was ordered a special matter for the next meeting of the board, with recommendations by the committee that a contract be made with some other physician.

Chief Engineer Randolph reported that sometimes six hours would elapse before Dr. Cushing would reach the scene of trouble or where his presence was needed. The committee ordered the matter before the board with recommendation that a change be made.

Representatives of the packing houses at the Union stockyards visited President McCormick during the afternoon and conferred with him regarding the cleaning of Bubbly creek. They promised to do their portion of the proposed work promptly.

The Commercial club of Joliet has appointed a committee to investigate the report that the retaining walls of the new drainage canal extension are not safe. This committee is to employ experts to report on the question, and it is probable a conference with the drainage trustees will follow.

GIRLS' ASSAILANT IS FINED.

Man Held to Criminal Court by Magistrate—Guest of Downtown Hotel Arrested.

On the testimony of three little girls, Carl Schroeder, aged 22, 22 North Robey street, yesterday was fined $300 and held to the criminal court by Justice Crocker.

They were attacked by Schroeder in the woods near Galewood a week ago. The girls were: Laura Davison, 332 Clark avenue, Austin; Mary Frank, 3457 Grand avenue, and Grace Mann, 3176 Bloomingdale road. Schroeder waived examination.

Edward D. Farr, stopping at the Windsor-Clifton hotel, was pursued for several blocks by a crowd of men and boys, after, it is alleged, he talked with several small boys and girls in the neighborhood of Thirty-fourth street and Cottage Grove avenue. He was arrested.

OBITUARY.

MARGARET TEMPLE SMITH, wife of Alpheus W. Smith, western manager of the Goodyear Rubber company, will be buried today from her late residence, 5712 Monroe avenue. Prof. Small of the university will deliver a short address. The remains will be taken to Bennington, Vt., for interment. The pallbearers will be Willis Gallup, Charles Antoine, John E. Fitzpatrick, Luther G. Baker, Frank E. Novak, and Warren Baker.

LABOR TRIES GOSPEL PLAN

STREET MEETING HELD UNDER FEDERATION AUSPICES.

Union Leaders Explain Their Doctrines, Sing "Industrial" Songs, and Collect Funds for the Support of Strikers—Methods of the Salvation Army Adopted to Arouse Interest in Organization of Persons Who Are Obliged to Work for Wages.

Drums and flags drew a crowd of spectators last night to the strangest labor union meeting ever held in Chicago. Under an arc light at the corner of Thirty-ninth street and Cottage Grove avenue union leaders alternately preached the gospel of unionism, sang "industrial" songs in ragtime, and collected contributions for the support of strikers, while a hundred or more onlookers marveled at the new methods of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

It was the first "gospel" meeting arranged by the labor forces of the city. Those in charge of the meeting afterwards pronounced it a great success, although it was said the police gave warning that similar gatherings in the streets may be forbidden unless the federation obtains special permits from the mayor to continue the open air series of "rallies."

With the exception of the fact that the union singers experienced some competition from a Salvation army band on the opposite corner the labor crusaders suffered no interruption last night. The labor "salvationists," however, took advantage of the pauses in the rival exercises.

Makes Plea for Unions.

On one occasion, when a Salvation Army captain was leading his audience in prayer, a union speaker profited by the silence to say:

"The union is the only salvation for the workingman. It is wages he is looking for, and not religion. Come along with us and listen to the bread and butter doctrine of Tolstoi. That's what the unions stand for."

Preceding the union "gospel" program was a street parade, in which transparencies figured. The procession was led by a fife and drum corps and the American flag. The marchers, after traversing the streets in the neighborhood, mounted a platform erected at the Thirty-ninth street corner, where a stereopticon lantern was pressed into service to illustrate the achievements of trades unions.

Pictures of sweatshops under the "open shop" system and again under union conditions were thrown upon a canvas until the crowd grew tired.

Other Meetings to Follow.

Then a union quartet sang a parody in which D. M. Parry and C. W. Post were flayed.

The speakers include Henry Knaus of the Garment Workers' union and L. P. Dolan of the Broommakers' union.

"The clothing trades unions are fast driving the sweatshops from our city," said Knaus, "and when we succeed in organizing all the workers in this line women and children will not have to stitch from twelve to sixteen hours daily until their health is ruined."

Announcement was made that "gospel" meeting will be held twice a week on the south side during the next three weeks. It was said also at the next meeting a band from the Chicago Federation of Musicians will furnish the music.

TENNESSEE SLAYER SOUGHT; SEARCH BY POSSES IN VAIN.

Ben McPherson, Principal in Raid in Which Sweetheart Figured, Is Supposed to Be Hiding Near Relatives.

Knoxville, Tenn., July 16.—[Special.]—John McPherson, principal in yesterday's sensational shootings, is still at large. Posses have been busy all day looking for him in Knox and Sevier counties. He probably will not be taken alive unless caution and strategy are used. Sevier county officers tonight claimed they have McPherson located a few miles from Sevierville, the county seat, more than twenty miles from Knoxville, and without railroad or telephone communication. He is stid to be hidden in the hills near the home of his uncle, Ben McPherson.

Although the coroner's jury found a verdict to the effect that Dr. "Buck" McPherson stabbed Grant Smith, the doctor still insists that he was several feet away when Smith was killed, and claims he had nothing to do with the assault on Dr. Waddell or the shooting of William Walker, whose wounds he dressed. Deputy Walker is still alive, although paralyzed. Physicians think he can live but a few hours.

Miss Winstead, the sweetheart of McPherson, who made the desperate ride with the McPhersons to aid in her lover's escape, is still in jail. She was in the buggy eighteen hours, witnessed the assault on Dr. Joseph Waddell, and saw her lover shoot down Deputy Walker, and returned home only to be arrested and placed in jail.

While rumors are afloat that McPherson has added other victims to his string of murders, none of these has been verified, and probably are without foundation, and due to a confusion of the names of the men assaulted. Deputy sheriffs are stationed about the highways to capture McPherson should he attempt to leave Sevier county.

CHICAGO MAN COMMITS SUICIDE

Valparaiso, Ind., July 16.—[Special.]—Bert Campbell, a traveling salesman of Chicago, committed suicide this evening in the Albes hotel by taking morphine. He was despondent over poor business. He was 38 years old.

Malta-Vita

"The Perfect Food"

The use of pure malt extract with the best whole white wheat makes Malta-Vita so easy to digest, so beneficial to the health and so good to eat.

Starch is hard to digest. The malt extract turns the starch of the wheat into maltose, or malt sugar, which physicians recommend because it is so strengthening and so easily digested. Malta-Vita, rich in maltose, conquers indigestion and constipation. The maltose, too, gives Malta-Vita its fine flavor.

"For many years my husband suffered from indigestion and extreme nervousness. Recently I bought our first package of Malta-Vita. My husband is now in perfect health, his stomach seems strong and his nights prove a source of rest, instead of torture. He eats but little meat and pastry and says Malta-Vita takes the place of both. I serve it in many different ways. With fruit it makes delicious desserts. For breakfast it is superior to anything I have put on the table."—Mrs. Valley C. Regan, Rockford, Ill.

Get some Malta-Vita to-day. Eat it with milk or cream or fresh fruit. To those who know how delicious and sustaining Malta-Vita is, a satisfactory breakfast is next thing to impossible without it.

CEMENT MEN WIN STRIKE.

EMPLOYERS SURRENDER TO AVOID A LARGER MONEY LOSS.

Contractors' Association Agrees to the Terms Demanded by Union, and 2,900 Workers Will Resume This Morning — Fifty-five Machinists Walk Out Because One Nonunionist Is Hired—Exportation of Seamen to Frisco Stopped by Labor Body.

Millions of dollars in city street and sidewalk contracts tied up by the cement workers' strike during the last week will be rushed to completion beginning this morning. The contractors yesterday conceded the demands of the union and the strike was called off.

A flat increase in wages of 5 cents an hour will be received by 1,400 men, bringing the scale up to a minimum figure of 35 cents an hour. Fifteen hundred other strikers who quit work in sympathy with the cement men will return to their employment after the loss of six days' wages. No benefits accrue to the sympathetic strikers in the settlement.

Some Win a Half Holiday.

In addition to more pay, the cement workers on buildings hereafter will be given a half holiday on Saturdays by their employers. Recognition of the unon is made complete, and only members of the organization will be hired.

Secretary W. H. Powell of the Cement Contractors' association said in discussing the settlement of the strike that the employers were forced to surrender because of the large financial interests involved. He asserted the contractors will lose money during the next year, but that the amount will be less than would have resulted in a protracted strike.

By the settlement of the grain shovelers' strike in South Chicago elevators the poor residents of the locality will reap the benefit. A large supply of provisions, which the elevator companies had stored in boarding houses for the use of strike breakers, was turned over to the police for distribution among the needy. The men will return to work today at the old wages, but really will receive better pay because of the shortening of hours.

Machinists on a Strike.

Fifty-five machinists employed in the factory of the Woods Motor Vehicle company at Twenty-fifth street and Calumet avenue went on strike because the firm hired a nonunionist. Another strike, involving 100 men, was authorized by the Associated Building Trades on a new elevator being built for the Santa Fé road at Thirty-fifth and Ward streets.

The exportation of nonunion sailors from Chicago to San Francisco was checked by action of the Seamen's union, which caused the arrest of the firm of Asping & Sweet, employment agents, at 81 South Canal street. It was charged that over 150 sailors were sent to the Pacific coast during the last week to assist in breaking a strike in violation of the federal labor laws. The case will be heard today by United States Commissioner Mark Foote.

Stationary firemen employed by the Union Traction company will vote today on the postponement of demands for more wages. General Manager Roach has informed the union officials that the question will be taken up later.

Admiral Inspects Lighthouses.

Rear Admiral George C. Reiter, chairman of the United States lighthouse board, left Chicago yesterday afternoon on board a government lighthouse boat for St. Joe, Mich., where he will begin his annual inspection of the ninth district in the government lighthouse service.

Rounds Them Out

Three years' experience with one food is a severe test.

What can be done when it is the proper food, Grape-Nuts, is proved by the statement of a woman who says:

"Up to three years ago I had sick headaches every week, and although I had heard and read about how food affected one I never thought that could have anything to do with my trouble until one day a friend came in and found me suffering from a frightful headache and suggested that it might be the food, telling me I should change my food for breakfast at least.

"'Breakfast,' I said, 'why, I never have any appetite for breakfast, there's nothing I would relish.' She said, 'Did you ever try Grape-Nuts? We use the food every morning and find it just what we relish, and we know our health is better since we have eaten it.'

"This was news to me, so that very day I got two packages and ate only Grape-Nuts and cream or milk for two weeks at breakfast and became so fond of the food I soon found myself eating it for supper also. The result was my headaches lessened quickly and finally disappeared, and for the past two years I have only had a couple and I have gained about 30 pounds in weight. I can't get along without my Grape-Nuts and cream for breakfast at least.

"My husband is just as fond of the food as I am, and he makes his entire breakfast on it, and to-day I looked over our old grocery orders just for fun and found we have used 512 packages of Grape-Nuts food since we began eating it, three years ago. My husband's health has improved wonderfully, for he used to be a frail little man as white as a ghost, but now he has fine appetite, good color, and has rounded out in flesh nicely."

OKLAHOMA'S CONSTITUTION.

The making of a constitution is a theme for lively discussion in Oklahoma, suggestions being offered in every paper in the new state and the general interest among the citizens being widespread. There is a chance for a nice piece of work from the standpoint of political science, and the people who are most affected seem to appreciate that fact. For the constitution has a meaning far beyond that which attaches to a mere bit of governmental machinery.

The constitution of the United States guarantees to each state a republican form of government, but does not otherwise limit the constitution that may be formed by its inhabitants. They are left free to make their own system, saving the provision mentioned. The several state constitutions have a general uniformity in many respects, certain features being common to all. In a comparative study the differences observed make the real things to be examined. And, when these differences are studied thoughtfully, it is apparent that the constitution, in addition to its framework for government, also reflects the popular notions of the time of its adoption.

In the first constitutions adopted by the states during the stress of the revolutionary movement there are features which entirely disappear during the democratic period following the close of the second war with England. A third constitution made into organic law thirty years afterwards will show clauses not in either of the earlier ones. The practical bearing of contemporary events and popular theories, therefore, has its suggestion to the constitution makers for Oklahoma. The combined experience of the years should be drawn on and the constitution to be adopted should indicate the survival of the best elements which have commended themselves during the 130 years of state history and the rejection of those which have not proved their value in actual working. In other words, the Oklahoma constitution, merely as organic law, ought to be a model from the standpoint of political science.

The present day problems of life must have their part also. Such matters as the manufacture and sale of liquor, the control of corporations, the place of the railroads, the provision for education, the race problem, woman's suffrage, and the forms of taxation must be discussed and settled in the best possible way. That there are over 1,000 candidates for the 112 positions of delegate to the constitutional convention is an announcement of the widespread interest in the proper solution of the difficult questions, and has its element of hopefulness that a notable work may be accomplished in constitution making in this youngest of American states.

It is a difficult matter to make changes in a constitution after it is once adopted. The tendency is strong to conservatism in this phase of our governmental affairs. For this additional reason the Oklahoma folks have a splendid chance to secure the best results if they will give such careful thought to the various subjects to be considered that there will be no occasion for alteration during the formative years of statehood. It is safe to say that the attention of many Americans will be given to the outcome in the new state.

WAR IN CENTRAL AMERICA.

A state of war exists in Central America, but the war probably is not so bloody as the dispatches make it out to be. The report that the Guatemalan forces were routed in a pitched battle by the Salvadoran army and lost 2,000 in killed, wounded, and prisoners comes from San Salvador. Therefore, the accuracy of the figures may be mistrusted. It is the custom in Central America, as in many other parts of the world, for generals to exaggerate the extent of a victory. There is not usually much desperate hand to hand fighting by the little armies of the Central American states. The soldiers on neither side have much appetite for war.

Guatemala is fighting Salvador on one side and Honduras on the other. The contest is not an uneven one as regards population. Guatemala has as many inhabitants as both the other states. But President Cabrera has not the united support of his people. There are many Guatemalans who think he has ruled long enough and that somebody else ought to have a chance. The war was begun by Guatemalan exiles who made Salvador their base of operations. Guatemala is the largest of the states, and has occasionally tried to become master of the others. They are jealous of it, and rather approve of revolutions which will weaken it.

Presidents Roosevelt and Diaz are working for peace, and may be able to bring it about before there has been much slaughter. If they shall be successful the Guatemalan revolutionists will be much disappointed. They say they have taken up arms to liberate their enslaved country, and no peace which leaves Cabrera in power will be acceptable to them.

It would contribute to the peace of Central America if Mexico were to annex Guatemala. Then its inhabitants would enjoy the blessings of a firm, stable government and the resources of the country would be developed. There is no reason why Mexican authority and good order should not be extended nearly to the canal zone. That would be a happy riddance from a batch of insignificant and quarrelsome states.

GOMPERS AND CANNON.

The federation of labor is preparing to make up a congressional blacklist. Trades unionists will be asked and expected to vote against candidates who are not for the anti-injunction and eight hour laws whose enactment has been demanded by organized labor. Wherever the conditions promise success an attempt will be made to elect trades unionists who have paid up union cards. The election to parliament of a number of labor men has inspired union leaders in this country with a yearning to show in a similar way the strength of organized labor in the United States.

"The first gun of the campaign is to be fired" in the Second Maine congressional district. Representative Littlefield, who is a candidate for reëlection, has been marked for slaughter. As a member of the judiciary committee of the house he has been an indefatigable and influential opponent of the anti-injunction bill. The election will be held in September. If he were to be defeated in a district which ought to be good for 5,000 republican majority, candidates in other states who were on the blacklist of the federation of labor would shiver. Those who were still on the fence as regards the labor measures would be greatly moved to come out for them.

The defeat of Mr. Littlefield is considered of so much importance that Mr. Gompers, the president of the federation, intends to travel through the district and let members of his organization know what is expected of them. Mr. Littlefield will not have to fight his battle alone. He has not always been in accord with his party. He is a man of strong convictions and is never untrue to them. He would not vote for the railroad rate bill, for instance. He and Speaker Cannon have not always agreed, but the speaker is preparing to make some speeches for him.

By taking the stump for Mr. Littlefield Mr. Cannon will be daring the federation of labor to do its worst so far as he personally is concerned. Hints have been thrown out from time to time that the speaker needed a lesson for his failure to give effective support to labor legislation, and that he ought not to be too sure of reëlection. The hints have not frightened him. He thinks it safe to leave his district and lend Mr. Littlefield a helping hand. If Mr. Gompers encounters a decisive defeat in Maine month after next he will not be likely to invade the Danville district and fight Speaker Cannon on his own ground.

ABOUND IN HOPE.

Last week a boy who had been under water for twenty-three minutes was brought back to consciousness by physicians who worked over him several hours. Other persons who had been under water two or three minutes were given up as dead by their rescuers after brief half-hearted attempts to revive them. While it is unlikely that any of those who were believed to be drowned were alive at the time of their burial, there is reason to believe that the lives of some of them might have been saved by continuing for a longer time the attempt to revive them after they were drawn from the water. A dead person cannot be restored to life, but in the case of death by drowning life continues in the body for a long time after all signs of it have ceased.

It is well to bear this in mind. This is the season of accidents on or in the water. No matter how many fatalities occur, people will continue to be careless. The man who rocks the boat, the boy who takes a dare, the strong swimmer whose strength is a lure to lead him beyond his limit of endurance, the child who does not know the risks he runs, all these and many more are found each week among the drowned. Yet skill, endurance, and determination will call back the color of life often after hope seems unreasonable. In case of an accident a safe rule is to continue efforts to revive the victim according to the method theoretically familiar to almost every one who goes down to the water until a physician pronounces the body dead. If no physician is near, attempts to secure artificial breathing should be kept up for a couple of hours. In the case mentioned above, no signs of life were detected until the second hour had passed.

There is some authority for believing that what is said about apparent death from drowning is true also about death from electric shock, whether produced by a live wire or by lightning. Where the body has not been burned, but the lungs and the heart have ceased working on account of the shock to the nerves, experiments have shown in some cases that life may be restored, or rather preserved, by inducing action of the heart and lungs by purely mechanical means. The number of cases where measures have been taken to revive victims of electric shocks is too small for a general rule to be formulated, but with that branch of knowledge in an experimental state it is right for the chance to be taken by those who have the opportunity. No harm can be done by a refusal to give up hope, while, on the other hand, even a negative result brings the consciousness that no blame can be laid upon lack of zeal. Men not experts in restoring consciousness to victims of drowning or electricity will do better to err on the side of hope than of despair.

THE MARCHING TROOPS.

The experiment of marching the troops from their various headquarters in the central west to the rendezvous at Fort Benjamin Harrison at Indianapolis is one which will be watched with much interest by those who are anxious to improve the condition of the army of the United States. As a rule transfers of troops have been made by rail, and, except for the drill in the routine of the life at the posts or an occasional short practice march through the surrounding country, there has been a marked lack of that experience which comes only when theories are put to practical test and the soldier on the campaign learns how to use the knowledge gained from his post instruction.

The soldiers from Fort Thomas, near Cincinnati, are reported to have made the 130 miles to Indianapolis in nine days, an average day's march about equal to that made by the troops from Fort Sheridan on their first day out. If fifteen miles are covered each day it will be a good record for troops unused to long marches and will put the Chicago soldiers into camp in Indianapolis within sixteen days. This experience will be of great practical value to all the soldiers who just now, in various parts of the country, are on the march from post to camping grounds.

The causes of complaint made by the soldiers deserve attention, for they also reflect the conditions of actual campaigning in war time. New shoes, new khaki, and new methods of carrying upon the back are cited as leading sources of discontent. It is so always. The supplying of an army with shoes is one of the most important details of equipment. The lack of good footwear often causes the loss of battles and the upsetting of careful calculations. It had its influence in the battle of Bull Run and was a prime factor in the engagement at Wilson's Creek, where Lyon lost his life. If the march to Indianapolis had no further value than to give definite working data about shoes it would amply repay the experiment's cost, if the standpoint of efficiency in war time be taken. The same thing is true of the study which is being made of the best way of carrying the needed individual equipment. It certainly is no summer pleasure to carry sixty pounds upon the back for a distance of 237 miles, yet that is the weight of the load which is carried by a new piece of harness whose value is being tested on this trip. It may be a wearing, chafing experiment, but the march of the soldiers can have no purpose except to increase the efficiency of the troops, and these experiments are necessary if the army officers are to have definite data for their judgment.

Incidentally there ought to be considerable recreation and pleasure gained by the soldiers themselves out of this experience. There will be widespread local interest along the road. Many people will be able to see soldiers in actual campaign outfits, and the visiting of the camps along the route will have its element of attractiveness for soldiers and citizens alike. With strict discipline on the part of the officers and a fair amount of attention from the men the march ought to prove as interesting to the civilian as it should prove profitable in the direction of increased efficiency for service.

Titles of Novels.

[From the Chronicle, London.]

Titles of novels are seldom novel, for they ring the changes on the successful work, keeping the grog tone sounding. Just as every musical comedy for years was about some girl or other. You will look down the new lists of novels, and there is always a House as the keynote of the title. The "House with the Seven Gables" no doubt suggested the vogue. The "House with the Green Shutters" brought it into fashion. And now there have been Houses of everything the ingenious writer can think of. Tears, Laughter, Silence—and the latest is the "House of Souls." The novelist is as superstitious as the actor, and believes that the occurrence of "Elizabeth" or "House" in his title spells fortune. We long for a book with "Jane" or "Bathroom" on the cover!

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1906: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

LORD ALTHORP, who was raised to the peerage on his appointment last spring to the office of lord chamberlain, has been placed in deep mourning by the death in childbirth of his wife, who was the most popular of the sisters of Lord Revelstoke and of Cecil and Hugo Baring, the latter of whom makes his home in this country, representing the interests of the great banking house of Baring in America.

Lord and Lady Althorp married about eighteen years ago, just a couple of years before the crisis in the fortunes of the house of Baring. When that crisis took place Lord Althorp (then Bobbie Spencer) and Lord Kenmare, who had married his wife's sister, both came forward, and though neither of them was a rich man, they placed the entire dowries of their respective wives and the money settled upon the latter by the late Lord Revelstoke at the disposal of the committee of liquidation.

At the time when they made this sacrifice for the benefit of the fair name of the Barings and of the latters' creditors there was but little prospect of their ever seeing the money again. But so admirably was the scheme of liquidation carried into effect by the governor of the Bank of England and the other members of his committee that not only were the creditors paid in full, but it was also found possible to eventually restore to Lady Althorp and to Lady Kenmare the amount of their respective dowries. Lady Althorp was popular, both at court and in society, and will be deeply mourned. Her husband is next heir to his half-brother's earldom of Spencer and to the entailed estates belonging to the latter.

It may be remembered that in the spring of last year the newspapers on both sides of the Atlantic devoted a considerable amount of attention to the sensational suicide of a Russian nobleman of the name of Charles Bakounine at Monte Carlo, a graphic description being given of the manner in which, after writing a number of touching farewell letters, he had rowed out to sea in a boat and then jumped into the water, after enveloping himself in a fishing net weighted with a huge stone.

The suicide now turns out to have been a clever piece of comedy, and the Italian courts of justice at Turin have just imposed a sentence of five years' penal servitude upon Charles Bakounine, who is described as "duke" in the judgment. The latter, owing to the flight of the prisoner, has been pronounced "in contumaciam," and endeavors are now being made to secure his extradition from France and from Germany. As he is unfavorably known in both these countries it is understood that he has sailed for the new world, and as it is quite possible that he may turn up over here, it is just as well that people should be warned against his attempting to make any capital of the fact that his uncle, Michael Bakounine, was the father of the revolutionary movement in Russia and the founder of nihilism.

◆

The late Michael Bakounine was the chief of a family which is one of the oldest and most illustrious houses of the Muscovite aristocracy, being descended, indeed, like the imperial Romanoffs, from Rurik, the founder of Russia's now reigning dynasty. Brought up at the imperial school of pages at St. Petersburg, at the expense of Nicholas I., the train of whose court mantle he was frequently called upon to bear on state occasions, he received a commission in the guards, but soon turned his attention to the revolutionary doctrines of Hegel, and, quitting the army, threw himself into the revolutionary movement abroad, taking part in the insurrection in 1848 at Dresden, where he was condemned to death by default, and of 1849 in Austria, where he was also consigned to the scaffold. He again evaded the hangman's noose, but fell into the hands of the Russian government, and after several years' detention in the dungeons of the Peter and Paul fortress at St. Petersburg, was transported for life to the mines of Siberia, whence he once more escaped, making his way, via America, to Europe, where he founded the nihilist movement, dying at Berne about twenty-five years ago. At the time when Bakounine, who was a perfect Hercules in stature, escaped from Siberia his nearest and dearest kinsman, Count Mouravieff, happened to be governor general of Siberia, and in view of the fact that the count was deprived of his office shortly after his cousin's escape, it is generally believed that he helped him to get away to America.

Charles Bakounine, his nephew, who has just been sentenced to penal servitude for a long series of swindles, was at one time in the diplomatic service, and was stationed as consul general at Serajewo, where he became involved in a foolish imbroglio with the Austrian government, which necessitated his transfer. A born gambler, he was eventually compelled to quit the government service, made his way to Italy, where he succeeded in marrying the daughter and heiress of an Italian duke possessed of large estates in Sardinia. It is probably owing to the fact that through his wife he became the owner of this property, and likewise to the knowledge that he was connected with the reigning house of Russia that led to his being styled "Duke" Bakounine, a title to which he has no right whatsoever. It was not long before he had squandered all his wife's property, after which he deserted her, and then betook himself to Naples, where he became implicated in a sort of green goods scandal, in which he had embarked in order to raise the financial wind, having exhausted the generosity of all his rich relatives in Russia. Eventually the entire gang was arrested. But, thanks to the intervention in his behalf of the Russian consul general at Naples and of the Russian embassy at Rome, he escaped any further penalty in connection with the affair, on the plea that it was difficult to determine whether he had been a confederate or merely a victim of the gang.

Heedless of the warning furnished by this episode, he not long afterwards embarked upon a career of fraud in Germany and in France, which was believed to have been cut short by his alleged suicide, a little over a year ago. Fresh swindles, this time in northern Italy, perpetrated last winter and throughout the spring, have left no doubt as to his being much alive, and that is why he has now been sentenced by the courts of Turin and warrants issued for his extradition.

Chief Justice Sir Frederick Darley, in admitting the other day to practice at the bar of Sydney, Australia, a young lawyer of the name of Neville McWilliams, who is stone blind, gracefully expressed the hope from the bench that he would as successfully overcome his affliction as the late Prof. Fawcett, who, although totally blind, "became a leading statesman in England and a member of one of Mr. Gladstone's cabinets" as postmaster general.

Sir Frederick might likewise have cited the case of that most distinguished judge, Baron Pennefather of the Court of the Exchequer of Ireland, who during the course of a judicial career extending over nearly forty years was throughout the last half of that period wholly bereft of sight. He, however, was able to discharge his judicial duties with efficiency, and on one occasion only was his absolute lack of sight a matter of embarrassment to him on the bench. He was trying a case in which a man was charged with writing a threatening letter, and on comparison of the writing of the letter in dispute with the writing of a document admittedly in the defendant's handwriting the prisoner, who was defending himself, requested the judge to examine both documents and to form his own conclusions.

But it is not only judges and cabinet ministers who have fulfilled the duties of their office when totally blind, but also rulers. Thus, the late grand duke of Mecklenburg-Strelitz was throughout his reign of over forty years entirely blind, which did not prevent him, however, from having well in hand every detail of the administration of his government, not as a constitutional sovereign but as an autocrat. In fact, no tree could be planted in his capital without his leave having been previously obtained.

The late king of Hanover, also, was totally blind throughout his reign, and would not allow his infirmity to prevent his taking his place at the head of his troops at the battle of Langensalza, in 1866, which resulted not merely in the defeat of his troops but in the loss of his throne. Indeed, one of the most pathetic spectacles of the nineteenth century was that of this wonderfully handsome and chivalrous old king, on the hardly contested battlefield of Langensalza, turning his sightless eyes in the direction of the enemy.

A SUMMER WIDOWER'S RAMBLES IN CHICAGO.

MADAME writes austerely from Bridge Whist hotel at Lake Gossip. She relates that it seems to her that there is entirely too much of this la belle Autrichienne and la belle Parisienne business going on in Chicago, and that if hard working men have so much time for sociological investigation, it might be advantageous to devote a little of the time to the study of their families. Nothing is so unreasonable as a woman.

It was in sorrow and depreciation of this unreasoning attitude that I sought the balm for a wounded spirit in the holy calm of an Evanston Sabbath, in "that land of pure delight where saints immortal reign." The printer must be particular in spelling this word "reign," as they have not had any "rain" in Evanston for so long that they are extremely sensitive in the matter. I had been told that Evanston has the only really spiritual golf links in the United States, and that a ramble over hallowed ground is equivalent to two or three ordinary divine services in ordinary communities. It is pleasant to testify to the accuracy of this information.

The Evanston golf links begin at the intersection of the Sheridan road and Ridge avenue, where the automobiles receive their first warnings for proper observance of the Sabbath. As I approached I encountered the Evanston small boy, with his hymn book and shining Sunday face, creeping like a snail unwillingly to church. Boys will be boys whatever the spiritual atmosphere. A gentleman whom I quickly recognized as President Clark stood in the road, intercepting speeding automobilists, asking them if they knew what day this was, and threatening them with all sorts of disasters, both now and hereafter, unless they complied with the law and sentiment of the neighborhood. Then he greeted me as an earnest seeker after truth, took me into the clubhouse, relieved my immediately pressing necessities, and discoursed long and earnestly touching the peculiar status of Evanston's most notable dissipation.

* *

"You may be surprised," said Mr. Clark, "to find us keeping open house on the Lord's day. We shall come to this presently. This club was organized three years ago for the purpose of conteracting the destructive influences of Glen View, Exmoor, and Onwentsia, and of providing a place of innocent resort where Evanstonians could combine Christian athletics with Christian morals. We have prospered, as we were bound to prosper. Our membership is full and there are fifty-five Methodists now on the waiting list. We started with nine holes and golf six days a week; now we have eighteen holes and golf every day in the year. Our vice president lives in the only cottage on the grounds, just north of the first tee, near the road, where he can watch and control the speed of automobiles and give general moral directions to visitors just starting on the round. He is an enthusiastic golfer, and it is no uncommon thing for him to slip out in his bath robe in the early morn and tee off before he has his coffee."

* *

"What do you mean by 'moral directions'?" I asked.

"Principally in the way of strong language. We all know that the crying abuse of golf, second perhaps to the tendency to serve raging drink, is the use of unnecessary and undignified expletive. Everything suggestive of explosive petulance has been strictly prohibited.

For I hold that on the links
An expression like "by jinks"
A specially impressionable nature taints—
And so do the elders and the deacons and the saints,
The elders and the deacons who are spiritual beacons,
And the saints.

"As for intoxicating potations I am glad to say that the sentiment of the club has absolutely banished them from the house."

"What do you do in case a player is bitten by a rattlesnake at the thirteenth hole, or is taken with a violent chill in the malarial season of the fall?"

"In that event, we repair at once to what is known as the medical locker, where we keep our emergency remedies. These supplies are furnished only after unquestionable proof of exigency, though I admit that golf is a fell destroyer and that many extraordinary cases of physical prostration are reported in the course of a year.

* *

"Our most gratifying asset," went on Mr. Clark, "is the hearty support of the clergy. When we organized the club we threw open the grounds to the pastors of Evanston, stipulating only that they should not play on Sunday. They have conformed to this requirement, and we have had as many as fourteen preachers on the links at one time, mingling in fraternal concord, and dismissing for the moment all differences of opinion as to original sin, qualifications for baptism, and the principles of church government. It is truly a notable spectacle."

"But about Sunday golf?"

"Ah, like all outsiders, you cannot understand this simple proposition. Know then that with our membership's full appreciation of duties and responsibilities, and the complete observance of the moral and spiritual proprieties, Sunday golf is no more objectionable than a Sunday walk. We barred the preachers merely because they are needed elsewhere, but we can get them by telephone instantly if their presence is required. So you see it is a matter not of example but of necessity."

"Then Sunday golf is just like any other golf?"

"To a large extent. Possibly it is accompanied by less merriment and less boisterousness, if golf ever can be said to be boisterous. There is another distinction. Two of our tees and holes are located on ground leased from Northwestern university. I believe there is something in the charter of the university that shuts out all worldly distraction on the Sabbath. Hence, after 6 o'clock Saturday evening, we rearrange our links as affecting these two holes, which are consequently out of bounds, and, though occasionally a wild player misses his aim, he immediately apologizes for his error, withdraws his ball, or, as is frequently the case, makes atonement by forfeiting the ball to the university."

* *

Such information could not fall to excite in me the liveliest and most pleasurable emotions. I glanced around the encircling porch, crowded with representative citizens of Evanston, talking subduedly of such affairs, mundane or spiritual, as might be properly discussed without violence either to the day or to the inner impulse. And I contrasted this goodly gathering with the ribald Sabbath desecraters who, unprotected by the four mile limit, were at that moment poisoning their minds with profitless discourse and their bodies with unholy liquids.

Beyond the clubhouse was a fair and pleasant sight, with the rolling green occupied by men athletically but decorously attired—men of serious purport and staid demeanor—with little boys well trained in the habit and custom of the occasion and the day. And I thought how foolish in the summer time to wander into devious paths and among unaccustomed temptations when at home the Evanstonian can enjoy the pure delight which comes with carefully regulated golf and systematically acquired incitement.

As I turned to leave the links and continue my ramblings and my musing, the president and the vice president took their position at the first tee. I paused when the sound of something tearing up the turf smote my ear. I looked. The president's face was distorted as if by the most awful internal struggle. I averted my glance, but hearing nothing I looked again. The storm had passed, the battle had been fought, the victory won. Belial had fled, virtue had triumphed, and wisdom was justified of her children.

BLOOD OF ENGLAND'S NOBLEST YOUTH HER PRICE FOR CONQUERED WILDERNESS

Tragedy of Harry Galt, Young Hero Made Martyr to Undying Hatred of Black for White in Africa, Recounted by Caroline Kirkland as Case Typical of Thousands.

BY CAROLINE KIRKLAND.

It was low tide when we steamed out of the land-locked harbor of Dar es Salaam, and the waters had receded so far down the long, shiny beach to the narrow, winding, well buoyed channel that the natives who had waded out to the tide's edge to gather shell fish seemed almost directly under the ship's side as we glided slowly along. They carried on their heads big baskets of loose weave and, with their scant, gay draperies and their glossy black skins, made a festival of color in the shallow, rippling waters.

We took a last glance at the charming residency gleaming among the trees, and then the waving palms of Dar es Salaam dropped from sight behind us, like many another lovely vision. We stopped at Zanzibar for a couple of hours to pick up the mails and some belated cargo, and then headed for Tanga.

It was sunset when we came into this harbor. To the left on a promontory stood the hospital, a fine building of cream colored stucco with red tiled roof. Ahead of us a few other houses, half hidden in foliage, indicated the town, which lay behind and away from the shore. It was night when we finally hailed a native and his boat and went to investigate the settlement. At the landing place we found an evidence of German thoroughness, in a large board on which was written in German, English, and French the proper boat fares. The pier was well lighted and everything was orderly and systematic.

Shopping in Tanga by Night.

After leaving this cheerful spot, however, we plunged into Cimmerian darkness, and stumbled along toward a far distant point of light, until we bumped into the ship's baggage master, who told us that a little farther on we would find one of those delightful hand trolleys which so often solve the problem of transportation in East Africa. Having seated ourselves in one, our troubles were over and we flew through the delicious, thick, fragrant night until we found ourselves in the comparative glare of the main corner in Tanga. We indicated in our best Swahili that we wished to go on and see more of the town, so our barefooted, white frocked human steed rushed us along broad, shaded highways where, on either side, lights shone out from low doorways.

We stopped at some and went into stuffy interiors inhabited by natives or Indians, selling various commodities. We pulled out the gaudy prints which they use for dresses and made a selection. We offered for two of these the price which they asked for one, and the offer was promptly accepted. A pale light from a paraffin lamp overhead illumined the dingy interior. A straight haired Goanese made the sale, while a stalwart and ill smelling African sullenly hauled the things out for us.

Pitch Black Night Has No Terror.

It was a relief to be out once more in the sweet smelling blackness of the shaded roads. Through the leaves we could get glimpses of fierce stars. We halted again at the Botanical gardens. Winding paths, tall palms, giant ferns, all lured us into the darkest, quietest place I ever felt—for we could see nothing when the matches we lit went out. It is amazing, however, the feeling of security we had in that utterly remote, unexplored place.

The night held no terrors for us. It was more orderly and law abiding than most modern cities are after sunset. And it is curious that this should be so, for after all these swarming natives are only one remove from savages. Occasionally some isolated tragedy occurs, like the case of Harry Galt, which shakes the sense of security that grows up among the handful of whites who live in and rule over these vast and too thickly populated territories in the Dark Continent. First, let me assure you that we reached the ship that night without misadventure, and then I should like to tell the story of this young Englishman.

On May 19, 1905, Harry St. George Galt, who was acting subcommissioner in a distant district in Uganda, was murdered by a native at Ibanda camp. The news brought by runners was a great shock to the foreigners in Uganda and East Africa.

Tragedy of Harry Galt.

Before going into the details of the incident two factors must be considered—significant, underlying, racial characteristics. The first is the passion some young Englishmen have for savage solitudes, far from the madding crowd. It is this intense love of utter personal freedom and sense of personal power combined with a real joy in danger which qualifies so many of them to go alone to wild and inaccessible regions, among wild tribes, and there establish and maintain order.

Men who have once tasted this life are apt forever afterwards to find civilization and its conventional restrictions irksome. To us the settlement of Entebbe seemed the outpost of the world. To those officials who came from the interior, where they probably had not seen a white person for months, it seemed next door to London, and its strict observance of social customs soon drove these lovers of freedom back to their solitudes, rejoicing; while many of these officials, whose duties kept them at Entebbe, sighed for the liberty of remote stations.

We Americans are, as a rule, gregarious, lovers of cities and frequenters of highways. The impulse which enables Great Britain to cope successfully with wildernesses is almost lacking in our makeup, and I never got over the wonder of the spectacle of these splendid types of British youth, gently born and bred, delighting in their lonely and often perilous strife with savage conditions.

Race Hatred Hidden, but Undying.

And, to go on to the second racial trait, there is that in the wild peoples among whom the English live in Africa which is always eluding them, a certain profound racial hatred and antipathy which rarely shows on the surface, but which exists nevertheless and manifests itself in such acts as the murder of Harry Galt. The natives of East Africa and of Uganda resent the British dominion. They cannot now shake it off. They live in apparent amity and they try to enjoy a civilization which is antipathetic to them. They hate work and they love fighting. The English force them to toil and have almost abolished their bloody, intertribal wars. Apparent peace reigns, but the instincts and tendencies of savages can only be checked, not altered, in a couple of generations.

Harry St. George Galt was a fine specimen of Anglo-Saxon manhood; a plucky young fellow, a good shot, a good friend—what would be called a "good all around sport"—and had a widowed mother and sister dependent on him. He was more than usually popular with the natives among whom he lived. Yet on the above date, as he sat in front of his grass hut, a young native, named Lutakara, came up, and, without warning, stabbed him, running a spear into his lungs near his heart.

English Boy's Lonely Death.

Galt was alone at the time and, according to the report of his own native servants, ran to the cook's hut and, gasping out that he had been killed, fell to the ground, the blood gushing from his mouth and from the wound. He died in a few minutes, alone, in an African forest with only African savages about him.

The murderer was in his turn killed almost immediately by two other natives, Gabriell and Isaka, and therein lies the mystery of the affair, for evidence was brought out at the trial which proved that the murderers of Lutakara had themselves incited him to the deed. Their motive in doing away with him was to abolish his evidence and to establish themselves with the English as avengers of British wrongs.

Some years before Lutakara's brother had died, supposedly from an impure vaccination performed by an English doctor. The conspirators are thought to have so worked on the surviving brother's feelings as to have incited him to murder. Galt was the nearest white man. He was alone and accessible, so the deed was done.

Murder to Satisfy Hate.

The motive of Gabriell and Isaka and others working with them is, however, further to seek. With some the theory was that their inspiration came by indirect channels from the court of Uganda at Kampala, where the young king sits surrounded by his chiefs and nominally under the protection of England, practically under her direction and suzerainty. But this could not be proved. All the mystery of the dark continent shrouded the case beyond the proved complicity of Gabriell, Isaka, and some minor actors in the drama.

There are certain workings of the African mind which no white man can follow or fathom. A glint here and there shows a hidden world unknown. These childlike, black races have some savage potentialities which give a sinister quality to their naïveté. Friendly as they may appear to be, devoted as they certainly are in individual instances, it is a fact that the black races do not like the white people. The tenure of the Anglo-Saxon in central Africa is that of the animal trainer in a cage full of trained lions and tigers.

The trial of those connected with the murder of Mr. Galt was held in the high court of Uganda, sitting in Entebbe during our stay there, and we were much interested in the case. It was tried under Indian laws and court procedure, so there was no jury. The lawyers on both sides presented their cases. The judge summed up the evidence and pronounced sentence.

Scene in Courtroom Curious.

The courthouse is a long, one story building with projecting roofs, and standing on a fine, overlooking site. At one end of the large, bare courtroom the judge sat in wig and gown on a raised platform. The prisoners, in wooden open pens, stood below him to the left, guarded by native soldiers in kahki uniforms. To the right sat the lawyers, also in gowns.

One of the prisoners, Isaka, had a fine head, almost classic in lines. The others were of the ordinary Waganda type, clean limbed, not large, not black. The courtroom was packed with a large percentage of natives among the onlookers. The windows on all four sides were open, and the warm noonday breezes came through, while outside more natives could be seen lounging about, and beyond lay the green fields and woods sloping to the broad, glassy stretches of the lake.

The conduct of the case was exemplary. Each side was stated clearly and briefly. Witnesses were examined carefully, by means of an interpreter, due respect being given to even the most trivial evidence, and there was much that was childlike, as all the witnesses were natives, and they wandered and became involved in their testimony. But out of it all a clear case was evolved on which the judge based his summing up and sentence. The latter was hanging for the two principals and imprisonment for varying terms for the other prisoners.

Justice Done Without Display.

The serious dignity which characterized the trial, the conciseness with which each side presented its case, the lack of forensic display, together with the care for justice, made a deep impression on me. We Americans would have been more dramatic in arriving at similar ends.

As a parting gift my brother-in-law gave me the kiboko, or rhinoceros hide whip, which Mr. Galt always carried with him through African solitudes, swamps, and jungles, which was hanging on his wrist when he was murdered, and which now hangs in my room.

I never knew Mr. Galt, but the sight of that tough, leathern thong often brings up not only the vision of the brave young Englishman, the only son of a widow, who met a cruel, needless death but of all the other plucky fellows who are out there in those wildernesses working out the destiny of the dark continent.

The pay they get is small, the praise they get is hardly larger, but the joy that is theirs in the work, in the loneliness, and in the danger is exceeding, and worth all the rest put together.

TEN PERSONS ON WAITING LIST OF "TRIBUNE" HOSPITAL.

Effort Is Being Made to Reach $2,000 Mark in Contributions This Week—Two More Pathetic Stories of Childhood Toil and Suffering Are Told—Citizens of West Chicago Plan to Form an Organization to Aid the Work.

Following are the contributions to THE TRIBUNE's hospital and free ice fund:

Contributions received up to yesterday	$1,098.45
Victor F. Lawson	50.00
Francis Beidler	15.00
J. C. H.	10.00
Mrs. Marian R. Wheeler	10.00
Emma D., Fort Madison, Ia.	10.00
Marian C. Benzeville, 9 Burton place	5.00
From Emily and Arch Richards, Geneva, Ill.	5.00
Dorothy Cohen	1.00
"?"	1.00
Total	$1,205.45

An effort is being made to reach the $2,000 mark this week in order that the hospital accommodations may be permanently increased. Contributions should be sent to The Tribune company, checks to be made payable to F. H. Rawson, treasurer.

Few TRIBUNE readers could have talked with Sadie yesterday without being devoutly glad that there is a TRIBUNE hospital for the little girl to go to. Rarely has a more pathetic case of crippled childhood been taken to the hospital since its inception.

Sadie is not literally crippled. As the doctor said, she has merely "turned to leather inside." She is 16 years old and has the face of a woman of 40. Ever since she was 9 years old she has done manual labor, most of the time pasting labels at the stockyards.

Toil Takes Life from Child.

This monotonous round of toil, coupled with a starved home life, has robbed her of joyousness, animation, and even interest. Her frame is emaciated, her eyes dull. At 16 she is, according to the doctor, "pretty nearly played out."

She was one of the five patients taken out to the grounds yesterday to fill up five vacancies created on Sunday. The waiting list has ten others; it may not unlikely reach thirty before the week is up.

Aid for Another Child.

Another child in yesterday's group was taken from the Crippled Children's hospital at the earnest request of the management, who declared that what she needed most was fresh air and country living. She is 12 years old and is suffering from a curvature of the spine. Last year she lost both her parents and, through neglect and other causes, has grown emaciated and sickly.

As the outgrowth of an informal meeting held on the hospital lawn Sunday afternoon, the residents of West Chicago are organizing an auxiliary to the hospital, with subcommittees to look after the various needs of the work. To this end a meeting was held last night in the First Congregational church. It was addressed by R. M. Little of the bureau of charities. The organization will be completed today.

NEW HEAD OF SUBTREASURY TO CARE FOR $60,000,000.

William P. Williams Retires and Is Succeeded by William Boldenweck in United States Office.

Almost $60,000,000 changed hands yesterday when William P. Williams, for eight years at the head of the local United States subtreasury, left the office and was succeeded by William Boldenweck. As Mr. Williams left the service of the government Cashier Frank C. Russell presented him with a chest of silver as a mark of appreciation of the thirty-five men who served under him.

S. W. Lantz and three men from the treasury in Washington are in Chicago checking over the accounts under Mr. Williams' administration. Mr. Boldenweck will not receipt for the money until it has all been accounted for and checked up with the books in the office.

"I leave the office with a great deal of regret," said Mr. Williams. "It has been a hard task, but I believe I came out all right, at least I was reappointed. Business has increased wonderfully since I went into the office and I believe is destined to a still greater increase."

ELIGIBLES TO WIN FIRE JOBS.

Chief Horan Will Abide by Civil Service Lists—Will Not Make Promotions.

Chief Horan yesterday asked the civil service commission for a list of the firemen highest on the civil service list for promotion to be assistant fire marshal, battalion chief, and captain. The chief declared his intention of abiding by civil service markings in choosing men for promotion rather than exercise his prerogative of promoting to the positions men whom he saw fit.

Those highest on the list for assistant fire marshal in the order named, according to civil service markings, are Thomas O'Connor, 2406 Wentworth avenue; Patrick J. Donohue, 1019 West Twelfth street. Battalion chief—David W. Evans, 3030 Haynes court; Charles N. Heaney, 1131 Montana street; George H. McAllister, 3747 Wabash avenue. For captain, Charles P. Becker, 6813 Champlain avenue, stands highest.

William J. Galligan, clerk in the bureau of compensation, will be compelled to relinquish his position through his failure to pass the civil service examination. Those who qualified for Galligan's position in the order named are James M. Slattery, 6437 Minerva avenue; Henry V. McGurren, 1282 Adams street; August F. Hintze, 5405 West Indiana street.

The civil service commission also ordered an examination for the position of chief food inspector, now held on a temporary appointment by Patrick J. Murray.

BIG DOCKET FOR GRAND JURY.

July Body of Inquisitors Will Endeavor to Dispose of More than Five Hundred Complaints.

Onward Bates, 329 Belden avenue, was chosen for foreman of the July grand jury, which was sworn in yesterday before Judge Dupuy.

More than 500 cases have been placed on the docket for consideration by the jurors, and it is possible that they may remain in session three weeks and endeavor to dispose of all the complaints before the summer vacation begins.

The court read to the jurors a few paragraphs on "bucket shop" procedure as defined by the statutes.

JOE JEFFERSON'S WILL FILED.

The property is an apartment building in Kenwood. It is valued at $75,000.

In a codicil attached to the will and dated Dec. 14, 1904, a number bequests are made among them being one to ex-President Grover Cleveland as follows:

"To my friend, the Hon. Grover Cleveland, I bequeath my best Kentucky reel."

REAL ESTATE NEWS AND TRANSFERS.

Plans will be completed tomorrow for two new south side field houses for the city park system to cost $75,000 each. One will be erected in Hardin Square, a new park at the southeast corner of Twenty-fifth street and Wentworth avenue, and the other at Forty-sixth place and Princeton avenue. The south park commissioners are to supervise the work of construction. The buildings will contain gymnasiums, baths, reading rooms, and restaurants.

The lease for the property at the northwest corner of State and Quincy streets to Charles Ruppert Sr., for ninety-nine years, was filed for record yesterday. The lessors are Antoinette Dangler of Cleveland and Eliza C. Hamill of Chicago.

The leasehold of the Athenæum building, 18 to 26 Van Buren street, has been assigned from Joseph E. and Ralph C. Otis to Mary O. Jenkins and Florence O. Buckingham for a nominal consideration of $10. The rental of the property at the present time is $8,000 a year. The board of review in 1905 gave the property a valuation of $240,000.

Matthew Cullen of Salt Lake, Utah, has secured a loan of $50,000, for five years at 5 per cent, from the trustees of Peter Fahrney. The loan is secured by a mortgage on the property, 100x191 feet, on Cottage Grove avenue, 231 feet south of Thirty-seventh street, east front.

The Goodman Manufacturing company has secured a loan of $150,000 at 5½ per cent until 1918, covered by a trust deed on property between Forty-eighth street and Forty-eighth place on Morgan street, and other property.

A copy of the will of the late Joseph Jefferson, the actor, who owned the Valkyrie flats at 71-77 Forty-seventh street, has been filed at the recorder's office.

More west side property was transferred to Caroline B. Harris for railroad purposes. It is claimed by brokers that the St. Paul railway is most interested in the deals.

18 MILK DEALERS ARRESTED.

Prisoners Accused of Delivering Bottles on Which Capacity Had Not Been Indicated.

Eighteen milk men were arrested in a crusade of City Sealer Grein against dealers who had failed to comply with the city ordinance requiring the capacity to be ineffaceably stamped upon milk bottles. The ordinance went into effect yesterday. It requires that the capacity be either blown in the bottles or engraved on the glass by sand blast or otherwise. Among those arrested were the drivers of three wagons of the Bowman Dairy company, one of the Borden's Condensed Milk company, the Flannigan La Fox Dairy, 896 Jackson boulevard, and the Milk Product company, 73 Loomis street.

RATE LAW CAUSES TANGLE

RAILROAD MEN HAVE DIFFERENT OPINIONS AT MEETING.

Officials of All Trunk Lines Running West from Chicago Represented in Conference Held Here—Legal and Traffic Departments to Act Through Committees Which Are Appointed—General Policy Will Be Formulated Over New Regulations.

When the executive officials and lawyers for the western railways met here yesterday morning it was discovered there are as many interpretations of the new interstate commerce law as there are lawyers. The traffic officials of each road naturally would be governed in their actions under the law by the interpretation put upon it by their own attorneys. It was thought best to form committees to take the matter up and get as nearly a uniform interpretation as possible.

Every trunk line operating west of Chicago was represented.

While the general disposition is to try and obey the law to the best of their understanding, it was known some of the railroads are anxious to bring a test case to discover any possible imperfections in the law. The railroad men feel the new law takes away some of their constitutional privileges.

Two Committees Are Named.

As the result of the meeting two committees were appointed to formulate a general policy. First there was a committee of traffic men to revise the traffic situation. The legal committee will be advisory and no rules will be formulated by the traffic committee as final until they have been passed upon by the lawyers.

The traffic committee is composed of the following officials:

W. B. Biddle, vice president of the Rock Island; Darius Miller, vice president of the Burlington; Ben Campbell, vice president of the Great Northern; H. R. McCullough, vice president of the Northwestern; J. H. Hiland, vice president of the St. Paul; J. W. Blabon, traffic manager of the Alton; J. M. Johnson, assistant to the vice president of the Gould lines; D. O. Ives, traffic manager of the Wabash; C. Haile, traffic manager of the M., K. & T.; C. L. Wellington, traffic manager of the Colorado Southern; T. J. Hudson, traffic manager of the Illinois Central; William Sproule, freight traffic manager of the Southern Pacific; J. C. Stubbs, traffic director of the Harriman lines, and Samuel C. Stickney, vice president of the Great Western.

The railroad attorneys to whom all questions will be put up for final determination, and who will compose the legal committee, are as follows:

L. B. Brower of the Northwestern, George R. Peck of the St. Paul, C. W. Bunn of the Northern Pacific, R. M. Shaw of the Alton, Gardiner Lathrop of the Santa Fé, C. N. Travous of the Wabash, W. E. Osborne of the El Paso and Southwestern, Richard A. Jackson of the Rock Island, J. W. Blythe of the Burlington, J. M. Dickinson of the Illinois Central, P. F. Dunn of the Southern Pacific, and J. M. Baldwin of the Union Pacific.

Appeal Writs Allowed by Court.

Judge Grosscup granted the Chicago and Alton railroad company, John N. Faithorn, and Fred A. Wann writs of supersedeas late in the afternoon, staying the execution of a fine aggregating $60,000 assessed against the defendants a short time ago by Judge Landis on charges of granting illegal rebates to the Schwarzschild & Sulzberger packing corporation.

At the same time a bond of $60,000 covering the fine, pending an appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, was filed by Attorneys Winston, Payne & Strawn. A bill of exceptions was filed and with the record in the case it will go to the Court of Appeals.

St. Paul, Minn., July 16.—W. H. Chadbourn Jr. of Beaver, Pa., where he has been engaged in the United States survey service, who was appointed chief engineer of the Chicago Great Western railroad, today assumed charge. Chadbourn succeeds A. Munster, who recently resigned to engage in private business.

Man's Body Found in River.

The body of an unidentified man, apparently 45 years old, was taken from the river at Halsted street yesterday by the police of the Canalport avenue station. The body was taken to 2518 Lowe avenue.

MAILS MOVED IN SUBWAY.

TUNNEL AT LAST BEGINS ON ITS GOVERNMENT CONTRACT.

Shares Firm on the Exchange, Closing at Highest Price of Day—Savings Bank Deposits Show Decrease, Probably Due to Withdrawal for Investment in Real Estate Mortgages—London Statist Bullish on United States.

In the local stock market Chicago Subway shares firmed up, closing at the best price of the day. The company yesterday began work on its government contract, conveying mail between the postoffice and the La Salle street station. At last the company is beginning the use of tunnels the construction of which has been finished for months and years.

American Radiator preferred sold off to 117¾. The selling was small, but there is small market for the shares.

There were a few trades in Hubbard-Elliott stock, one of the Boston copper shares which has been listed on the local exchange.

Savings Bank Depositors.

Deposits at the savings banks show in most instances a decrease. It appears that the inducement offered to buy real estate mortgages bearing a high rate of interest is proving attractive to savings depositors. Whether these mortgages will be so attractive a few years hence, when buildings begin to depreciate and rent rolls run down, is yet to be determined. A 6 per cent mortgage can usually be safely avoided by a small investor.

Local Money Market.

The local money market rules steady to firm. With some of the trust companies the minimum rate, or the going rate, is 5½ per cent. They have some loans under this figure, but not sufficient in volume to establish a market.

London Bullish on United States.

The London Statist takes an optimistic view of crop and railroad conditions in this country. Its prediction is that the harvests in 1906 will be better than the previous year. It adds that so far as the prosperity of the country is governed by the prosperity of the railways, there is likely to be greater expansion than contraction. It continues:

"Railway earnings of the last year have enormously increased and the profits which will be shown to have been earned for the twelve months to June 30 will reach unprecedented figures. Further, it is to be borne in mind that the railway companies have for the last seven or eight years devoted vast sums out of profits to improving their properties and that the physical condition of the permanent way and of the rolling stock of the railways of the United States has never been equal to what it is now. From one end of the country to the other heavy rails have taken the place of light ones, strong and permanent bridges the place of temporary ones, ballasted tracks for tracks unballasted, and efficient and high capacity rolling stock for engines and cars of a lower type.

"Consequently, so far as the condition of the road and rolling stock of the various companies is concerned, there is less reason than there has ever been for the heavy betterment outlays to continue. And the financial strength of the railways has improved even in greater proportion than the physical condition. Seven or eight years ago many of the companies had difficulty in earning their standard rates of dividend and many of them their fixed charges. Now the profits earned in most cases are equal to double the rates of dividend paid. This greatly changed position of the railways has induced them in the last two or three years to extend or to widen their lines at the expense both of capital and revenue. This improved credit has enabled them to issue bonds at a relatively low rate of interest.

"Owing to the activity of trade and the rise in the value of money, prices of fixed interest bearing securities have tended to decline, and it is less easy now to raise capital at the low rates current a little while ago. During the last two months the difficulty of issuing additional amounts of bonds at low rates of interest has been accentuated by two circumstances. First, the San Francisco disaster has temporarily affected the power of American insurance offices to purchase bonds; indeed, has turned them from buyers to sellers; and, secondly, the trust companies have been called upon to accumulate a considerable amount of cash reserve which has affected their power to purchase securities for the time being. And under these circumstances new issues of bonds are not readily placed. But it will be recalled that a misfortune such as that of San Francisco is quite a temporary matter and that its influence will gradually disappear."

Railroad Common Stock Profits.

In a circular issued by Alfred L. Baker & Co., bearing on profits applicable to the common stock of railroads, the appended table appears. Preferred dividends are included in charges and all appropriations for betterments are regarded as deductions from final surplus after paying common dividends. The figures, covering five year averages of fifteen railways, follow:

More Banks to Increase Capital.

Evidence continues that the controller of the currency has pretty well convinced the national banks that the amendment to the banking act by which individual loans are limited to 30 per cent of the capital is to be enforced. It is announced the Chase National of New York is considering increasing its capital from $1,000,000 to $10,000,000, and that the Chemical National will probably convert a part of its $7,748,500 surplus and profits into capital. The latter now stands at $300,000.

Gary to Go Abroad.

According to present plans of the American Shipbuilding directors no action, it is said, will be taken on the common stock until the autumn meeting.

It is announced from Washington that Secretary Shaw intends to deposit with the new depositaries between $7,000,000 and $10,000,000 of the funds called in from the banks. He has deposited approximately $4,000,000 in this manner.

Directors of the Diamond Match company are slated to hold their next quarterly meeting in New York in the week of Aug. 8, when the dividend policy may be acted upon.

Minority Stockholders' Committee Issues Circular Attacking Letter Sent Out by the Management.

NEW YORK, July 16.—[Special.]—The minority stockholders' committee of Wells, Fargo & Co. put out a long circular today, replying to the statements made by the management in the circular letter sent out ten days ago. The circular says the stock of the company was selling at 230 when the movement began. Since then, it alleges, "Mr. Harriman, through Hjalmar H. Boyesen, has been traveling around New England in search of proxies and offering $290 per share to the stockholders who refused their proxies.

"A few weeks ago Messrs. Kuhn, Loeb & Co., who are the bankers for Harriman, sent $198,000 to Springfield, Mass., to be used for the purchase of stock. This desire to acquire stock may account for the solicitous conservatism that was emphasized in the circular. We urge you, however, not to sell your stock. We believe it will be intrinsically worth more than $400.

"We already represent over 56 per cent of the stockholders. We expect to be able to vote a clear majority on Aug. 9, but as we cannot tell what stock the management may buy in the meantime, and thus revoke the existing proxies, we are anxious to secure as large a support as possible."

The letter paid high tribute to the work of the firemen and Chief Horan.

THE characteristics that have made Blatz Beers world-famed are an invariable feature of each brand. Whether your dealer offers you Blatz "Private Stock," "Wiener," "Export" or "Muenchener," you will be sure of a beer that's brewed for quality along either Bohemian or Bavarian lines by the Blatz Process.

Private Stock
BLATZ—MILWAUKEE

And it's this very process that's the answer to the much talked of Blatz Character—that "peculiarly good taste." All of the fundamental and essential elements of honest brewing are only the "setting" on which is built Blatz Individuality. If you're a lover of draught beer—keg beer—you should cultivate the "Blatz Sign habit."

Bottled Blatz is available, or should be, in most first-class places. Ask for Blatz Private Stock.

WHEAT IS GIVEN A LIFT ON GOSSIP FROM ABROAD.

Small World's Shipments and a Big Decrease in Supplies on Ocean Passage Combine with Sharp Upturn at Liverpool to Strengthen Local Market—Corn and Oats Weaker on Favorable Crop Conditions — Hog Products Are Easier.

Foreign news and statistics were the bulls' big cards in the wheat market yesterday. Largely on the strength of cable information the cereal was lifted to advances of ⅝c for July, ⅝@¾c for September, ⅝c for December, and ½@⅝c for May over the closing quotations of the previous session. These advances were within ¼@⅜c of the top gains of the day. From a domestic point of view sentiment had a bearish color, but the pronounced bullishness of the matter from abroad overcame conditions in this country which were considered favorable to the bear side of the market. Bulls, apparently more hopeful than for several days past, rebuilded much of their hope on conditions abroad.

The amount on ocean passage was given as 30,600,000 bu, a decrease of 3,176,000 bu, compared to 42,032,000 bu a year before. The visible supply statement showed a decrease of 709,000 bu, against losses of 935,000 bu the week before, and 1,084,000 bu the similar time last year.

The upturn here was made in the face of liberal offerings from northwestern traders, who were prompted to selling by cool weather and a generally favorable outlook in the spring wheat territory. Hedging sales against generous country acceptances of bids for the new winter wheat, important in the aggregate, also had to be overcome in the march to a higher level. While the country sales were large they were reported to be less than those of the latter part of last week. The receipts at the leading southwestern points were enormous, but Kansas City advised that the acceptances showed a falling off. Primary arrivals were large, totaling 1,403,000 bu, against 670,000 bu a week before, and 1,070,000 bu a year before. The receipts at Duluth and Minneapolis were 341 cars, compared to 239 cars last week, and 202 cars last year. Local receipts were 354 cars, of which 331 graded contract, showing the excellent quality of the grain offered. Some selling was indulged in late on the estimated receipts for today—702 cars.

Export Sales Are Made.

There was a strong belief in some circles that the export business has been greater than the trade has supposed. Sales from Chicago, Winnipeg, and Duluth were reported, but advices from New York pictured the foreign demand as tame. Final prices in this market were 78½c for July, 78⅞c for September, 80⅝c for December, and 83⅝@83¾c for May. There were scattered rains in the southwest, the precipitations in northern Texas being reported sufficient to curtail the movement of the grain from that section.

Rains Against Corn Prices.

Corn, only moderately active at its best, moved within a range of about ½c, displaying a weaker undertone after the early trading. Final prices showed declines of 1-16c for July, ⅛@¼c for September, ¼c for December, and ⅛@¼c for May. There was some reaction from the session's softest spots because of too great liberties taken by shorts, who had been prompted in their selling by good rains in important sections of the belt and by a generally improved outlook for the growing crop. The local cash market was lower, with elevator concerns the principal supporters. The owners of the warehouses were said to have sold in the pit against their purchases at the sample tables. The world's exports last week totaled 4,899,000 bu, against shipments of 4,892,000 bu the week before, and 3,724,000 bu the corresponding period in 1905. The supplies of the cereal on ocean passage—19,582,000 bu—showed a decrease of 643,000 bu, and the visible supply statement showed a loss of 412,000 bu, compared to decreases of 486,000 bu the week before and 65,000 bu the similar time last year. Local arrivals were 242 cars, of which 102 cars graded contract, and the total primary receipts were 548,000 bu, against 628,000 bu a year before. The estimated receipts for today were 405 cars. Some houses reported larger acceptances of bids in the country, but the majority of advices indicated but little improvement along this line.

Country Sells Oats.

Weakness developed in the oats market after the first few minutes of trading, chiefly on improved weather and crop conditions and on further pressure of country selling for future delivery. Prices kept within a narrow range, and the market throughout was dull and devoid of special feature. The cash market was quiet, prices being lower. Local receipts were 106 cars, of which 23 were graded contract, and total primary arrivals aggregated 703,000 bu. DeWitt county, this state, sent in its first thrashing reports, the yield being fixed at 38 bu to the acre, a little under that of last year. The visible supply decreased 285,000 bu, against losses of 73,000 bu the week before, and 892,000 bu last year. Final prices showed ⅛c lower for July, ⅛@¼c off for September, ⅛c lower for December, and ¼c weaker for May.

Provisions Are Weaker.

Large receipts of hogs here and at the leading western points and lower values at the yards were factors which worked for a weaker tone in the provision market. The average weight of hogs last week was the heaviest of the year. The receipts at the local yards were 58,000, or 18,000 in excess of the number expected, and the leading western points reported 88,400 received, compared to 65,700 a week before and 62,700 a year before. There were reports that packers were consigning lard to Europe. Pit operators declared that the cash inquiry was fair for almost everything except lard and ribs. Final prices showed declines of 5c for the deferred pork options and 2½c higher for the July, losses of 5c for lard and a break of 2½@5c for ribs.

Rye Values Unchanged.

Rye was dull and unchange. Practically no business was transacted. Receipts were 3 cars. The visible supply decreased 16,000 bu, and there was a decrease in local stocks of 5,500 bu. No. 2 in store was nominally 60@62c; July, 59c. September sold at 59½c, but on the last call was 59c bid, offered at 59⅝c.

The barley demand was slow and offerings of good quality barley were scarce. Prices were a shade lower. Nineteen cars were inspected in. Call prices were: Feed—September, 39¼c bid, 39⅝c asked; October, 39¼c bid, 39⅝c asked; December, 39½c bid, 40c asked. No. 3—September and October, 44c bid, 45½c asked; December, 44c bid, 45c asked. Screenings were quoted 27@40c.

Timothy seed was comparatively active, with prices steady. Cash lots sold $3.25@3.85. Call prices were: July, $4.25 asked; August, $5.00 bid; September, $4.25 bid, $4.45 asked. Country lots were $2.50@4.00.

Flaxseed was dull and with no quotable change. Receipts were 2⅛ cars here, with 44 cars at Minneapolis, and 89 cars at Duluth. No. 1 northwestern was $1.09; No. 1, $1.05½; September, $1.07.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

Sales of cash wheat here yesterday were 90,000 bu, including 40,000 bu No. 2 hard sold for direct export and 50,000 bu mixed lots to local millers. Prices were firm; ¾@1c over September on track for No. 2 red; September price to 1c under for new No. 2 hard; 2c over September in store for No. 1 northern. Acceptances were reported large, but not as heavy as last week. At Kansas City there was a brisk demand, only about half the receipts being on the tables, the balance being sold when arrived. Prices were ¾c higher. A message from there said: "There is something big doing in sales of wheat, two exporting houses have taken the hedges off of 250,000 bu, and are buying September." Later advices said that at least 150,000 bu had been worked for export. No. 2 hard was quoted 71¾@73c; No. 2 red, 72½@73c. St. Louis was ½@¾c higher, with the market cleaned up early. No. 2 red closed at 76⅛@77c. No. 1 northern at Minneapolis was 1¾@2c over July, with a fair demand. There was a marked increase in the foreign inquiry, sales in all positions aggregating 260,000 bu, including 40,000 bu No. 2 hard here, 80,000 bu at Duluth, presumably Durum wheat; 40,000 bu Manitoba No. 1 northern reported from Winnipeg at 1c over Saturday's price, and 150,000 bu at Kansas City. Bids received by local exporting houses were reported showing some improvement, but still 1¼@1½c out of line in the majority of cases. New York wired that they did not expect much business. Prices of sample corn here were off ¼@½c, with the eastern demand practically dead. Oats also were heavy, ½@1c lower. Sales were 100,000 bu corn and 120,000 bu oats.

World's wheat shipments, 3,832,000 bu less than a week ago, and 3,344,000 bu lighter than the same week a year ago. The biggest falling off was in Russian and Danubian shipments, which were about half as large as a week ago and 3,000,000 bu less than last year. America was the largest shipper, for the first time in several months. Following are the total wheat and corn shipments, with comparisons:

The wheat visible showed a decrease for the week of 709,000 bu, the large receipts of last week not showing in the figures, as they went principally into private houses. The previous week there was a decrease of 935,000 bu, and a year ago one of 1,084,000 bu. Corn supplies were 412,000 bu less than the previous week, compared with decreases of 486,000 bu and 65,000 bu the week previous and last year respectively. Oats decreased 285,000 bu, against a loss of 73,000 bu the week before, and 892,000 bu decrease in the corresponding week of 1905. Rye decreased 16,000 bu, and barley showed a gain of 213,000 bu. Following are the comparative totals:

	Last week.	Prev. week.	Last year.

Peavey was the heaviest seller of wheat early, with Pringle, Lake, Wells, and northwestern houses also selling. Patten was a good buyer around 79c. Lindman, Rankin, Pringle, and Kidston were late buyers. In corn there was good buying by Cudahy, Love, Bartlett-Frazier, and commission houses, with West, Crighton, and Pringle leading sellers. Buying of oats was scattered, with Wells taking a fair line. Country houses, Nye-Jenks, Rankin, and Rogers were leading sellers. Packers supported the provision list, Armour taking the July ribs, and Swift the September lard. Wolff and Hately also bought ribs. Tietgens was a good seller of lard.

A prominent Chicago grain man wired from New York. "From what I can gather from exporters here, the foreigners are coming for wheat and have covered a good many short contracts in the options today. The weather in south Russia is bad and has been for a long time, and the quality of their wheat undoubtedly has been impaired, and they have no machinery in their country to dry out grain. Shipments will be light for some time. Of course we have a large crop to dispose of, and this will check any sharp upward turn to the market, but foreign buying on weak spots around this level will stop any material decline."

Contract stocks of wheat in local public elevators decreased 127,247 bu last week. Corn stocks decreased 67,464 bu, and oats 114,775 bu. Following are the totals, with comparisons:

A Grand Forks letter to Bennett from a responsible and well posted business man there said: "The only talk of rust there is about here whatsoever appears in the Twin City papers. We have had splendid weather for the last ten days. We are sure that if there was any good ground upon which to base a report of this kind we would know it, for some of our own men who are continuously in the field would know it and report it to us."

A ballot vote will be taken tomorrow on the proposed amendments to the rules providing for the establishment of a "call" for corn and oats to arrive, immediately after the close of the regular business session of the board each day, and for a change in the present rule relating to the procedure in presenting petitions to the directors.

C. E. Lewis, Minneapolis, who has been inspecting the northwest wheat crop, wired: "I am home this morning. I don't think Minnesota will raise as much wheat as last year, but believe North Dakota and Manitoba will raise considerably more, based on present conditions, but it will be four weeks before the crop is safe."

Stocks of grain in local public elevators on July 14, with comparisons, were:

Closing prices for wheat in foreign markets were: Liverpool, ⅞@1d higher; Antwerp, unchanged; Paris, holiday; Berlin, ¾c higher; Buda Pesth, ⅝c lower.

Minneapolis claimed that the largest export sales of flour in years had been done there yesterday morning. No particulars were given out.

Deliveries on July contracts were 55,000 bu wheat, 205,000 bu corn, 10,000 bu oats, 250 brls pork, 600,000 lbs short ribs.

Estimated receipts for today are: Wheat, 702 cars; corn, 405 cars; oats, 185 cars; barley, 10 cars; hogs, 23,000.

A private Hamburg cable said that rain was interfering with the Russian and Danubian wheat harvests.

A private cable from Odessa was that there was no basis for claims of damage in Russia.

RECOVERY IN NEW YORK.

CLOSING PRICES ON STOCK EXCHANGE SHOW GOOD GAINS.

Bears' Efforts to Cover Short Contracts, Coupled with Continued Laxity in Selling Demands, Forces Raise in Prices Which Withstands a Falling Off in Buying Towards the Close—Call Money Easy Despite Large Early Requirements.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, July 16.—[Special.]—Uncovered bears showed some uneasiness today, and, although the buying was not on a large scale, they were forced to raise bids consecutively to fill their needs on account of the small selling pressure, which held despite the raise in prices. The demand of the bears became dull late in the day, and there were factional recessions and a heavy closing, but the selling pressure remained light and the day's business showed substantial net gains.

The principal event of the day was the purchase in the London market of $2,000,000 in gold for shipment to New York and the demonstration of the ability to draw gold without the aid of government deposits caused an easier feeling in the money market.

Opinion was general that the demand for stocks was still largely confined to the short interest, and it was not considered probable that other demand would spring up at the sharp recovery after having been so backward at all recessions. The belief has become prevalent, however, that buying of a substantial character has been in effect on a down scale for several days.

The call money market here was easy in spite of some large requirements falling due on the 15th and the 40 per cent installment payable on Baltimore and Ohio subscriptions. Saturday's strong bank statement had some effect in helping stocks. Something was made also of the coming return of J. P. Morgan to New York, which occasioned a revival of the report of the Great Northern ore lands deal with the United States Steel corporation.

Some unfavorable effect was reported on miscellaneous bonds by the release of state and municipal bonds which had been accepted as security for the $10,000,000 of government deposits which the secretary of the treasury has recalled.

The rise in the minor Vanderbilts was based on the organized agitation for an increase in the dividend distribution on Michigan Central.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $1,725,000. United States new 4s advanced ¼, the 3s and old 4s ½, and 2s ⅜ on call.

Money on call, easy; 2½@3 per cent; ruling rate, 2⅝; closing bid, 2¼; offered at 2⅝. Time loans, strong; sixty days, 4¼@4½ per cent; ninety days, 4½; six months, 5½@5¾. Prime mercantile paper, 5@5½ per cent. Sterling exchange steady at 484.50@484.55 for demand and at 481.80@481.85 for 60 day bills. Posted rate, 482½@485½. Commercial bills, 481⅝. Bar silver, 65⅝. Mexican dollars, 50½. Government bonds strong. Railroad bonds irregular.

IN THE NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, July 16.—A firmer tone was evident in the dry goods market today, largely in consequence of a renewal of demand for coarse sheetings and drills for domestic and export use. The China trade recently has taken 6,000 bales of 4 yard and 5 yard goods, and the domestic demand has increased until an advance of ⅛c is recorded. Print cloths were firmer, and bleached sheetings well sold for next ten weeks.

Metals—Tin in London advanced, closing at £168 15s for spot and £168 10s for futures. The local market was firm and higher; spot, $36.75@36.90. Copper in London had a sharp advance, closing at £79 15s for spot and £79 for futures. Locally, the market was dull and nominally unchanged; lake, $18.87½@18.75; electrolytic, $18.12½@18.25; casting, $17.75@18.00. Lead was unchanged at $5.75 locally. In London it was higher at £16 8s 9d. Spelter declined to £26 7s 6d in London. Locally, the market was quiet at $5.95@6.00. Iron in London was 3d higher at 49s 10d for standard foundry, and at 50s 11½d for Cleveland warrants. Locally, iron was steady; No. 1 foundry northern, $18.25@18.75; No. 2 foundry northern, $17.75@18.25; No. 1 foundry southern, $17.50@18.00; No. 2 foundry southern, $17.00@17.50.

Antimony—The local market was weak and dull. Cookson's was offered at 22½@23½c; Hallett's, 22½@23½c; Japanese, none here; other brands, 21@22c. In the London market Hallett's was weak at £110, and ordinary brands easy at £105.

Buter—Steady; receipts, 8,114 pkgs. Official prices: Creamery, common to extra, 16½@20½c; renovated, common to extra, 12@18½c; western factory, common to firsts, 13@17c. Butter in Philadelphia, firm; extra western creamery, 21.

Eggs—Firm, receipts, 11,245 cases; western firsts, 17@17½c; do lower grades, 15@16½c. Eggs in Philadelphia, steady; western fresh, 18c at mark.

IN THE BOSTON MONEY MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., July 16.—[Special.]—Business was not brisk in the Boston market today, but prices were generally firm and even strong in some cases, though the advances did not equal those in New York, the short interest here not being extended.

The gains in coppers, aside from Amalgamated, were largely confined to fractions. Home rails and industrials gained moderately.

IN FOREIGN MONEY MARKETS.

LONDON, July 16.—Supplies of money were plentiful today and the demand was moderate. Discounts were quiet and easier. There was a better undertone on the stock exchange and bull dealings were limited. Consols hardened and home rails were fractionally dearer. Foreigners benefited by Paris support, the more favorable Russian news was responsible for a rally in Russian bonds, and the market developed a stronger tone.

The favorable New York bank statement caused a firm opening of Americans which developed an advance of ¼@⅞ points over parity in the forenoon, and later, with New York supporting, a further improvement occurred and prices closed firm. Kaffirs eased on the death of Alfred Beit, but hardened on Paris buying and bears' covering and closed firm. Japanese imperial 6s of 1904 closed at 102.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 16.—Prices on the bourse today were steady and unchanged.

PARIS, July 16.—Prices on the bourse today were steady. Russian imperial 4s closed at 76.50 and Russian bonds of 1904 closed at 486.00.

BERLIN, July 16.—Prices on the boerse today were weaker, owing to realizations.

The hog market yesterday broke badly on one of the heaviest runs of the season, prices being reduced 10 to 15c lower than the best time on Saturday. The finish was dull and many hogs were left unsold.
